

DECEMBER 11, 1939 10 CENTS

TOASTMASTER
De Luxe Hospitality Set

A beauty and a grand entertaining aid. Hostesses appreciate this one. $23.95 (Standard Set, $19.95)

TOASTMASTER Waffle Service

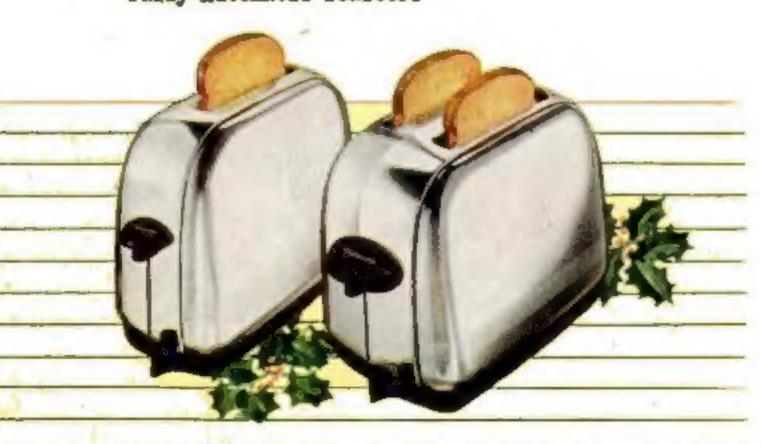

Here's a newcomer. The very latest party-promoter.
Makes grand waffles. $16.95 (Waffle Baker, $12.95)

TOASTMASTER
De Luxe Toast 'n Jam Set

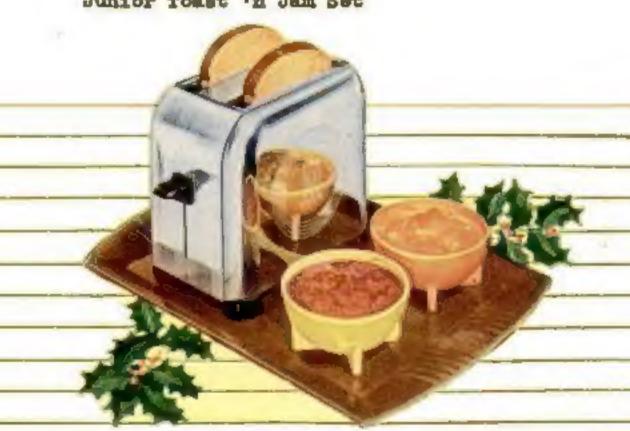

Swell number -- just the thing for breakfast, afterschool snacks, and midnight pantry raids. $17.95

TOASTMASTER
Pully Automatic Toasters

Entirely new--tops for looks. And tops for toasting! 1-slice, now only $9.95: 2-slice, $16.00

TOASTMASTER
Junior Toast 'n Jam Set

It's a honey! Never dreamed I'd have a Toastmaster* set for only $8.50. (Toaster alone, $7.50)

You'll look a long, long time without finding any real equal to this car anywhere at any price!

You'il experience a whale of a lot more pride and pleasure if you're on the inside looking out rather than on the outside looking in at the new Chevrolet for 1940—although bystanders will get a treat just merely looking at it! It's more than a style leader or fashion leader—it's the beauty leader of "Automobile Row"—bigger and more beautiful outside, bigger and more beautiful inside—designed to capture every eye and captivate it! . . . Own a new 1940 Chevrolet with "Royal Clipper" Styling and you'll head the beauty parade.

all these other advantages!

Bigger Inside and Outside
... New Full-Vision Bodies
by Fisher... New Exclusive Vacuum-Power Shift ...

"The Ride Royal" (with Chevrolet's Perfected Knee-Action Riding System*) . . . Super-Silent Valve-in-Head Engine . . . Perfected Hydraulic Brakes . . . All-Silent Syncro-Mesh Transmission . . . Larger Tip-toe-Matic Clutch . . . New Sealed Beam Headlights with Separate Parking Lights . . . Improved Shockproof Steering*

CHEVROLET MOTOR DIVISION, General Motors Sales Corporation, DETROIT, MICHIGAN

*On Special De Luxe and Master De Luxe Series.

CHEUROLET'S FIRST AGAIN!"

Eye It ...

You'll see at a glance it's the biggest beauty leader that the leader has ever built!

Tru It ..

You'll know in a flash it's the biggest performance leader that the leader has ever built!

Buy It!

The 1940 Chevrolet gives higher quality at low cost!... Low prices—low operating costs—low upkeep!

85-H.P. VALVE-IN-HEAD SIX

650 AND UP

"at Flint, Michigan. Transportation based on rail rates; state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice. Bumper guards—extra on Master 85 Series.

Progress that is rooted in

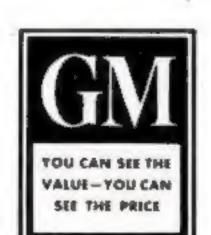

THROUGHOUT the whole line of General Motors new cars of 1940 the touch of progress is everywhere apparent.

It is seen in the smart new styling, in the stauncher, larger, quieter bodies, in the richer appointments, in the greater room and in luxury of finish.

It is seen also in the way these new cars handle and perform—in the smoother, more efficient engines, in the easier and more convenient controls, in the several features that insure greater utility.

You will want to see the special and entirely new model, available this year in several GM lines—the latest word, in both styling and equipment.

While these developments indicate progress, they do something more—they faithfully reflect other values in General Motors cars that are traceable to the resourcefulness and authority of General Motors engineering.

Typical of these values are such things as the Unisteel Turret Top Body by Fisher, Safety Plate Glass in all window openings, Knee-Action, improved hydraulic brakes. Even the kind and quality of metals used reflect the superior merit built into these automobiles.

Thus the value of General Motors cars in 1940 is plain to see. But value is relative. It necessarily involves the price you pay and what that price includes. The full delivered prices of General Motors cars are clearly shown on "plainview" price tags that list every item incident to the transaction.

Thus you see the value. Thus you see the price. The result is bound to be a clearer picture of the greater value in these General Motors cars of 1940.

GENERAL MOTORS

Look at the 1940 cars offered by General Motors dealers and you will find in every detail of engineering and

Look at the "plainview" price tag on each car and you will likewise find

It lists "PRICE OF CAR" which means the price the dealer charges you for the price the dealer charges you for the car itself including reimburse. In this way you can see for yourself what your money buys and the abunment for Federal Tax and his condi-CHARGE" which means a charge for appointment plain evidence of their the dealer's charge for any extra transportation from the factory to you, based on rail rates - "OPTIONAL EQUIP. equipment or accessories that you may elect to buy.

Value is always relative, in anything you buy. It necessarily involves the price you pay and what it includes.

So examine the new General Motors what your money buys and the abundant measure of value in General Motors cars.

$200 A MONTH—FOR YOU AT AGE 60, OR FOR YOUR FAMILY IF YOU DIE

To save money is one of the hardest jobs in the world . . . for the simple reason that as the bank balance grows, the things it would buy look more and more tempting. And that's one explanation for a vital American statistic: only 2 men in 100 continue to save systematically, and are able to retire at 65. However, a new plan has recently been developed which could increase this proportion greatly. It's called the COMPLETE PROTECTION PLAN. For fathers who are willing to make a reasonable annual deposit, it removes all danger of financial insecurity in later years-by assuring them $200 every month for life, starting at age 60. And this Plan does something else-very important-which an ordinary savings plan can't do. If a father dies before his children are grown, his family receives the very same income-$200 every month for 20 years! And after the children are educated and self-supporting, the Plan gives the wife a generous life annuity. For full details of this sensible Complete Protection Plan, just send your name and address on a postcard to The Union Central Life Insurance Company, Dept. B-9, Cincinnati, Ohio . . . a $300,000,000 institution with 72 years of experience.

Copyright, 1939, by The Union Central Life Insurance Co.

THE UNION CENTRAL LIFE INSURANCE CO.

LETTERS TO THE EDITORS

"Chicago Piano"

There is consternation in the ranks of the Chicago piano industry since the arrival of your issue of Nov. 20. On page 80, you picture a British pom-pom gun which you say is "called a 'Chicago piano." Do they call it that because they think the most popular music in Chicago is 480 shots a minute, or because the firing of this 8-barrel gun makes such sweet music for English cars?

"CHICAGO PIANO"

ROY E. WAITE, Editor Piano Trade Magazine Chicago, Ill.

· Editor Waite's first guess is right. The British conceive of Chicago as a perpetual scene from Little Caesar .-ED.

Anchors Aweigh

"British officers know the sea and seamanship better than any other naval officers in the world."-LIFE, Nov. 20.

Whose book of naval philosophy is the bible of the British Navy? Our own Admiral Alfred Mahan's Influence of Sea on History. Who contributed the first submarine, first iron-clad, first allbig-gun battleship, first oil-burning battleship, and on and on world without end? The American Navy. The British bumble through; we think our way through. Ours is a far more intellectual tradition than the British. And we have never had a mutiny in our Navy and the British have. In fact, the high morale, superb gunnery, heavy guns and armor of the ships make the American Navy the most formidable in the

> MONTE T. SMITH Associate Member U. S. Naval Institute

Louisville, Ky.

 Most naval experts share Mr. Smith's high opinion of the American Navy but give the British their due in the matter of seamanship. This emphasis on seamanship is one reason why the British Navy lags behind the American in the more technical aspects of modern naval warfare.-ED.

War of 1812

Could it be that LIFE made a slight mistake in the Nov. 20 issue, when it made the statement "the British Navy has not lost a naval war since 1652." What about the War of 1812 with the United States? What about Perry at Lake Erie, MacDonough at Lake Champlain, the Constitution and the Guerrière, the Wasp and the Frolic, the United States and the Macedonian, etc.? Surely the War of 1812 was a naval war, and the United States was victorious. 8. M. VOCKELY

Pittsburgh, Pa.

 At the start of the War of 1812 the U.S. had 16 fighting ships to England's 686. The British, busy fighting Napo-

(continued on p. 6)

MADE IN BURLINGTON, VERMONT

GIFT FOR A WOMAN WITH AMBITION-AND A SECRET HOPE

"Some day," every woman has promised herself, "I'll have sterling silver on my table." For many couples, perhaps for you and your husband, "some day" can come this Christmas, with a gift of International's beautiful sterling. Whether you start with few pieces or many, International Sterling is a possession that . . .

grows dearer and more loved, the longer you live with it. A finely wrought sterling pattern expresses your own personal taste, probably more than anything else you own. Good sterling on your table sets a gracious background for your whole social life. And more than that, it satisfies a secret desire, deep in your heart...

to be remembered for the things you've loved. Your treasured International Sterling pieces may some day be the most endearing and personal remembrance you can pass down to your children's children. For International's fine sterling is made to last a thousand years, the most solid and enduring possession a family can own.

For as little as $16.75, you can start your International Sterling service this Christmas, with a "Me to You" Gift Set. Each set includes enough for one place setting—fork, salad fork, knife, cream soup spoon, butter spreader, and teaspoon, Later, on birthdays or anniversaries, you can coax for extra place settings in your pattern, until you have a complete service for six or eight persons.

For $106, you can own a whole service for six, complete with chest, in any one of International's lovely Romance group of patterns—the rose-carved Prelude, the classic Minuet, the slender Enchantress. (All of them are shown below.) This beautiful Romance Chest contains 36 pieces, with room for extras you may want to add later. Your jeweler can arrange a convenient payment plan.

For $650.50, you can invest in this magnificent service of 179 International Sterling pieces, in this deep Combination Chest, Couples with an eye to the future often start with this larger chest and a few of the pieces, then add more sterling as their fortunes rise. Your jeweler can arrange easy payments out of income—the way you buy a house or a car.

INTERNATIONAL STERLING

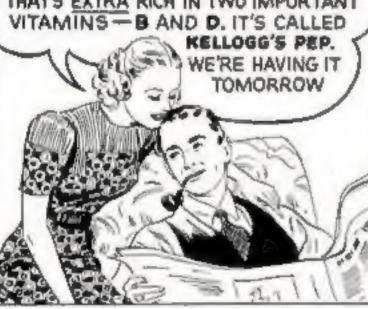

"Master Craftsmen for Five Generations"

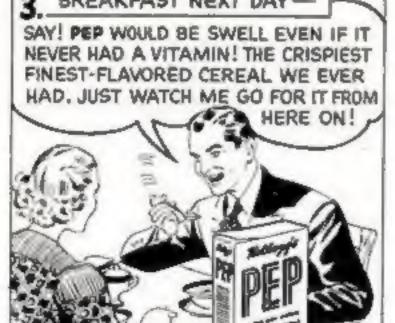

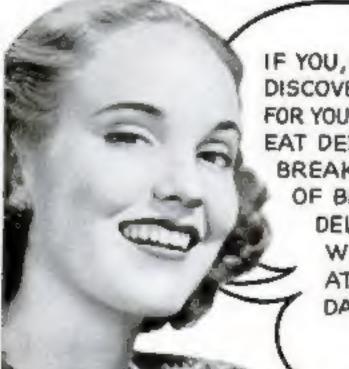

This one

2. THEY TELL ME WE'VE GOT TO HAVE VITAMINS FOR PEP—AND I'VE FOUND
A SIMPLY GRAND BREAKFAST CEREAL
THAT'S EXTRA RICH IN TWO IMPORTANT
VITAMINS—B AND D. IT'S CALLED RELLOGG'S PEP.
WE'RE HAVING IT

IF YOU, TOO, HAVE LACKED VITAMINS—
DISCOVER THE GRAND THINGS THEY CAN DO
FOR YOU! AND TO HELP GET YOUR VITAMINS, EAT DELICIOUS KELLOGG'S PEP FOR BREAKFAST— CRISP, CRUNCHY FLAKES
OF BRAN AND OTHER PARTS OF WHEAT, DELICIOUSLY FLAVORED AND ENRICHED
WITH VITAMINS B AND D. GET IT
AT YOUR GROCER'S. EAT PEP EVERY DAY, AND SEE IF YOU DON'T HAVE MORE ZIP AND ZEST!

Vitamins for pep! PEP for vitamins!*

*Pep contains vitamins B and D. Each cunce contains 1/5 of an adult's and 4/5 of a child's daily requirement of B, and about 1/2 the daily requirement of D.

LETTERS TO THE EDITORS

(continued)

leon, did not take the American Navy seriously. This allowed the intrepid American commanders to capture British men-of-war in a series of brilliant engagements and this, in turn, forced England to take the American war seriously. By 1813 England had bottled up the U. S. fleet, scaled the U. S. harbors. The war ended in a draw, with the matters for which the U. S. went to war not even mentioned in the peace treaty.—ED.

Four-Dollar Word

Sies

Frankly, I had to look it up. But I ain't no Kleran. My reference is to Wickware's use of the word "defenestration" in the story on Dr. Gonzales, near the bottom of page 53 in the Nov. 27 issue:

Why not suggest to your writers that they pull in their necks and stick to words that are in common and not "rare" (Merriam-Webster) usage.

R. T. FROTHINGHAM Washington, D.C.

• For the benefit of lazier readers than Mr. Frothingham, defenestration means "a throwing out through a window." Famed is the Defenestration of Prague (1419) in which the followers of John Huss invaded the Town Hall and threw the Burgomaster and six other officials out of the window to their deaths.—ED.

LIFE's Calls

Stra;

Please keep on with your series of calls on the stage and screen celebrities. Enjoyed calling on Alexander Woollcott, Helen Hayes and Alfred Hitchcock, immeasurably,—to say nothing of meeting the Gannetts last week.

WALTER C. BASHFORTH Arlington, N. J.

Sweet Briar Belle

Sire

From LIFE, June 12, 1939: "Color Girl Frances Moses, president of junior class at Sweet Briar College, got her

PRANCES MOSES

title by being invited to June Week [at Annapolis] by Midshipman Jarvis of Pine Bluff, Ark,"

From LIFE, Nov. 20, 1939: "Ken Kavanaugh, L.S.U. end ... has a girl friend, Frances Moses, at Sweet Brian College in Virginia."

Miss Moses certainly gets around, doesn't she?

New Orleans, La.

 Such popularity is clearly deserved (see picture).—ED.

Salute to Business

Sira:

Your exposition of the Barco of enterprise (LIFE, Nov. 13) gave me

FOR THE 1 MAN IN 7 WHO SHAVES EVERY DAY

A SPECIAL SHAVE CREAM

IT'S NOT A SOAP NEEDS NO SHAVING BRUSH Not Greasy . . . Leaves Skin Smoother

Daily shaving leaves many men's faces raw, sensitive. This is especially true of the man who, because of his business and social status, must shave every day.

To meet this condition Williams has now developed a special cream for daily shavers. It's called Glider. Wash face thoroughly with soap and warm water to remove razor-dulling grit, then spread on Glider quickly, easily with your fingers. No brush. No lather. Not sticky or greasy.

A superabundance of moisture in this rich cream softens each whisker, yet forms a protective layer over your face to keep blade from scraping. Swiftly and gently your razor glides over your skin. Like a cold cream, Glider helps smooth and soften your skin and prevent chapping and roughness. Glider is the result of nearly 100 years' experience in making fine shaving preparations.

Exercit B. Hulburt

P. S. Try Glider at our Expense:

Send your name and address on a penny post card, for a generous FREE tube of Glider "No-Brush" Cream. The J. B. Williams Co., Dept. LG-41, Glastonbury, Conn. Offer good in U.S.A. and Canada only.

SAY "ST. MORITZ" WHEN YOU REACH NEW YORK

For the utmost in real value, head straight for the St. Moritz. Every room has radio and bath, many of them overlooking Central Park. Near Radio City, theatres and shops. Rates from $4 single—$6 double.

Home of the Cafe de la Paix and famous Rumpelmayer's

ST. MORITZ

50 CENTRAL PARK SOUTH - NEW YORK Personal Direction: S. Gregozy Taylor

(continued on p. 8)

FINGER-TIP GEARSHIFT mounted on the steering column is standard on all 1940 Mercury body types. Newly designed blue-and-silver tone instrument panel and interior fittings.

controlled all-weather ventilation — sweeps air inward and upward without draft. Metal support bar lowers with window for unobstructed vision in closed types.

IMPROVED LEVELIZED RIDE—made possible by new torsion bar ride-stabilizer, softer front springs and new self-sealing, double-acting adjustable shock absorbers.

THE CHOICE OF EXPERIENCE

MERCURY HIGHLIGHTS FOR 1940

Finger-Tip Gearshift mounted on the steering column-standard in all body types.

95-hp V-type 8-cylinder Engine for outstanding performance and economy. (Owners report up to 20 miles per gallon!)

Big Hydraulic Brakes—easy, quick, sure. Controlled Ventilation—new type, for allweather comfort without drafts.

New Scaled-Beam Headlamps for greater comfort and safety in night driving.

New Blue-and-Silver Tone Interiors -

Wide, Roomy Bodies—unusually wide seats.

Exceptionally quiet and comfortable to ride in.

In every community, certain men and women have the confidence of their friends for their knowledge of motor cars. They enjoy a good automobile as a critic enjoys good art. They discriminate when they buy, and keep their cars in fine condition. Such people have turned naturally to the Mercury. They've measured it against their experience, found it refreshingly new—and many are driving the Mercury today.

More than anything else, the word-of-mouth praise of these owners has built the quick success of the Mercury 8. Their compliments sound strange to other big-car owners, for they talk economy! Many report up to 20 miles to the gallon, surprising even to the owners who tell about it. "Roominess and comfort beyond all expectations." "Smoothest riding and driving car I ever owned." When these critical owners speak in such terms, don't you feel the urge to take the wheel?

You'll forget all previous cars you ever owned when you first drive the 1940 Mercury. Here is a car that is different—from its clean, fresh beauty to its smooth, powerful V-type 8-cylinder engine. Check over all the Mercury has to offer. It's the car your experience will point to. Why not drive it? At Mercury, Lincoln-Zephyr and Ford dealers.

1940 MERCURY 8

FORD MOTOR COMPANY-FORD, MERCURY, LINCOLN-ZEPHYR AND LINCOLN MOTOR CARS

Listlessness—ather common ailments —are very often traced to hit-or-miss diet. But they have never occurred among the exclusively Pard-fed dogs
at Swift's Research Kennels!

■ Leading veterinarians are out to end malnutrition in dogs. On malnutrition, resulting from faulty feeding, they blame as many as 9 out of 10 cases of common dog ailments. Such ills as excessive shedding, dietary skin irritation, loss of appetite, and many others, while not serious in themselves, are sometimes the symptoms of grave internal disturbances.

Crusading veterinarians in fastgrowing numbers are recommending Pard for all breeds. For Pard's nutritional balance has been thoroughly borne out in exhaustive feeding tests. On Pard alone—four consecutive generations of registered dogs were raised in glowing health, with excellent conformation to breed. None ever suffered from digestive upset—nor from the ills that often trouble less-well-fed dogs!

Have a good veterinarian give your dog a complete examination, to assure you that he is in sound condition. To keep him that way—feed Pard regularly!

These locable 4th generation youngsters at Swift's Research Kennels have already been weared to Pard—without a single digestive upset.

PARD

Hit-or-miss feeding condemned by many leading veterinarians; recommend Pard I Dr. W. J. McK., of Illinois, says: "30 years of experience have convinced me that hit-or-miss feeding is the worst enemy of cunine health." Dr. McK. recommends Pard to correct or word off many common ailments.

...SWIFT'S
NUTRITIONALLY
BALANCED
DOG FOOD

LETTERS TO THE EDITORS

(continued)

the same vicarious thrill of achievement that LIFE conveyed by picturing the engineering triumphs at Boulder Dam, the Grand Coulee, Golden Gate and the Panama Canal, and surveying American railroads, airlines and motor factories.

In the blg stream of American economics I'm a very small minnow, unrelated to any "vested interesta." Deploring the waste, crucky and corruption that have stained the record of American capitalism, I hope that my country will use its resources more wisely than heretofore.

But I resent the fakirs, fools and allen catspaws who curse "Big Business" and the "decadent American bourgeoisie" for merely existing, and hope to use most of us for socialized guinea pigs or communazi serfs. I salute the pride, the vision and turbulent energy of all those willful men, living and dead, who, for all their greed and ruthless ambition, gave youth and strength to the conquest of a raw continent, stormed so many bastions of time and hunger, and made this nation the colossus of the modern world.

ROBERT RIDGWAY JR.

Los Angeles, Calif.

Venus on the Half-Shell

As an amateur shell collector and a beginner at the study of conchology, I would be interested in learning where LIFE obtained the information that Bottleelli's Venus (LIFE, Nov. 20), miled to the isle of Cyprus on a "conch" shell.

The conch, I believe, is a species of univalve, while the shell upon which

VENUS ON GREAT SCALLOP

Venus stands is plainly one half of a bivalve. It appears to be Vola (Pecten) Maximus, L., or the great scallop, found in large quantities in the Mediterranean, DOROTHY M. JORDAN Ramsey, N. J.

• The word conch used to apply to bivalve as well as univalve shells and retains this meaning in the art world. To a conchologist, however, Venus is riding on a Great Scallop.—ED.

Seamen for the Navy? Sirs:

Should the United States decide to go to war in the near future, our Navy will undoubtedly absorb many ships and men of the merchant marine into the Naval service. It occurred to me, while reading the Nov. 20 LIFE, that the 6,000-odd American seamen and 92 American merchant ships beached by the Neutrality Act are the same ships and men that will be called upon by the Navy in time of war. This war has already given cause for an increase in our naval personnel and efforts are being made to speed up recruiting. Wouldn't it seem logical to arrange for there 6,000 temporarily unemployed seamen to enter the Navy on a reserve status, and take active duty training under

(continued on p. II)

Styled for sunny skies or town wear ... expressing elegance in the new longer lengths and quality in every detail ... of "Duo-Angel" Suede fabric ... in all the mid-season's important colors.

As better stores... from Coast to Coast—$2.00

"WEAT-Right"
Glove Exclusive

WIMELBACHER & RICE MAKERS • NEW YORK • PARIS

ONE OF THESE SMART NEW BAUSCH & LOMB GLASSES IS THE ANSWER TO YOUR SPECIAL CHRISTMAS GIFT PROBLEM

Choose one of these brilliant little glasses as "something special for Christmas." The Sport Glass, at left above, is a newly designed version of a tremendously popular model. With two power magnification, it offers extremely wide field, is a natural for spectator sports, nature study, travel, the theatre. Balar, right above, as a gift has the virtue of "something new." Beautiful molded plastic body, flattened so as to slip conveniently into vest-pocket or pocketbook. 3 power. Wide field.

Both glasses may be seen at leading dealers, or ordered direct for immediate delivery. The Sport Glass is $16; Balar is $19.50. Write for descriptive folder and catalog of Bausch & Lomb Binoculars. Bausch & Lomb, 988 Lomb Park, Rochester, N. Y.

PRODUCT OF BAUSCH & LOMB

The man who refused to be bored!

"No, no, no, Miss Fitch! Don't send my mail to the same old resort this winter. For twelve seasons (and it seems like a hundred) I've been fulled to sleep by the same people, the same scenery, the same food, WELL, I'm getting out of the rut. This winter, so help me...

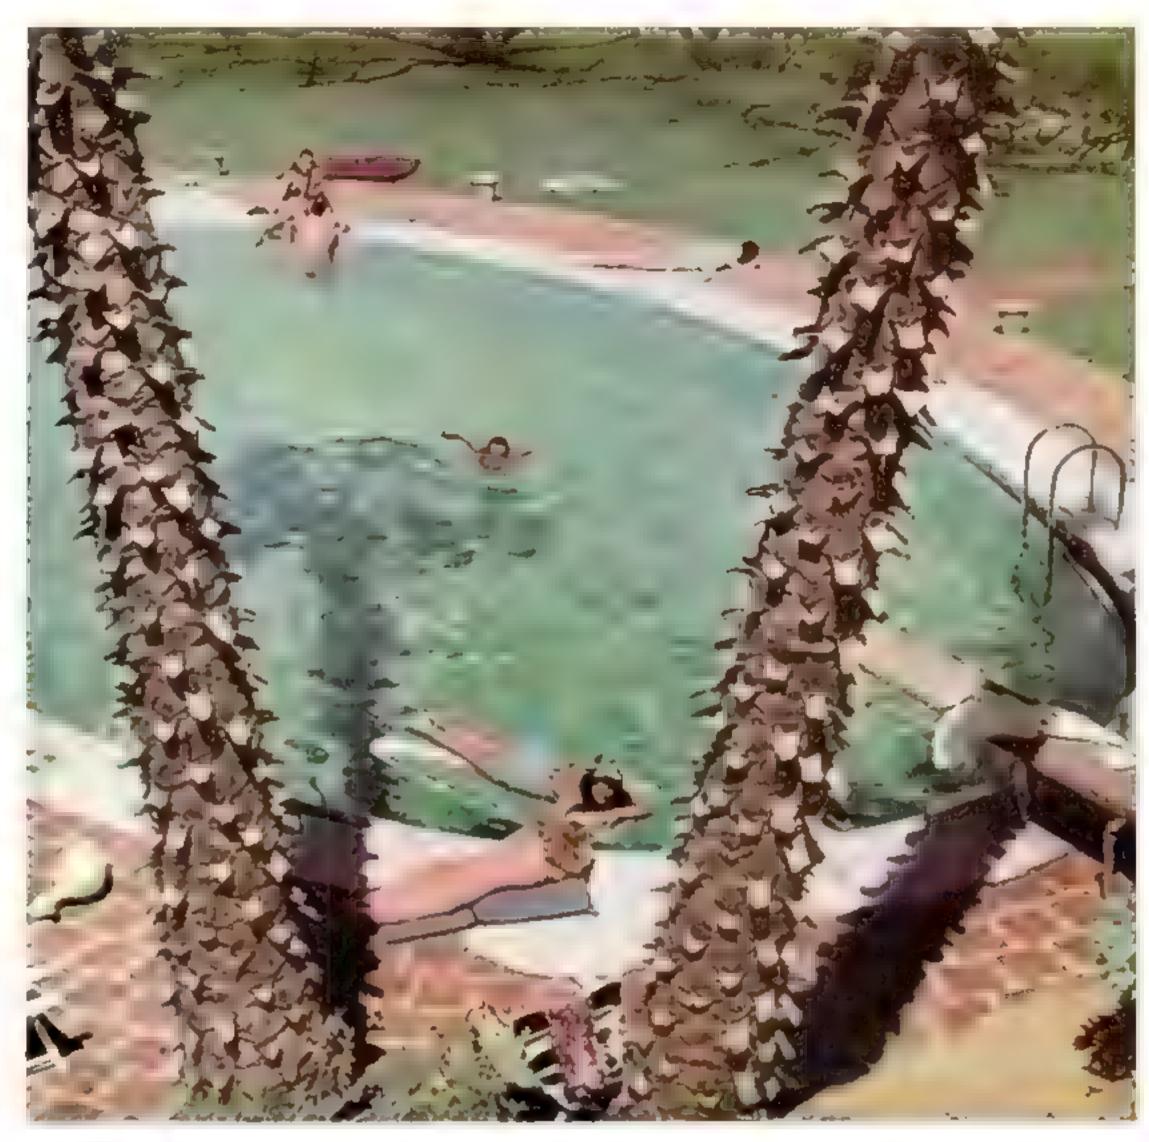

"I'm getting away! To Southern California with its fat winter sun, its sparking ocean and desert resorts, orange groves, tall mountains. I'm going to cut loose and play. Smack golf balls around. Explore those quaint Mexican streets. See top-flight horse-racing; curious industries... the broadcasts, celebratics...

"Life is short but I'm going to grab a lot of it all at once. Southern California's got something I need. Something I've been missing a long time. Change...variety...something new and fresh and youthful..."

Naturally, any winter vacation is better than none. But it just seems logical to us that the more change and newness you can get into it, the more refreshing it will be. It's something to think about. Especially this year with more activity and fun than ever in Southern California.

NOW! ALL-YEAR CLUB "PERSONALIZED" VACATION GUARANTEES MORE FUN IN Southern California

The All-Year Club, Southern California's friendly, non-profit tourist organization (18 years experience) announces a new idea in free Personal service for winter visitors. The new plan not only tells you how to get here but also designs a "custom-made" vacation for you when you arrive. Here's how the plan works:

- You mail the coupon. We send you immediately a free informative booklet containing authentic information, detailed costs, scenic ways to get here.
- 2 When you arrive, we give you, free, a large beautifully illustrated Guide Book describing all the attractions in Southern California.
- 3 You consult our unique free Visitors' Bureau in downtown Los Angeles (505 W. 6th St.). Here, courteous young women, "Welcomettes," help you work out a vacation that fits your own particular taste—custom-made to your particular whims.
- 4 These same "Welcomettes" direct you to the places of your choice—smoothing the way with guest cards, etc. (26 free services in all)—saving you time and trouble.

York, Southern California is just overnight by plane, 2½ to 3 days by train, 4 to 7 by auto or bus. Vacation costs average 22.8% under those of 20 other leading U. S. resorts. You'll find accommodations for every taste in Los Angeles, Beverly Hills, Glendale, Pasadena, Pomona, Hollywood, Santa Monica, Long Beach and other cities in or near Los Angeles County.

ALL-YEAR CLUB OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Come to California for a glorious vacation. Advise anyone not to come seeking employment, lest he be disappointed; but for tourists, the attractions are unlimited.

City	State
Street
Name
II Inyo-Mono Ai tral California,	s Angeles, 🖸 Orange, 🖸 Riveraide, 🔾 Santa Barbara rea, 🖟 San Diego, 🖒 Ventura, 🗅 Minnton Trails, 🗘 Cen
em California vi plane, II bus, U	aration. Also send free routing by D. auto, D. rail, D. steamship. Also send free booklets about countie.
Send me free by	ook with complete details (including costs) of a South
	Southern California Hill Sc., Los Angeles, Calif.
411. Your 17-b of	Southers foldering

"I say, now! Cawn't we pull up for a spot of hot BOVRIL?"

WHEN cold and damp chill you to the marrow, hold everything, and quaff a cup of delicious, piping-hot Bovert-"Great Britain's great bracer," Its surging warmth will quickly defrost your system. Its stimulating energy will revive your frigid spirits. To stay on top of winter's chills and ills, make it a daily practice to drink a cup of this nourishing, fortifying beverage that keeps you fit without making you fat.

AT FOUNTAINS . 10c A CUP . HOT

At food and drug stores in jure and cubes for home use. Adds an extra toothsomeness to gravies, soups, sauces and atews. BOYRIL OF AMERICA, Inc., Cumden, N. J.

WELCOME YOUR GUESTS THE MODERN WAY!

Gracious living is enhanced with a Rittenhouse Door Chame. When the door button is pressed, rich, pleasing chime tones replace the nerve-tacking noise of the ordinary bell or buzzer. The tonal beauty and graceful styling of Rittenhouse Chimes improve the attractiveness of any home. Fasily installed, using regular duorbell wiring. Built to last a lifetime. An unusual and welcome Christmas or wedding gift. A year-round reminder of the giver Choose from a variety of new models $1.00 to $50.00. Attractive finishes. Suitable for homes, apartments, offices, institutions, erc. Guaranteed.

Your electrical dealet, department or hardware store has them or can get them for you. Insist on getting genuine Ritten house Chimes. *Send card for free folder,

The A. E. RITTENHOUSE CO., Inc. Dapt 48, Hopenya Falls, R. Y. (Est. 1903)

ELECTRIC DOOR CHIMES

LETTERS TO

Navy supervision for the duration of the present Neutrality Law?

Certainly U.S. Navy training for these seamen would be a much more intelligent and economical measure than would a relief program—and they would still be sailing under the right colors.

J A DONOVAN JR.

Winnetke, III

 At first sight Mr. Donovati's suggestion seemed very good. Investigation, however, reveals certain obstacles. The Navy has standards for all recruits, both physical and intellectual. Seamen who meet these standards can enter the Navy individually; others the Navy would not want. Many seamen, for their part, do not like the Navy. A spokesman for the National Maritime Union dismessed Mr Donovan's proposal as "archaic." Even President Roosevelt's proposal to open the Coast Guard training schools to the seamen has been boycotted by the N.M.U. which resents these institutions as "schools for scabs." It looks as if most of the seamen will go on WPA,-ED.

Ban on Beef

Sire

Anent your section on the Argentines in the Nov. 13 issue of LIFE, I write to correct what might be a very dangerous statement for the uninformed to read. 'Politically powerful U. S. cattle growers" (if such there be) do not keep the bars up on importing uncooked, uncanned Argentine beef. The bars are kept up by the United States Department of Animal Industry which is manned entirely by civil ecryice employes and is free of any political influence whatever

The fact that "some regions of Argentina, notably Patagonia, are free of the disease" does not signify. All andmaks, wild or domestic, with cloven hooves are susceptible to the hoof-andmouth disease, and it can be carried by birds, cats and dogs. It is so deadly that the only way to cleaner an infected area is to kill every infected animal in it and pour quicklime over the bodies after they have been put into a deep pit. The germ has never been isolated and there is no cure. The importation of one-quarter pound of raw Argentine beef could start an epidente which would wipe out the U. S. cattle and hog bustness and kill off all the cats and dogs in the country. An epidemic in San Diego which necessitated the slaughter of thousands of hops was traced by the Department of Agriculture to a very small cube of steak in the garbage. The cube was cut by a mitor's girl from a fine Argentine steak which the sailor had brought home for a treat.

It would be too bad for anyone to believe that this discrimination against raw ment from Argentina is a method of keeping U. S. beef prices high. It is a wise and necessary measure to insure the continued health of U.S. berds.

MARSHALL B STEPHENSON Vice President

Palomas Cattle Company Columbus, N. M.

 LIFE must disagree with Mr. Stephenson. Importation of Argentine meat is not regulated by the Department of Animal Husbandry but by the Smoot-Hawley Tartff Act, which forhids importation from any country where hoof and-mouth disease is prevalent. Thus all Argentine meat is embargoed, despite the fact that sheeptaising Patagonia is completely free from the disease. Secretary Hull and others want to forbid importation from regions which are infected.-ED.

THE EDITORS Continued)

is important to you every hour...every day!

Use the VITALIS "60-Second Workout"

T USTROUS, handsome hair gives a man La a sense of pride in his appearance. But it does something even more important. It helps him make a good impression on others . . . wins him instant admiration and respect. And because well-groomed hair is important—a valuable aid to social and business success ... thousands of men use Vitalis and the "60-Second Workout" every day.

It's easy to keep your hair looking its best with Vitalis. Just apply Vitalis to the scalp with a brisk fingertip massage. Feel that pleasant tingling as circulation quickens...your scalp loses its tightness . . . becomes free and supple as it should be. Notice how swiftly this Vitalis workout routs loose dandruff. Your hair takes on a rich lustre as the pure vegetable oils of Vitalia supplement natural scalp oils-overcome dryness. Now comb your hair-see how easy it is to manage-how perfectly every hair stays in place! And not a trace of that objectionable "patent-leather" look.

Get a bottle of Vitalis from your druggist today. Begin your "60-Second Workouts" with Vitalis and have good-looking, well-groomed bair on every business and social occasion!

50 Seconds to Rub-Circulation of the scalp quickens—the flow of necessary oil is increased - hair has a chance!

4 10 Seconds to Comb and Brush — Your hair has a well-groomed lustre — but no objectionable "patent-leather" look.

Ask Your Barber

He's an expert on the care of scalp and hair. For your protection in the barber shop-genuine Vitalis now comes only in sanitary, individual Sealtubes, Next time you go to your barber's, insist on Vitalis Scaltubes.

VITALIS

KEEP HAIR HEALTHY AND HANDSOME!

SPEAKING OF PICTURES . . .

VIOLINIST HAS PEAR FOR A HEAD, PINS FOR EYES, AND A WAX NOSE.

. THESE MUSICIANS ARE MADE OF FRUIT

mong the fruit and vegetable vendors of Berlin, Henry Rox, A a noted sculptor, was considered something of a "crackpot." No one quite understood why he kept buying the most perfectly shaped fruits and vegetables on the stands, simply to carve them into funny little figures like those shown on these pages. What started Rox on this hobby was an apple lying near him one day while he was modeling a clay figure. Picking up the apple, he placed it on the shoulders of the unfinished figure to form the head. Thus began by accident what Rox calls his "perishable" art figures.

Now an assistant professor of art at Mt. Holyoke College, Rox still sculpts from tree bark, branches, leaves, fungus and eggs, as well as from fruits and vegetables for a hobby. Carrots, he says, are the easiest vegetable to use. Those parts of the figure which cannot be shaped from the vegetable kingdom are made out of clay. Besides ingeniously mimicking people in real life, Rox's figures have a humorous and satiric quality that gives them added distinction. Soon to be published by Putnam's is a book of Rox's illustrations called Banana Circus.

Illustrated below: The Special Six Business Coupe, $783*

Takes the Honors.. The Curb and on the Highway!

Pontiac is the only car of its price that ever won honors both at the curb and on the highway. Sitting still or taking a hill—Pontiac is outstanding. It's one of the most beautiful cars ever built—long and low, and with a frontend like a setting out of Tiffany. It's a true aristocrat, from front bumper to tail-light.

And when it comes to performance—Pontiac stands alone below a thousand dollars. It's not only powerful and quick and nimble—but it rides like a liner on a dead-calm sea. If you look into Pontiac, you'll soon be looking out of one. 17 models—sixes and eights. Why not see your dealer today?

$783 and up *delivered at Pontiac, Mich. Transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment—white sidewall tires and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice. General Motors terms to suit your purse.

SPEAKING OF PICTURES

(continued)

A STRINGY-HAIRED LEEK, WEARING "TAILS," PLAYS AN ASPARAGUS ORGAN

"NUTCRACKER SUITE": WALNUT HEAD PLAYS HARP, WHICH IS A NUTCHACKER

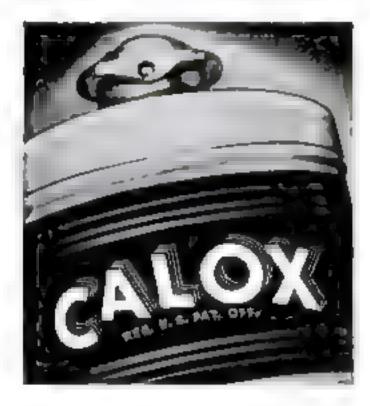

* ANDREA LEEDS, SAMUEL GOLDWYN STAR in "Swanee River" Twentieth Century-Fox Picture

... Help your teeth shine like the stars..use Calox

Why Calox is 'Tops' in Hollywood

- 1. Calox helps bring out the natural lustre of the teeth.
- Calox has a pleasant, refreshing taste; sweetens the breath.
- Calox is approved by Good Homekeeping Bureau.
- Calox is pure, smooth, safe—no grit, no pumice. Calox never harms precious tooth-enamel.
- 5. Calox, a powder, lasts longer; comes in five money-saving sizes.

Tooth Powder

A tip from Hollywood about charming, sparkling smiles

The screen demands bright, radiant smiles—smiles that show teeth sparkling with natural lustre! Scores of Hollywood's leading stars rely on Calox Tooth Powder, a pleasant-tasting dentifrice made specially to give teeth a bright high polish without harm to precious enamel. In Hollywood—and in thousands of families—Calox helps teeth shine like the stars'!

And Remember:

You, too, can rely on Calox Tooth Powder—a refreshing, pleasant blend of five pure, tested cleansing and polishing ingredients. Calox helps add sparkle to teeth... sweetens the breath. Approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau. Get Calox today at any drug counter, in five con-

LIFE'S PICTURES

Rey Scott, who photographed the amazing story of China's back-door road and of its painful industrial rebuth on pages 21-25, is a polite, adaptable young man who enormously admires the Chinese. Born in St. Louis and now 34, he worked as a reporterphotographer on St. Louis and Memphis newspapers, then began roving the world with no money in his pockets, supporting himself with a camera. He has made three trips to China since the war began, first got into trouble by defying the censorship. He has brought back this time a magnificent color film of the strange country between Haiphong and Chungking. Oddly, he came nearest to losing it to the British censors at Hong Kong. He hopes the Chinese win the war.

The following list, page by page, shows the source from which each picture in this issue was gathered. Where a single page is indebted to several sources credit is recorded picture by picture (left to right, top to bottom), and line by line (lines separated by dashes) unless otherwise specified.

COVER EUGENE SHITH

6- HERBERT GERR 12, 13. 15- O HENRY ROX

21 RET SCOTT 22, 23 -MET SCOTT STC MED 4. II TOBIAS

24 25-HET SCOTT
26-W. W., ACME-bot. B TALBURY courtery

26- W. W., ACME-bot. & TALBURY CONTERN WORLD-TELEURAM, P. BERNARD HOPP-MAN 27-MATCH

28, 29-A LEYDENFRONT

30-w PRESTON WHIGHT-INT., ACMB
31 A P.
32, 33-WILBURN DAVIP-FORT WORTH PRESS
cre. Sheet 6, cre. © United Prature,

34-Map by Tourns Moss and CHARLES

37-A P ACME

41, 42—adbert capa 44—dobo from B. S. Courfely American Art-

45—PERNAND BOURGES CONCRET PRICELIPS
MEMORIAL GALLERY PERNAND
BOURGES CONCRETE EXAUSHAAR GALLERY
45—PERNAND BOURGES CONCRETE HOSTON
MUREL MOFFINE ARTS FERNAND
BOURGES CONCRETE DETROIT MUREUM OF ARTS FERNAND BOURGES CONCRETE
REAL GALLERY FERNAND
BOURGES CONCRETE ERAPSHAAR GALLERY

47 48, 49 Drawings by Wallack Morgan 50 through 54 Peter State Pole 58—Earges-Pix Richard Tucker 59—Earges-Pix — Richard Tucker 59—Earges-Pix — Richard Tucker

59—RANGER-PIX—RICHARD TOCKER
RICHARD TUCKER, RARGER-PIX, Excerpt from "You're the tor" used by permission and O 1934 by HARMS (NC.

60—KANGER-PIX 81 - KANGER-PIX 820 bol & HICHARD TUCKER 62, 63—Courlesy Talk Dramat—Ranger-

64- HURRELL for WARNER BROS. 65. 66 PETER STACEPOLE

69, 70, 72 - CYCTED ARTISTS 75, 76—HANGEL MIETH

79 through 87 - EISENSTAEDT-PIE 88, 89 - DMITSI KESSEL-drawing U & ARMY

28, 39 DMITH KESSEL-GRAPH ORASTER
ORDNANCE-ANIMATION, RALPH GRAFTER
OMITRI KESSEL, ACME
90—DMITH RESSEL

92 JOHN PHILLIPS 93—AMERI CANDID 94—From "JAWAHA

94—From "JAWAHARLAL PERRO" courlery
THE BODLET HEAD

98—1XT 98—Photo by Agents

99-ACME

102-W W ACME

106, 107, 108, 109—WALLACE W KIRKLAND 111-T and bot courtery AMERICAN MU-SEUM OF NATURAL RISTORY

112 Bot. (4) P 1.

ABBREVIATIONS BOT, BOTTOM CEM, CENTER, Q. COPYRIGHT LT, LEFT, RT, RIGHT, T., TOP; A. P. ABSOCIATED PHESS, B. S., BLACE STAR, EUR., EUROPEAN, INT., INTERNATIONAL, P. 1., PICTURES INC; W. W., WIDE WORLD.

for hear or make-up; ends all bother of hand murous ... makes it easy to keep wave or curls in shape. Light in wright, beautifully finished, it rests securely and comfortably around the neck. Gives clear view at any angle. Equally convenient for men.

'Miracle Mirror' is a gift you'll be thanked for unendingly! Unique—practical—swart.

Adjustable to got any reflection from any angle Reverse side magnifying mirror ideal for thoping and plucking eyebrows.

Men find Miracle Mirrer great for thange, Use it anywhere

New HOLLOW-GROUND CUTTER

with double, razor-keen cutting edges that get whiskers coming and going. Makes over 8 million cutting actions per minute within the Sunbeam comb.

Thinner THAN A

A super thin screen of finest Swedish steel shaped to fit every contour of the face. Only two-thousandths of an Inch thin.

Screened TO PICK

the way it grows. Each hale is the scientifically correct size to quickly admit the board—gauged and spaced for fastest, closest shaving.

THE NEW AC MODEL SHAVEMASTER

Made exclusively for use on alternating oursent

A marvel of precision workmanship—and a crowning achievement of years of continuous development work in Sunbeam laboratories. Has the famous, exclusive head that shaves with quick, clean comfort and straight-edge closeness. Has the new Sunbeam magnetic type AC motor, with tuned and counter-balanced armatures, that reduces vibration and makes shaving a pleasure. Big enough to provide a motor with plenty of reserve power—yet trim and compact for easy, convenient handling. Only comparison by actual test will reveal the surpassing performance of the new Sunbeam AC Shavemaster. Photomicrographs prove that Shavemaster shaves closer than a straight-edge. Stop watch tests prove it to be much faster. If you wish to use your Shavemaster only on AC current, you can enjoy Shavemaster's swift, smooth, comfort shaves for only $7.50. (Beautiful gift box.)

THE FAMOUS AC-DC SHAVEMASTER

for use on either alternating or direct current

This is the electric shaver that has won national recognition as "tops" in quick, close, comfort shaves. The one selected by leading airlines as standard equipment on their passenger planes. It has the powerful series-wound, brush-type, Universal motor with the on-and-off switch and operates on either AC or DC current. If you have occasion to use your Shavemaster on both types of current (if, perhaps, you travel widely and get into DC areas) the AC-DC Shavemaster is the one to buy. $15.00.

■ Try Shavemaster, either the new AC model (50 or 60 cycles) or the AC-DC model at your dealer's today. Make your Christmas gifts "tops" in appreciation—give Shavemaster. For sale wherever good electric appliances are sold.

Mode and gearenteed by CHICAGO FLEXIBLE SHAFT COMPANY, 5688 Recovered Band, Chicago, III. Conside factory: 321 Weston Road, South, Toronto. 51 Years Making Quality Products. Famous for MIXMASTER, COFFEEMASTER, IRONMASTER, AUTOMATIC TOASTER, etc.

SHAVEMASTER OWNERS—NOTE! If you have a Shavemaster with the original comb and cutter you can replace it with the latest improved set described at the top of this advertisement for only $1.00. The new comb and cutter fits all model Shavemasters. (Note: You can tell whether your comb and cutter is the old or new style by counting the comb perforations. The original comb has 140 holes; the new comb has many times that number and the cutter that goes with it is hollow-ground.)

Dehvered at your home in time for Christmas

The beautiful Steinway Grand Piano illustrated, Model S, ehenized, may be purchased for $985. But you need not pay that sum all at once. Simply deposit 10% of the total, as little as $98.50, and the Steinway will begin its glorious career in your home. Consult your dealer for local prices and terms. (All prices quoted in this advertisement are for b. New York City.) Liberal allowance on your old piano.

THE INSTRUMENT OF THE IMMORTALS... glorious piano of Hofmann, Horowitz, Paderewski and Rachmaninoff...can be in your home this Christmas for a down payment of only $98.50.

Rachmaninoff says of the Steinway: "I consider it perfect in every way." Toscanini writes: "I have always used it and I always will." And Lawrence Tibbett says: "The most eloquent praise is inadequate to describe the glory of this piano."

The Steinway's golden voice brings inspiration to daily hving. It deepens friendships, draws the family closer together For your household, and for all who visit it, the Steinway will be a constant source of things that make life worth while. Suppose some one were to give you a piano. Without restriction, you could choose the one you wished. You would select a Steinway! . . . Select a Steinway now, for the happiest Christmas in years! Steinway & Sons (founded 1853 in New York City), Steinway Hall, 109 W. 57th Street, New York City

CHRISTMAS RECORDINGS from the new Steinway & Sons Record Shop. Umque and varied collection of the world's finest music, classical and popular. Special attention to mail orders. Also at Steinway Hall—the leading radio-phonographs' Capchart ($595 up), Capchart-Panamuse ($159.50 to $299.50), Magnavox ($29.95 to $550), and RCA Victrola ($120 up). Convenient terms arranged. Instruments shipped anywhere, Order direct from Steinway & Sons Record Shop, Steinway Hall, 109 W. 57th Street, New York City.

Lowest price ever asked for a Steinway. Handsome new Steinway Vertical, Sheraton 40, ebonized, $495—only $49.50 down. (Other Verticals to $625) Steinway quality. Deep, resonant tone, due to new Steinway Diaphragmatic Soundboard. See local dealer for terms,

YoL 7, No. 24

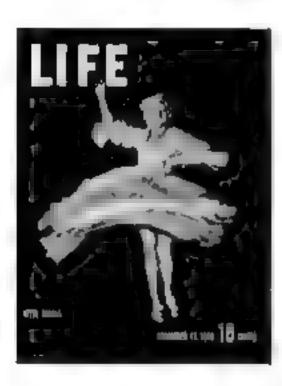

December 11, 1939

COPPRISENT UNDER INTERNATIONAL COPPRISENT CONVENTION. ALL RIGHTS BESERVED UNDER PAR AMERICAN COPYRIGHT CONVENTION COPYRIGHT 1915 BY TIME INC.

CONTENTS

THE WEEK'S EVENTO
Japanese Capture of Hanning Cuts China's Equiest Back-Deer Book 21
LIFE on the Newstronts of the World War on the Western Frest: A Franch Poils Sits Guard on Garman Border . 27
Germany's "Deutschland" Sinks British Craiser British Warplance Are Towed Across Canadian Sorder; Browder Is Cheered British Warplanes Are Towed Across Canadian Sorder; Browder Is Cheered and Jeared at Yale 20
L.S.U.'s Ex-President Cuts Cane in Stripes 31 On Sadio Hawkins Day Girls Chase Boys in 201 Golleges 32
Un Saute Frankling day Giffs Coppe Boys in 201 Concres
Reds Attack Finland by Land, See and Air LIFE in a Blackout: Drawings by Walface Morgan
PHOTOGRAPHIC ESSAY
Kenses Girls: Life Is Fun For Them at State University CLASE-OF Jowahariai Nohru
MOVIES
"The Lien Has Wings"
THEATER
"Du Barry Was a Lady" Cole Porter Writes Breadway's Top Sephisticated Songs
Cole Porter Writes Brandway's Top Sephisticated Songs
ART
John Blogn: A Great Teacher-Painter Grassden for American Art 44
SPORTS
Soxing Commission Fails to Make Harry Thomas Talk
MODERN LIVING
Hen Control Up Faith or May Mean Strip-Tense on Southern Beaches 58 Hollywood Holds Buthday Party for Year-Old Figgeraails 54
MUSIC
Derothy Mayner: Negro Singer from Virginia Makes Concert Debut 41
EDUCATION
Boston Children Study Animais in Own Museum
KOLE MOE U. S. Army Has Finest Rifle; National Quard Bets its First Supply of Gerands . IS OTHER DEPARTMENTS
Letters to the Editors
Speaking of Pictures: These Musicians Are Mode of Fruit
People
People LIFE Goes to a Baskethall Game at Salem, lad. 186 Pertures to the Editors Life

The cover and entire contents of LIFE are fully protected by copyrights in the United States and in foreign countries and must not be reproduced in any manner without written permission.

LIFE'S COVER. The whirling girl on the cover is Betty Grable from Missouri. This month she is making her first appearance on Broadway as a musical-comedy actress in Du Barry B'as a Lady. Betty is 5 ft. 3 in. tall, has honey-colored bair, a pleasantly breezy manner on stage. Born in St. Louis, she moved to Hollywood when she was 14 to enter dancing school. Without much publicity she danced in half a dozen movies, then toured with Jackie Coogan in vaudeville and married him in 1937. For another view of Miss Grable and her hit show, see page 61.

EDITOR. Henry R Luce

MANAGING EDITOR. John Shaw Billings

EXECUTIVE EDITORS: Daniel Longwell, Wilson Hicks.

ASSOCIATE EDITORS: Hubert Kay, David Cort, Joseph J. Thorndike Jr., Joseph Kastner, Noel Busch, Paul Peters, Maria Sermolno, Rachel Albertson, Richard de Ruchemont ART EDITORS: Peter Piening, Worthen Paston

EDTTORIAL ASSOCIATES: Julian Bach Jr., Lincoln Barnett, Margaret Bourke-White, Alfred Eisenstaedt, John Fleid, Frank Hall Fraysur, Bernard Hoffman, Dorotby Hoover, Sully kenniston, Alexander King, Thomas D. McAvoy, Hansel Mieth, Carl Blydans, John Philips, Gerard Piel, Tom Prideaux, Peter Stackpole, Edward K. Thompson, Charles Tudor, William Vandivert, Margaret Varga

Roger Butterfield, Olivia Chambers, Judith Chase, Diane Cummings, Sidney James, Elaine Brown Keiffer, M. Elizabeth Kelly, Will Lang, Dorothy Jane Larson, John C. Mantborp, Richard Pollard, David Ritchia, Helen Robinson, Bernice Shrifts, Shelley Smith, Jean Speiser,

Marion Stevens, Lura Street. PUBLISHER: ROY E. LAISER; GENERAL MANAGER: C. D. Jackson; ADVERTISING DIRECTOR Howard Black

Subscriptions and all correspondence regarding them should be addressed to emergrapher 3:0 East 22nd Street, Chicago, Illinois

EDITORIAL AND ADVERTISING OFFICES: TIME & LIFE Building, Rockeleller Center, New York

susscription wayrs. One year in the U S. A. U S. Territories & Possessions and Canada, $4.50; countries of the Pan-American Union, $6.00° elsewhere, $10.00. Single copies in the U S. A. and Canada 10 t, U. S. Territories & Possessions 15 t, elsewhere, 25 t

From the Land of Boots and Saddles

Comes America's Finest Outdoor Shirt

VIRGIN WOOL SHIRTS Outdoor men take to Pendletons like hounds to the hunt. Since covered wagon days, active westerners have worn shirts like these. Today Pendletons are worn by men of adventure everywhere.

LETON

Pendletons are woven of 100 per cent pure virgin fleece wool, nature's number one protection against heat, cold, rain. That's why you're so comfortable in a Pendleton—cool on the golf course under a blazing sun, or warm in a duck blind when the wind's like a razor. Soft as a spaniel's ear, light as a feather, and cut for action freedom. Pendletons feel good.

No. 546. The Montage Check. Fine quality fannel in 14-toch checks. Black and white, blue and black, red and black, green and black, brown and black.

Happy Xmas Idea!

Give him a Pendleton virgin wool shirt and see his eyes light up with pleasure and anticipation. Besides adding to the enjoyment of a man's favorite outdoor sport, Pendletons are grand for an evening at home or for other hours of leisure and lounging.

Pendleton shirts are available in gabardines, or flannels in solid colors, bold and shadow plaids, or checks. Sold by better men's shops, sports and department stores throughout America. $5 to $8.50.

PEI	JUN	ETC	NC
VIR	GIN	WO	OL
PR	O D	UС	T S

PENDLETON WOOLEN MILLS, Portland, Oregon Please send me free literature, sample fabrics, name of nearest

My Name....

My Address

Meet the NEW NEW BERS

Mimeograph family

THE NEW MIMEOGRAPH 91 AND 92

want to meet you in your office ... Both are brainy and brawny; both streamlined and willing ... They complete the modern Mimeograph family—all ready to go to work for business, school, government or institution.

RE: Mimeograph 91: Price, lower middle. Looks, rich brown that won't show dust. Red accent, nickel trim. Power, motor or manual. Feed, automatic and expert. The Mimeograph distributor has many more features to show you.

RE: Mimeograph 92: Price, upper middle. Capacity, 500 sheets 20 lb. substance stock. Feed, automatic, with important new lateral-vertical print adjustor. Many more highlights, too, plus all the other Mimeograph features offices have learned to know and love, improved and further refined.

Bothstandsshown, optional equipment. A. B. Dick Co., Chicago.

NOTE: New Mimeograph interlayer available for Mimeograph 91 or 92

Phone the Muneograph distributor in your city for a demonstration of these new Mineograph models. MIMEOGRAPH is the trade mark of the A. B. Dick Co., Chicago, registered in the U. S. Patent Office.

JAPANESE CAPTURE OF NANNING CUTS CHINA'S BUSIEST BACK-DOOR ROAD

Thina is still far from a lost cause but, blockaded U by Japan and hidden in the deep interior, its war bases are hard to find. At the back of nowhere, three roads lead out from China's new capital of Chungking to the outside world: 1) the mysterious road northward to Soviet Russia; 2) the much-publicized but unfinished road to British Burma; and 3) the network of roads down into French Indo-China. This last had until last week carried by far the greatest part of all non-military goods going from the outside world into China. It had also taken out of China the tung oil going to the U.S. to pay off the $25,000,000 credit given China by the U. S. last year. (Tung oil 18 essential for high-grade waterproof paints.) Some 6,000 U. S. trucks, including the Fords, Dodges, Studebakers, Chevrolets and Internationals shown above, driven mostly by Chinese, have been plying these thousand miles across country that had never smelled a gasoline exhaust until a year ago. Last fortnight disaster struck directly athwart this lifeline into China.

The Japanese Army had made a landing last mouth at Pakhoi, across the Gulf of Tonkin from the island of Hainan, which it had seized last February. Moving fast, it had headed for Nanning, the chief South China control point on the main Indo-China road. On Nov. 24 the Japanese Army took Nanning.

The Chinese trucks scattered along the road on both sides of Nanning sputtered to a stop. Much of the 1939 crop of tung oil was temporarily bottled up inside China. Thirsting for American gasoline, all the motor vehicles in free China also sputtered to a stop with only one month's supply of rationed gasoline available. The capture of Nanning put Japanese air bases within range of China's back door to French Indo-China.

But things were not so had as they looked. The map on the following page shows the alternative route between the Chinese capital at Chungking and French Indo-China. Chinese armies were still fighting to win back Nanning and re-open this essential highway. And in Chungking an amazing renaissance of industrial energy was giving new strength to the Chinese cause.

LIFE shows on the following pages the amazing odyssey of its photographer, Rey Scott, from French Indo-China up the road to Chungking, and the great new industrialization of medieval Chungking, neither of which has ever been revealed before in pictures.

SIKANGISZE TIBET HUNGKING AIRLINE CON-KUNMING CANTON NANNING CORR AIRLINE JAPANESE Halphong 1 CUT ROAD FRENCH NOV.241939 INDO-CHINA THAI-LAND ANGOON

The Indo-China road, shown in sequence below, is indicated on map by heavy black line. The numbers in circles along the road place the scene of some of the pictures. Main road is now cut.

LIFE'S PHOTOGRAPHER TRAVELS CHINA'S LIFELINE FROM COAST TO CHUNGKING

Almost unknown to the outside world is the road that has actually supplied fighting China with two-thirds of its imports since Japan blockaded the coast ports. The publicity has gone to the British Burma Road but the traffic has gone to the road from French Indo-China to Chungking. A year ago there was a railroad from Haiphong (see map) to Kunming. Beyond that one could move only by pack-mule. China has completed in frantic haste a fan of roads leading out of China's back door. The main road from Chungking to Haiphong had never been photographed when LIFE's Photographer Rey Scott in October hitch-hiked his way up it and took these pictures. He saw the road swarming with American trucks and American goods, driven by Chinese and Malayan "hell-drivers." He saw the same trucks coming back out with the invaluable tung oil, with which China has already financed $11,-000,000 worth of war. Only lately has China begun to develop the tin, copper, antimony and mercury found in this remote part of China.

The main Indo-China road shown on these pages is one of the world's most savage tests of a truck driver. It runs straight north across malarial rice-paddy country, past flowering cactus, wild rhodo-dendron, into the craggy plains of Kwangsi, up to the tumbled mountains of Kweichow and Szechwan and finally into far-away Chungking.

North through Kwangsi Province, the truck speeds soon after dawn past two trucks bringing out tung oil. The road, constantly repaired by coolie gangs conscripted by the village head men, is of gravel on stone.

Chinese "hell-drivers" stop for a meal along the road. They are uniformed but do not carry revolvers. Their trucks are constantly in danger of being bombed or machine-guaned by the Japanese planes. They are paid by the month, not by the trip.

In the middle of the day, the trucks park under great camphor trees like that to hide from Japanese

The hazardous road dips toward an old bridge. Rock is being cut from the hillarde to make a new stone bridge. The road is full of dangerous curves, 72 hazpin turns, crosses two rugged mountain ranges.

A Red Cross truck that faited spills its load of gasoline along the road. Accidents are far too frequent but the Chinese Government is trying to train the reckless Chinese drivers to nurse their trucks along, make them last more than two years.

"Service station" wants two coppers for some water. These people, who had never even seen a wagon

The port of Halphong in Indo-China is piled high with American goods—gasoline drums, from pipe heavy truck tires (left center) for China. In foreground are drums of Chinese tung oil for the U. S. The narrow-gauge French radway to Kunming resembles an amusement-park radway.

At the horder of French Indo-China an American Red Cross truck is inspected by French customs officials at Dong Dang. The customs shed is at left. The French usually forbid the passage of munitions. Fearful of Jap bombers, trucks wait until nightfall to cross the border.

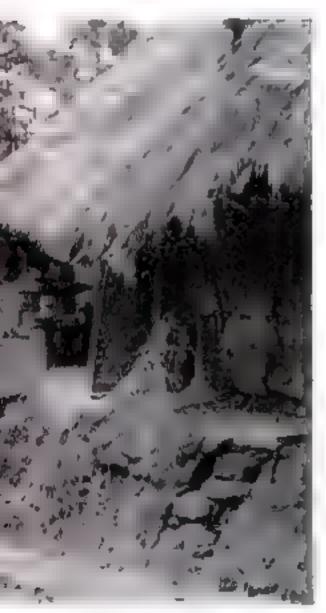

planes. Here is a big convoy of ambulances sent by American Chinese. This is 20 miles from Nanuing.

The road fises from the crag-rimmed lowlands of Kwangsi (see No. 3) into the high plateau of Kweichow Province toward Kweiyang. In these previously maccessible bills live aborigines, including Nosu, Lissu, Min Chia, Shan, Kachin tribesmen.

A breakdown stops the truck of the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association of Los Angeles. Thousands of American Chinese lavishly give their savings to buy medicines and surgical apparatus for China.

two years ago, now contemptuously jaywalk. They figure the truck will hit the devil behind them.

isto the mountains of Szechwan Province (pronounced Setchwan), the road winds in a succession of hairpin turns. Sometimes there is a half-mile drop off the side of the road, sometimes room for only one truck. Here it is clear and cold. Chungking is not far.

Journey's end is the strange reborn city of Changking These trucks, the first of 1,000 new ones bought by the Universal Trading Corp. of New York, are loading with tung oil for the return trip to Haiphoug.

China (continued)

In humbed Changking, a Soviet Russian movie poster advertises a picture called The Girl of the Guerrillan behind a sidewalk towel peddler.

CHINESE MAKE A PITTSBURGH IN MIDDLE OF A WILDERNESS

Drobably the most herculean feat of modern times I was China's bravado in simply picking up 120,000 tons of modern machinery on the coast and moving them a thousand miles inland to Chungking by river junk, mulepack and coolie tracker, before the invading Japanese. Result: in the medieval city of Chungking a kind of improvised, smalltime, hand-patched Pittsburgh has been born in one year. Without such industrial production, there would be no Chinese troops in the field today.

On these pages LIFE shows for the first time the visible results of this transformation. In and around Chungking, China's tiny, honest Economics Minister Ong Wen-hao (below) and his National Resources Commission operate 35 coal, tin, copper and mercury mines, 13 electric utilities and 15 industries. He extracts gasoline out of vegetable oil, distills alcohol, makes steel, machine guns, rifles, bullets, cement, paper, wood pulp, radio, yarn, flour. He exports tea, raw silk, tung oil, bristles, wolfram and antimony. All this manufacture was either newly built on the spot with the most primitive tools or made the trip up the Yangtze by junk and mule.

But Minister Ong still desperately needs artillery, gasoline, special tools, airplanes, chemicals. Chinese engineers, many of them recently educated in American colleges, are working miracles in Chungking. They have invented an admirable model of machine gun. Their primitive blast furnaces and electric furnaces produce iron that, mixed with ferrosilicon, makes a good steel. Of 400 factories in interior China, some privately owned, about a quarter are at Chungking.

Economics Minister Ong Wen-hau, 50, able geologist, ex-university president, is one of Generalissimo Chang Kai-shek's most loyal men-

Electric fornace in a steel mill was designed and made in Changking with the most elementary tools. Two small Government steel mills use electric furnaces to produce a fine but expensive steel. The managers are Chinese graduates of University of California and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Many small mills use blast furnaces. Pride of China when finished will be an open-hearth plant producing some time next year.

Copper access is cooled (above) in the Chungking factory managed by C. P. Yap, Colorado School of Mines 24. This copper is 99.5% pure. Anything less pure will crack if used for bullets. Below, apprentices in one of Chungking's two chief steel mills install a Diesel engine taken from a ship for use in the rolling mill. Workers get about 12¢ a day, would work just as hard for nothing, for Chungking is full of Chinese patriots.

Textile mill of 50,000 spandles (above) now turns out cotton varn in Changking. It was moved boddy from Shanging, 1,000 miles down the Yangtze River. Deficulty is in training local girls to run the spandles. Some 4,000 are now being broken in, will be ready by early next year. The cotton used comes from Shansi Province.

Steel-mill derrick (below) sliding along the roof was entirely designed and built in Changking by Assistant Manager S. H. Fong, Cornell '27. This small mill makes cylinders, steel for armor, husbling construction, railway rads, hand greendes, machine guiss, etc. The plant now has two electric furnaces and a roding mill.

ON THE NEWSFRONTS OF THE WORLD

Brave little Finland fights for its life; France stands by Daladier; 1940 Hopefuls warm up

The burning body of a woman hung out the window of a car on an empty, smoking street. An old man sat m a ditch with the tears of numb wee freezing on his jaw. Two inches of snow lay on Helsinki, Europe's neatest, sweetest little capital. And again and again, huge bombers with the red Communist star painted on their wings racketed up from the horizon to blast away at the decent self-respecting democracy of Finland. The light lasted only from 10 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. All through the freezing 20-hour night, the Finns had time to patch their wounds.

The anger of the stolid, stubborn men of Finland sent every able-bodied man to the front to find the nearest Russian soldier. As the days passed, it appeared that the little Finns were putting up such a heady, savage fight as the modern world has rarely seen. But stubborn heroism is impotent against thousands upon thousands of field guns battering earthworks, against thousands of planes spotting and strafing positions.

LIFE has shown lately and at length modern Finland and Russia's drive for control of the Baltic (Oct. 90) and Finland's Grand Old Man, Baron Mannerheim (Oct. 23). For the military side of last week's war, turn to page 34 for a map and Major Eliot's explanation. In Helsinki last week, as the bombs fell and the fires burned, young Photographer Frank Muto was taking for LIFE pictures of Finland's tragedy.

Though Russia had been mounting its crude and ugly attack on Finland for two months and its actual onslaught was no great surprise, a shudder of appalled indignation last week swept the world. In the U. S., where Finland is very popular, President Roosevelt summed up this country's feeling when he expressed "profound shock" at such "wanton disregard for law." American cartoonists were quick to depict the absurdity of big Russia's position in relation to little Finland (see cut). Italy's Il Telegrafo sneered, "The wolves are having their day." The universal disgust was heightened by Russia's long and voluble pretense that it is the world's chief champion of Peace. Only the Communist New York Daily Worker attempted to maintain this pretense with a headline: RED ARMY HURLS BACK INVADING FINNISH TROOPS.

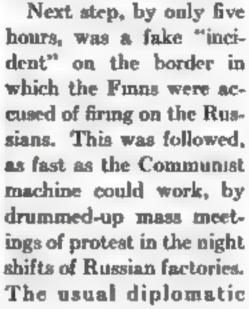

In this bold-faced aggression, Moscow followed the

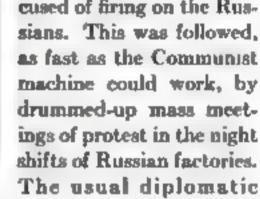

"OUR HEARTS BLEED FOR YOU, JOE!"

Berlin technique. The customary press attacks reached a climax last week when the official Communist Party newspaper Practa screamed insults at Finland's mild Premier Anno Cajander: "Clown! crowing rooster! squirming grass snake! marionette! small beast of prey without sharp teeth and strength but having a cunning just . . . smearing crocodile tears over his dirty face."

notes, denunciations and break-off of relations were hastily pushed through before the flights of bombers rose into the subarctic dawn.

RYTI

To placate the Russians after the bombs began to fall, Premier Cajander and his Cabinet resigned, despite an overwhelming vote of confidence by the Finnish Parliament. His place was taken by a Britishknighted financial expert, Sir Risto Ryti. Moscow did not like him any better but promptly recognized a "People's Finnish Government" that bobbed up behind the Russian Army lines. This was headed by one Otto Kuusinen, a member of the Moscow Comintern who has not been seen in Finland for 18 years.

Far away in Amsterdam, a profound Dutch criticism of Joseph Stalin crashed through a Russian bookstore window wrapped around a rock. It was Nikolay Lenin's promise in 1918 that the Finns should be free.

Stabborn Daiacier. The Daladier Government has been ruling France under decree powers since last March. Barely a day before the powers expired on Dec. 1, Parliament was called, for the first time since war began, to renew them. In the Chamber of Deputies, members chafed. grumbled and grew stubborn at this Parliamentary abdication, but the Premier was twice as stubborn. Rather than let the world think France divided. the Deputies gave in and voted all the powers "for duration of war." The Senate quickly concurred. Decrees will be submitted to Parliament within a month for approval "if Parliament is in session."

MONNET

A Frenchman was picked last week as chairman of the Supreme Allied Economic Council, with headquarters in London. He is Jean Monnet, able international banker, ex-deputy secretary general of the League and a great wine merchant. His family makes cognac.

1948 Warm-Up. Eleven months before Election Day, most of the 1940 hopefuls were strenuously warming up. Thomas E. Dewey opened campaign headquarters in New York City and, after receiving pledges of support from most State Republican leaders, revealed that he was willing "to make this fight." Managers of Paul V. McNutt's energetic campaign for the Democratic nomination ("If Roosevelt doesn't run") claimed they had already sewed up 100 Eastern votes for the first ballot. Friends of Herbert Hoover said they had 102 "friendly" delegates lined up, Representative Hamilton Fish Jr. caused the New York Times to headline: FISH ISSUES THREAT TO SEEK PRESIDENCY. In San Francisco, Senator

H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire promised that if he were elected President he would see to it that Labor Leader Harry Bridges was deported. In Oklahoma City, Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio sturdily whumped at the New Deal's "insane deficit policy." In Warm Springs, President Roosevelt kept on talking about economy, proposed to make next year's deficit look smaller by putting special national-defense expenditures in a separate budget. Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio, G.O.P. dark horse, sat tight on top of one of Ohio's periodic Relief crises, caused by refusal of the ruraldominated Legislature to appropriate sufficient funds for urban Rehef or to permit cities to raise funds by special taxes. With thousands of Reliefers in Cleveland and other prosperous cities dropped from the rolls and subsisting largely on rolled outs, flour and apples supplied by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corp., demands grew that Governor Bricker call a special session of the Legislature. The Governor, out to make an economy record by keeping his budget. balanced, refused.

1940 CANDIDATE

Big Book. Literary event of the year was the publication by Harcourt Brace on Dec. 1 of Carl Sandburg's Abraham Lincoln: The War Years, which critics promptly and unanimously acclaimed as probably the best biography of Lincoln and one of the greatest. biographies ever written in America. Carrying on where he left off in Abraham Lincoln: The Prairie Years and supporting himself betimes by balladsinging platform tours (LIFE, Feb. 21, 1938), Poet Sandburg worked eleven years at his great labor, wrote some 1,750,000 eloquent words which, with many illustrations including 414 rare old photographs, fill four fat. volumes. Price: $20.

SANDBURG

PICTURE OF THE WEEK

"Activity: nil" was the French communiqué issued Nov. 30 for the first time in this war. This state of atrophy on the Western front cannot be shown better than by the picture on the opposite page. The French light machine-gunner sitting by his Châtellerault has two men of his squad out in front watching for a German raiding party, need not worry until they give the alarm. He is getting very bored with sitting around in cold, wet weather. But the reason for the inaction is precisely the terrible effectiveness of such weapons as his machine gun.

GERMANY'S "DEUTSCHLAND" SINKS BRITISH CRUISER IN BIGGEST SEA BATTLE

ber afternoon that the lookout of the armed British merchant cruiser Rawalpindi sighted something every eye in the British Navy had been straining to see. "It's the Deutschland, all right," observed the Rawalpindi's Captain E. C. Kennedy, as his binoculars showed him the beautiful sleek lines of Germany's dread pocket battleship. For two and a half months the Deutschland had flickered between the West Indies, the Azores and Newfoundland. British cruisers, destroyers, submarines and aircraft carriers had ranged the high seas looking for her and the Admiralty was bustly plotting search curves, as certain to find her as the laws of mathematical probability. But the Rawalpindi had done it.

The job of this converted 17,000-ton P. & O. Imer had been to patrol the area between Iceland and Scotland. She had been armed with four 6-m. guns on each side. And as luck would have it, on Nov. 23 she stumbled on an armored enemy with six 11-m. guns capable of firing shells 17 miles. Captain Ken nedy sent his crew of naval reservists and pensioners to their battle stations. He dropped smoke floats into the sea to make a smoke screen through which to try to escape. The Deutschland's Captain Wenneked broke out the flag signal meaning "Stop at once." The Rawalpindi did not stop. She had turned her starboard quarter to the Deutschland, hringing all four starboard guns to bear. The Deutschland fired one shell across the Rawalpindi's bow. Then, at six miles, all six of her 11-in, guns threw a salvo over the Rawalpindi. The Rawalpindi answered with four 100 lb, shells. The Deutschland's next salvo straddled the Rawalpindi. Its third, two minutes after firing had started, made clean lits, put out all the Rawalpindi's lights and broke the electric ammunition winches. The fourth salvo blew away the Rawalpindi's bridge and wireless room. By this time a German light croiser, reportedly the Emden, had appeared on the Rawalpindi's port and was blazing away with six 6 in guns. The Rawalpindi's bloody crew went on serving their guns until the last had been put out of action and the whole ship was ablaze from forecastle to poop.

As twilight fell the Germans ceased fire Justly proud of a superb job of gunnery, the Deutschland raced past the Rawalpindi's lifeboats, swamping one with its wake. The German erew danced on the deck and jeered at the British amateurs.

LIFE's Artist Levdenfrost has picked this moment in the most considerable sea battle of the war. The Deutschland's turrets, entitled Hitler and Hindenburg, are trained abeam, as is the range finder on the foremast. Decks are cleared for action. In the distance is the German light cruiser. Eight hours later the Ranal pinds turned turtle and sank. Of a crew of 300, 41 were saved. 30 by the Germans, 11 by the British.

Said Prime Minister Chamberlain of the Rawalpin di crew: "Those men must have known as soon as they sighted the enemy that there was no chance for them, but they had no thought of surrender. They fought at their gons until they could fight no more "

The speed of the 10,000 ton Deutschland is 26 knots. The British and French Navies have only five battle cruisers with speed and armament comparable to the Deutschland. But because the Deutschland operates as a lone raider without the usual capital-ship screen of small craft, she is particularly vulnerable to torpedo attack from smaller craft. The Deutschland's threatened damage to commerce has so far been a false alarm but she has succeeded in keeping busy a great part of the British Navy. By the proper use of merchantmen as decoys, roving destroyers in divisions or alone, lurking submarines and scouting planes, the Allies ought to catch the Deutschland soon.

BRITISH WARPLANES ARE TOWED ACROSS CANADIAN BORDER AT MONTANA "PORT OF EXIT"

At Sweelgrass, Mont., warplanes built by American aircraft manufacturers for Britain's Royal Air Force were towed across the Canadian border last week in conformity with the U.S. neutrality act, under which neither American nor Canadian pilots may fly military planes over the frontier. Fog-free Sweetgrass has become an important "port of exit." From plants in California, planes are flown to Sweetgrass, thence "shipped"—towed by automobiles—across the border The plane shown above has its nose in Canada, its tail in the U.S. The strand of barbed wire on ground denotes the boundary Should Canadian Army pilots cross it, they would be liable to internment for duration of the war.

BROWDER AT YALE: NO. 1 COMMUNIST CHEERED AND JEERED BY STUDENT MOB

la the auditorium of Yale's Sheffield School, an audience of 1,000 including those at window (above) heard Earl Browder speak, Nov. 28, while 2,400 students and "townies" cheered and jeered outside. Barred by Harvard, Princeton and Dartmouth, America's No. 1 Communist ignored catcalla, retorted sharply but amiably to becklers.

Leaving the campus, Browder was surrounded by student demonstrators who rocked his car violently from side to side. The driver managed to get it started and away before it was overturned. Declared Communist Browder afterwards. "I was surprised at how little bostshity was shown. The students were beautifully behaved."

L.S.U.'S EX-PRESIDENT CUTS CANE IN STRIPES

Dalked in an attempted suicide few weeks ago in his prison cell at Baton Rouge, La., Dr. James Monroe Smith, former president of Louisiana State University, was sent into the fields at Angola penal farm, Dec. 1, to cut sugar cane with fellow convicts. Once the $18,000-a-year protégé of the late Huey P. Long, Dr. Smith is now serving an 8-to-24-year sentence for misusing funds of the university he had helped create as a glittering monument to the Kingfish's academic fancies. On his release from Angola he will

When he heard his sentence a month ago, the 51-year-old educator told reporters: "I am looking forward to the time of my release so I can salvage something from the wreckage of my life." Six days later he slashed an artery in his foot and was found by a jailer, bleeding to death in his bath. He was taken by ambulance to the farm at Angola. The picture above shows him in regulation convict stripes, holding machete in his right hand, cane stalk in his left.

DHASED BY DOROTHY DITTERLINE, GIRL-SHY HAROLD HACKNEY LEAPS OVER A HEDGE TO SAFETY

Sadie Hawkins Day begins. Starter states rules: "At the first shot you boys run. At the second the gala commences. Any boy which any gal ketches is got t'ask, her to the Sadie Hawkins Saunter in the jimnashum."

In the "jimmashum" Sadie Hawkins Day ends in Virginia reeling. Boys came dressed as La'l Abner, here of Dogpatch, Ky. Most girls are Daisy Mac. Eighth from right appears as Pansy, Abner's pipe-smoking mother.

ON SADIE HAWKINS DAY, GIRLS CHASE BOYS IN 201 COLLEGES

DAISY MAE & LI'L ARNER

The astonishing growth of Lil Abner in five years from an unknown comic-strip character to a national figure, followed by more than 20,000,000 readers of 400 newspapers from coast to coast, is a phenomenon of modern syndicated journalism. The wildfire extension of Sadie Hawkins Day as an unofficial U.S. collegiate holiday is a testimonial to the delights of co-education.

Here you see Sadie Hawkins Day as observed, Nov. 26-28, on the campus of Texas Wesleyan College, Methodist Episcopal institution at Fort Worth. In Dogpatch, Ky., the original Sadie Hawkins chased and caught herself a husband on Nov. 4. This fall that epic pursuit was recreated on 201 campuses, 188 cities and towns, beginning in October and continuing through both Thankagivings. After Christmas there will be more.

Essence of Sadie Hawkins Day is Girl Dates Boy. The scene opposite is typical. It shows Texas Wesleyan's Gordon Herring, treed by wooers, each bent on taking him to the gymnasium dance. Costumes derive from characters in Li'l Abner. Girls generally dress as pretty Daisy Mae rather than as homely Sadie Hawkins. At Texas Wesleyan, where Bible study is a required course, a slogan for Sadie Hawkins Day was found in Daniel, XII. 4: "Many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased."

Hunter and hunted, Mildred McCans and Howard Young -"a real varmint of a man"-stroll hand in hand to the big shinding in the gym.

REDS ATTACK FINLAND BY LAND, SEA AND AIR

by MAJOR GEORGE FIELDING ELIOT

The strategy of the Russian attack on Finland, together with the main thrusts during the first two days of fighting, is shown on the map at right. The principal land drive by the Soviet Army has been across the Karehan Isthmus between Lake Ladoga (largest in Europe) and the Gulf of Finland. Through this isthmus run the only good rail and road connections from the Soviet Union to the chief Finnish cities. Here there are comparatively strong Finnish fortifications, and the initial Finnish resistance appears, at the moment, to be stout.

A secondary land drive is being made against Suojärvi, north of Lake Ladoga, apparently with the idea of taking the line of isthmus fortifications from the rear. Initial Finnish resistance at Suojärvi does not appear to have been very strong.

In the far North, against the Arctic port of Petsamo, the Soviet forces are said to have reached their objective by the use of parachute troops. In this area are valuable nickel deposits.

The Reds' air attacks were widespread, including the apparently debberate bombing of open cities. Hundreds were reported killed in repeated bombings of Helsinki, Viipuri, Kotka, Hanko and Turku. These air attacks were quite obviously directed at breaking the "civil will" of Finland and will long be held up to the small states of Europe as a grim reminder of what happens to a little country that dares to resist the will of a great one.

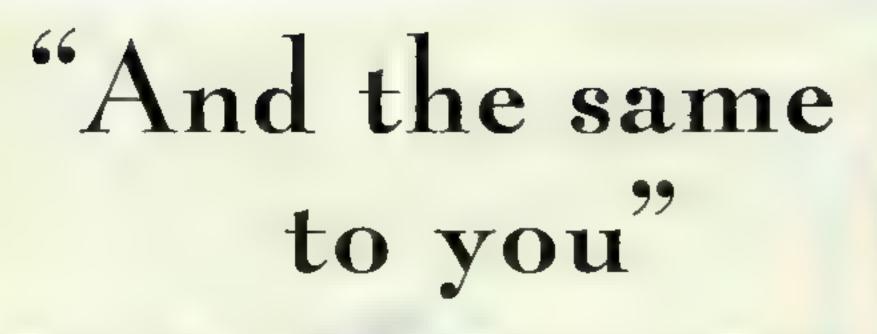

Finally, the Soviet fleet, assisted by small landing forces, seized strategic islands in the Gulf of Finland but was repulsed, reportedly with the loss of the new cruiser Kirov, by Finnish land batteries at Hanko. It was Finland's refusal to permit a Soviet base at Hanko that ruptured the Moscow negotiations and led to the current fighting.

As with Poland, Finland's lack of an adequate defense against a tremendously superior air force appears to be a fatal handicap to Finnish resistance. Against a Finnish force of perhaps 200 planes, the Russians were able to mass approximately 3,500 first-line aircraft with a high proportion of bombers. This initial superiority, assuming half the Russian force to be employed in the attacks on Finland, is thus in the neighborhood of ten to one, or about twice the initial superiority of the Germans against Poland, where their air force proved so important an ingredient of victory.

If fighting continues, one important factor may be the freezing of the Finnish lakes and watercourses. Hard-frozen ground is, of course, very good for mechanized forces and motor transport. Ice 10 inches thick will bear the weight of almost any military load, while 6-in, ice is sufficient for light field guns and 3- to 4-in, ice for infantry with appropriate intervals. But the southern Finnish lakes have not yet frozen solid.

As to the Russian objectives, these may turn out to be merely the occupation of the points originally demanded (Hanko, the islands in the Gulf of Finland, the Petsamo region and a rectification of the frontier on the Karelian Isthmus) or may now include Russian hegemony over the whole country. The former objective is concerned with Russian desire for security in the Baltic, seizing upon this favorable moment to achieve it. The latter might indicate further Russian ambitions directed toward obtaining ice-free ports on the Arctic coast of Norway. Certainly no German government could be other than uneasy as the outstretched talons of the "Bear that walks like a man" reach farther and farther to the West.

est man in the world...old Santa...takes time to pause and refresh. So this Christmas in remembering others don't forget to remember yourself now and then... with an ice-cold Coca-Cola for the pause that refreshes.

THE PAUSE THAT REFRESHES WITH ICE-COLD COCA-COLA AT HOME

Right from the start you'll realize why EVERY 7th FAMILY, DRINKS A-P, COFFEEL?

FROM THE START

(THE PICK OF THE PLANTATIONS)

of experts in the United States, only A&P maintains its own staff of experts in the principal coffee districts of South America. From this resident force of 60 our buyers go back into the highlands, where they choose the pick of the plantations.

Other A&P experts taste-test each batch of coffee at the seacoast before it is stowed away on fast ships far from any cargo that might harm its delicate flavor and aroma. In the United States test after test is made. Then the coffee is blended in A&P's modern plants, roasted to the peak of flavor and rushed to our own stores to be ground fresh to your order at the moment of purchase; and ground correctly for your coffee pot.

From plantation to you, each step is under A&P's control. Many inbetween profits and extra handling charges are eliminated. That's why you get such superb coffee at such amazingly low prices. Coffee is a notable example of how A&P reduces the food costs of millions of families. Try A&P Coffee and convince yourself — there are three distinctive blends.

Critical experts pudge the flavor of A&P Coffee in five separate tests. Each batch of coffee must conform to A&P's undownly high standards before it goes to our stores.

Important: A&P Stores give you the right grind for your coffee put. For Regular Pot, order course Percolator, medium Drip Pot, fine; Vacuum Pot, extra fine

Bafore the New York Boxing Commission sits Harry Thomas. When Commissioners Walker Wear, General John Phelan and

Bill Brown (l. to r.) asked whether he "took a dive" (i.e., threw the fight) for Max Schmeling, Thomas refused to an-ever. He said it was an incriminating question. Attorney General's attaché, William Cahill (at far right) agreed with him.

BOXING COMMISSION FAILS TO MAKE HARRY THOMAS TALK

In Chicago, a month ago, Heavyweight Harry Thomas, called "Horizontal Harry" because he has lost so many fights, precipitated a scandal by admitting to newspapermen he had thrown fights to Max Schmeling and Galento. Last fortnight, the New York Boxing Commission, most important in U. S., summoned Harry to explain himself. Bashful and sullen, Harry did so. But to the commission's wheedling questions, Harry gave no answer. Reason: it is a crime to throw a fight in New York State, and the Thomas-Schmeling fight had been staged in New York. If he admitted anything, he might be sent to jail. Said he, "I don't want to be sent up the crick to clear the commission. And I hold the commission in the highest regard."

As the commission pondered ways to make Thomas talk, the boxing crowd feared it might be in for a first-class scandal. In a hundred dingy New York offices, they were busy shrugging off Thomas' story. Promoter Mike Jacobs and Referee Arthur Donovan said that the Schmeling fight was on the level. But in Washington D C., Maryland's Representative Ambrose Kennedy threatened an investigation, recommended government control of boxing. The general public, realizing that few sports are more dishonest than boxing, thought the mogula had better clean up their own game before somebody does it for them.

Herizontal Harry's lawyer was John F. Dailey Jr. When Thomas refused to talk, the commission burriedly sent for an attaché of the Attorney General's office to see if the commission had power to make Thomas talk. It did not.

TT'S HERE AGAIN—that annual gift problem! And again to find a present that is original and new to top the Christmas list for him and/or her.

You ask what she wants? Something ultrasmart? Something very practical? Something superspecial? Well, here it is-the three-in-one-the new Lady Buxton "S-Way"-in colors that will accent her Christmas Spirit . . . For him, there's the Buxton "S-Way" that has made such a hit with men since it was introduced last year-a versatile man's billfold designed for all-day use.

"3-Ways" are made for every active phase of a man's or woman's life-adaptable at a moment's notice to suit every need in smartness, usefulness and sheer practical service . . . in finest leathers that money can buy, with the best possible craftsmanship, and at prices to suit every pocket.

An Ingenious "Secret Compartment"—Simply draw the center "partition" toward you, Lift out the end It unlocks, revealing an extra full-length "hadden" compartment that keeps larger bills, personal papers, checks, etc., out of sight.

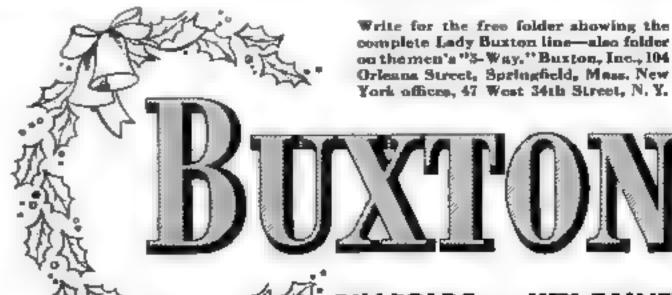

New it's Two Buxtons-The "partition" is really a swank, wafer-thin billfold—complete in itself, completely removable-with all the necessary pockets for theatre tickets, currency, etc.-What's more, it can't bulge your smooth-fitting evening clothes.

Three Full-Length Compartments - Insert the inper fold open side up (it locks in) and you have three full-length compartments separating checks, bills, papers, etc.- a regular "pocket file" with plenty of organized room to carry everything.

AND KEY-TAINERS TO MATCH

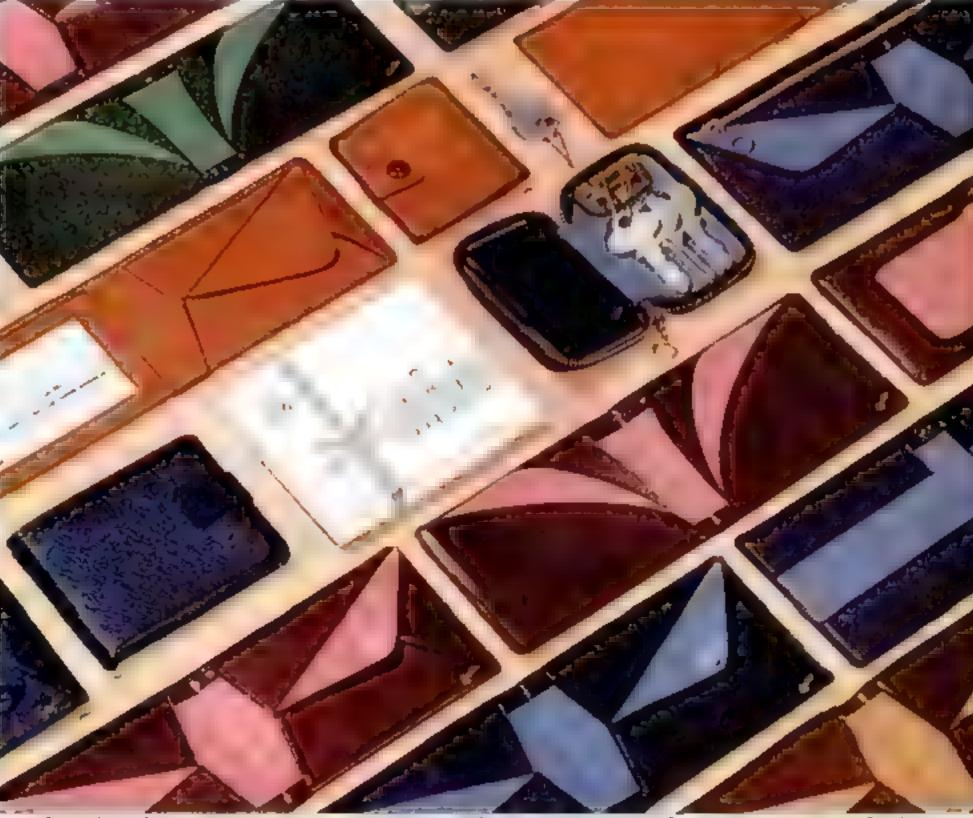

-With Buxton's patented locked loops that keep keys really safe-for both ends of the loop lock securely into a Buxton Key-Tainer so there is no chance for a key to slip off and get lost. Leathers to match your Buxton billfold. Lady Buxton models in colored leathers to match the Lady Buxton folds. Prices from 50e to $6.50.

BILLFOLDS . KEY-TAINERS POCKET CASES

"3-Mays to Please

BUXTON'S unique "3-Way" Billfolds—which make such a great hit with men—now offered also in smart "Accessory Colors" for women —answer the gift problem in all-day, all-purpose usefulness

Other Lody Buxtons from a Dollar. Unit 81 for said colors 8, 30 and 82 for two table moders. De insecreded in California Proposal 82 50 to 85. With two in proceeds one a prosecuted 83 p. 1. I stack, Navy, Box and a Green Close and Block through perfect on a second for a contract to shown at left, are in the lune Smooth Call at $5. They also come in Morocco tigun Sheep at $3 and Bahy. Pin Scal at $7.50.

When method is her mood, the Lady Buxton "3-Way" offers three full-length compartments, separating checks, bills, papers, etc. There are also special little pockets for cards, tickets, driving license.

When she steps out to shop or travel—the center partition can be reversed—locked us making a inde-out for personal papers, larger bills if any! And you'll note a specially roomy pocket that carries all the change she should have.

When going "on the town"—the inner partition actually comes out a complete billfold up manusture—paper thin to shp into her daintiest evening bag—and just the right color accent for that newest gown.

Calvert "Reserve" Blended Willshfy-90 Proof-63 o Grain Neutral Spirits... Calvert "Special" Blended Whishey-72% of Crain Neutral Spirits. Copr. 1939 Calvert Distillers Corp., N.Y.C.

Elended Whiskey

Maynor sings in a powerful soprano voice, with aminging range and accuracy. Her pumissions notes are levely. Her face shows that she has Indum! lood in her years.

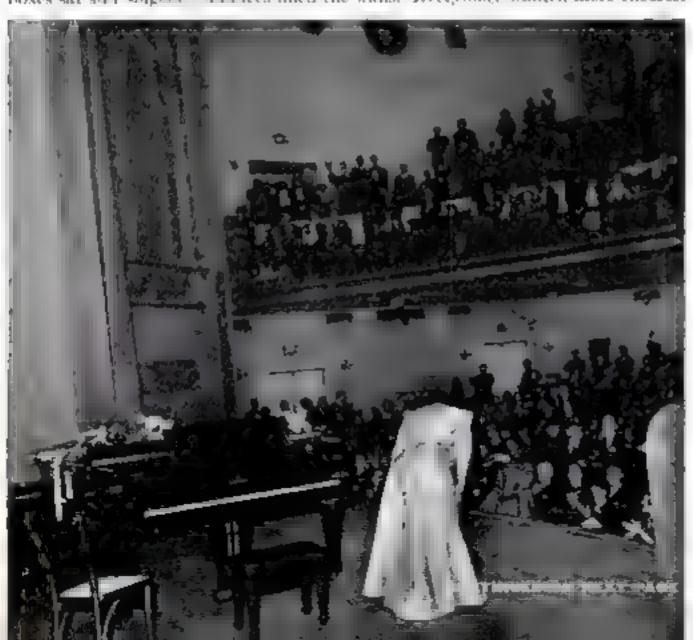

A NEGRO SINGER FROM VIRGINIA MAKES EXCITING CONCERT DEBUT

When Dorothy Maynor came out for her first appearance at Town Hall in New York, Nov. 19, the house was packed with mose professionals. Their grapity in had advised them the desbut of this Negro soprano was going to be something to hear. Serge Koussevitzky had called Maynor, a native Plagstad.

Dorott's Maynor was so nervous that her knees shook and tears were in her eyes. But there was no nervousness in her sweet, char year. The actioned at the end of an exacting program, stood up and yelled excited approval. The Towes critic next day said: "She has virtually everything needed by a great artist. . . . Her voice [is] one of the finest the public can hear today." No Marian Anderson, she showed that she might some day rival that great Negro singer's artistry

Only 29 years old, Dorothy Maynor is the daughter of a Norfolk, Va., Methodist preacher. She studied at Hampton Institute, toured Europe in its choir. She is 4 ft. 10 in tall, weight 145 lb. In operatic arias, she stands in conventional fashion, bands folded in front. But when she comes to spirituals, she hans chow on piano, jounces her chunky body up and down as she sings.

An ovation greeted May nor as she came out to how at the end of the consert. In the boxes sat gray singles. Stan less lined the walls. Everybody wanted more encores.

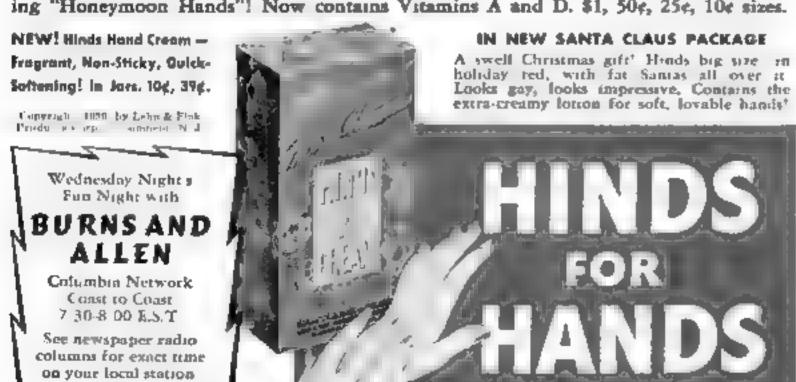

NICER-LOOKING HANDS....in a jiffy!

TS EXTRA-CREAMY, ETHEL — AND EXTRA-SOFTENING MIND IF I TRY YOUR HINDS ?

YOURSELF. WE'LL

HANDS - THANKS TO

I MAGINE! Even one application of Hinds Honey and Almond Cresm helps chapped hands look smoother, feel softer! Use Hinds regularly before and after household jobs, indoors and out. Extra-creamy, extra-softening—Hinds brings soothing comfort. Tones down redness..., smooths away rough chapping. Coaxes back the softness that cold, wind, steam heat, hard water, and housework take away. Gives you soft, appealing "Honeymoon Hands"! Now contains Vitamins A and D. $1, 50¢, 25¢, 10¢ sizes.

Negro singer (continued)

Paul Robeson, haritone, heard Dorothy Maynor. So did Roland Hayes, tenor Marian Anderson sent a wire. These Negro singers would make an unsurpassed quartet.

Day after the concert, Maynor relaxed with her crocheting. An untiring worker, she practices three hours a day, would practice longer if her teacher would let her.

Miracles only happen ONCE!

1. EASY TO DO IT! If you've never taken an indoor picture you've got a new thrill coming... in the pictures you'll get with your camera and G-E Photo lamps. You'll be amazed at how easy it is... simple as outdoor shots. Handy directions on each package. Take advantage of the best picture opportunity of the year with G-E Photoflash and Photoflood lamps... get pictures you'll love to look at again and again.

3. Get new family pictures! This Christmas may give you your only chance to get pictures of out-of-town friends and relatives who are dear. Don't miss it! Take natural, unposed photos of them with G-B MAZDA Photoflash lamps while the opportunity is yours.

4. Make movies or "stills" of familiar scenes like this. Easy to take such shots with G-E Photoflood lamps. Ask your dealer about the new G-E Daylight Photofloods for color . . . good with regular Kodachrome.

GENERAL & ELECTRIC MAZDA PHOTO LAMPS

Z. Snap New Year's and other party pictures, too. Fun for you and fun for the subjects. If you want to get high speed action shots... you'll need a synchronized flash outfit. Ask your dealer and get the new G-E flash bulbs.

GET READY NOW!

FOR ACTION and shorts you can I retake, get the nen G-E M vzna Photo-flash lamps. 150 List

Be ready for several shots... get a holiday package of six lamps

NEWEST! and a sensanon' The G-E Mighty Midget Photof ash, Carry 30 in 200 one pocket. 200 tier G-E flash buths for every need.

FOR DOZENS of snaps with new super-type film or for holiday movies, get G E MAZDA Photofood lamps.

No.1 20° No.2 40°

JOHN SLOAN IN HIS NEW YORK STUDIO TAKES A VACATION FROM PAINTING "CROSS-HATCH" NUDES, AND DOES A PICTURE OF OVER-DRESSED LADIES IN A VICTORIA

JOHN SLOAN

A GREAT TEACHER-PAINTER
CRUSADES FOR AMERICAN ART

HE PAINTS HACKWARDS SO CAMERAMAN CAN SEE ALL

No living man has had greater influence on American art than John Sloan. As a painter he was among the first to break away from the polite academic art of the 1890's. As a teacher he has launched hundreds of artists on their careers. As author of Gut of Art, published this fall (American Artists Group, $3.75), he has written a wise and humorous credo for artists. This winter the largest exhibit of his work'ever assembled will be held at Wanamaker's in Philadelphia.

Today when John Sloan's former students come to call, they usually find him painting in a faded pink shirt and old duck trousers as if he were dressed for a summer fishing trip. From his studio atop New York's old-fashioned Hotel Chelsea, they look down on just such street scenes as those Sloan made famous in his paintings and etchings.

Until he was 30, John Sloan never did a serious painting. He made his living as an illustrator for newspapers and such magazines as McClure's and Colliers. He drew comic Irishmen for yarns by Ellis Parker Butler and was considered a specialist in slum scenes and subway bums. Convinced by this journalistic training that the workaday world was more exciting to paint than academic landscapes, Sloan and his friends began to develop the realistic style of art which was soon slurred "the Ashean School."

In 1913 they exploded a bombshell in the art world by staging the famous "Armory Show." They scoured Europe for the newest, most revolutionary art. They exhibited it, along with their own works, in New York's 69th Regiment Armory. One hundred and eighty thousand people paid 50¢ apiece to be flabbergasted by their first glimpse of works by Picasso, Matisse and Duchamp's Nude Descending the Stairs.

Ironically, the Armory exhibit worked against Sloan and the men who got it up, because the more sensational European artists stole the show. Unable to make a living from his painting. Sloan became an instructor at the Art Students League in New York and in 1929 became its president. In 1930 he resigned after a row when the faculty disapproved of his hiring George Grosz. German painter whose ideas in art were considered too revolutionary.

John Sloan has never been abroad. He and his wife summer in Santa Fe. Now he paints mostly nudes, says he can learn more painting the human body. He deplores flag-waving in art, tells artists not to be self-conscious about painting America. "If you are American and work, your work will be American."

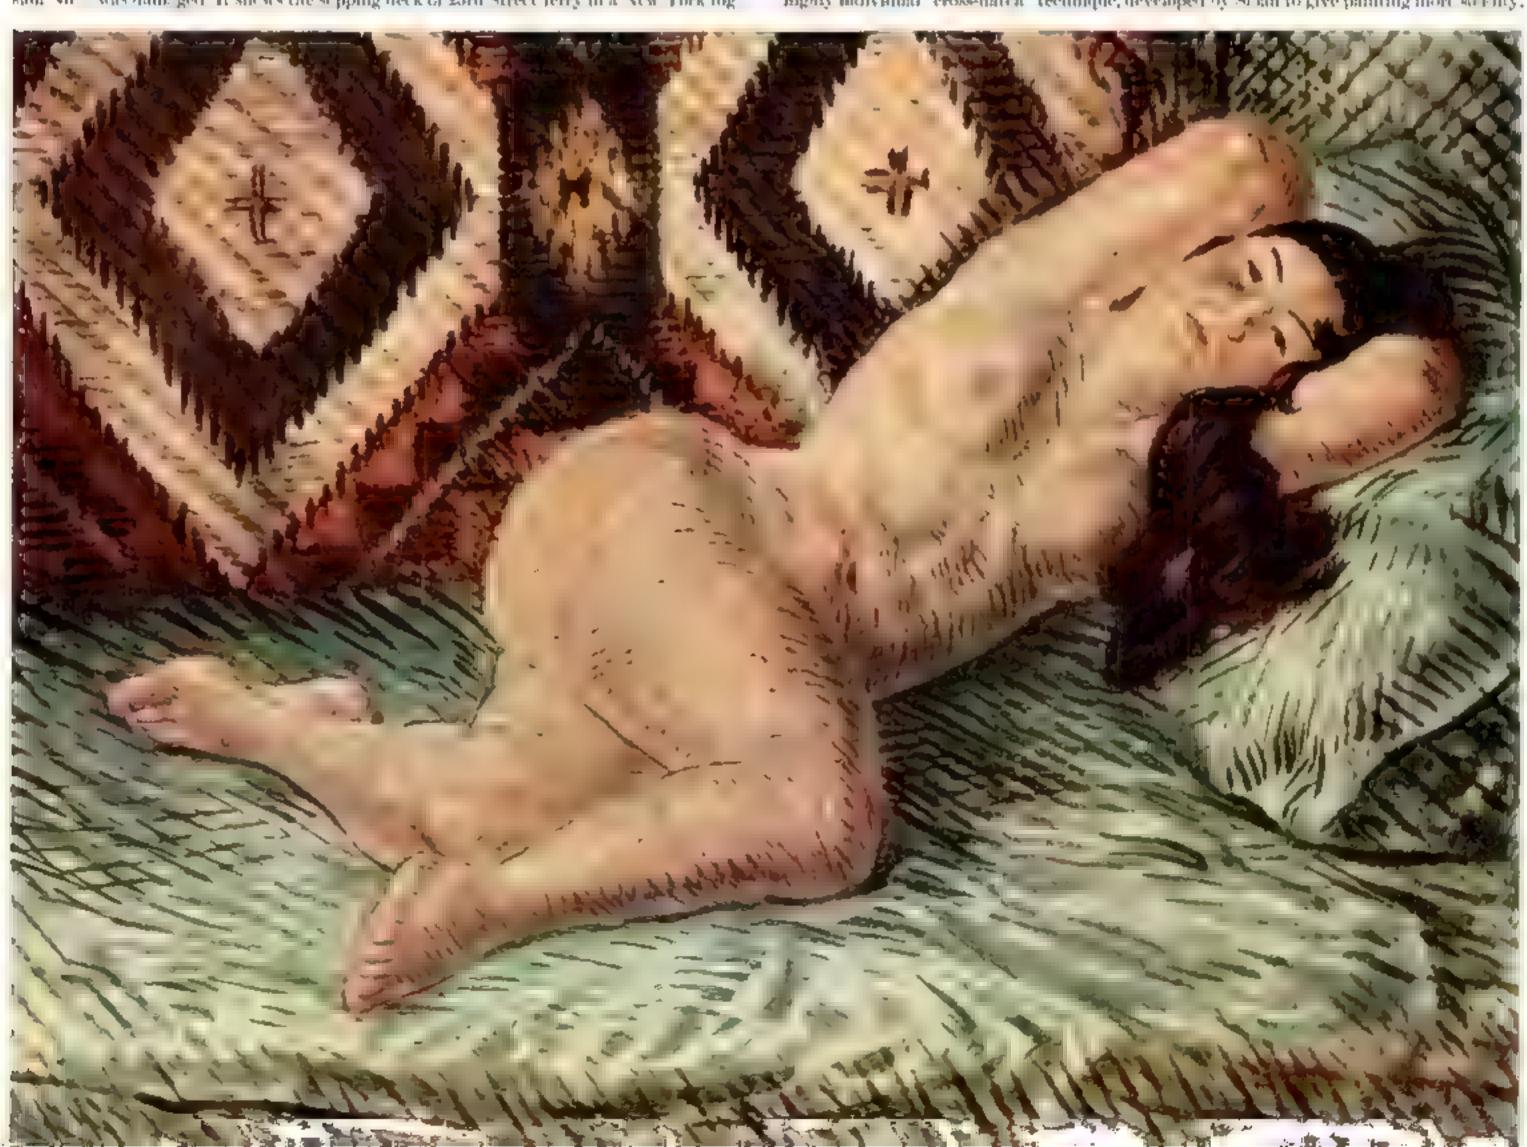

IE LECTURES ON HIS WORK "SUSANNA IN SANTA FE"

WAKE OF THE FERRY, No. 2 is an early Sloan (1907), painted after versions No. - was damaged. It shows the suppling deck of 23rd Street ferry in a New York fog

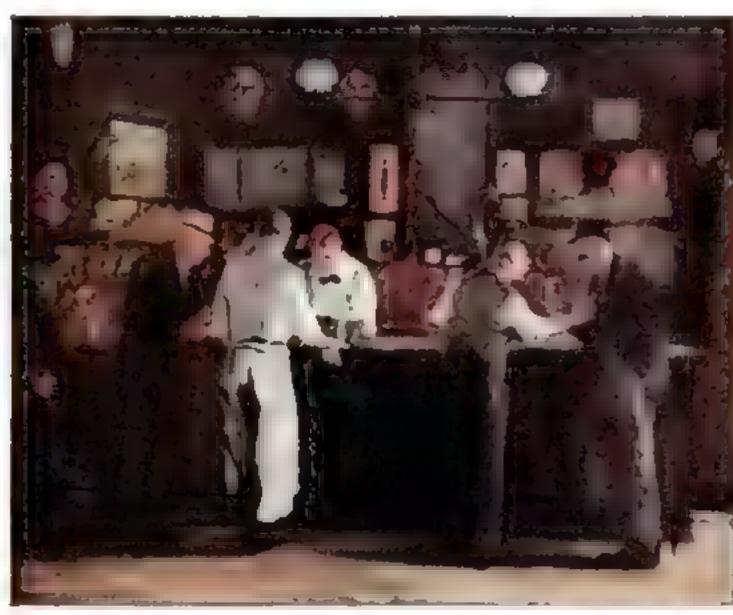

NUDE AND CHIEF BLANKET is a recent Slima (1989), showing his linglidy individual "cross-hatch" technique, developed by Slivan to give painting more so thity.

SLOAN PAINTS THE POETRY OF COMMONPLACE NEW YORK

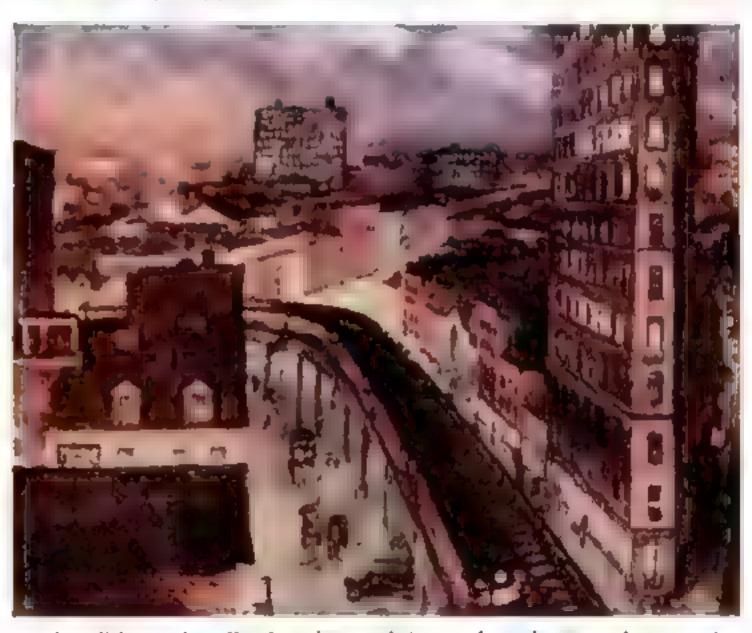

Warm light over backs of houses . . . man on roof waving pole to make his pigeons fly for exercise. Behind him in distance is Pennsylvania Station under construction. (Pigeons, 1910)

Cool, dark McSorley's bar... hangout for appreciative ale drinkers—sawdust on floors, walls bung with sporting prints. It still stands on East 7th Street. (McSorley's Bar, 1912)

Two shafts of sunlight stabbing the vast station . . . crowds swarming from trains, porters, woman in wheelchair . . . glass-roofed information booth at right. (Grand Central Station, 1924)

Purple twilight seen from Sloan's studio ... 6th Avenue elevated train ... downtown skyacrapers glowing for-off like Arabian Nights city. (The City from Greenwich Village, 1922)

Little old hotel on University Place... friendly lights twinkling on rainy night... rendezvous for artists and literary people... famous for French food and wine. (Lafayette Hotel, 1927)

Snowfall on Broadway looking down from 53rd Street ... girls in galoshes trudging through snowdrifts . . . trolley car with clanging bell muffled in snow. (The White Way, 1926)

ENGLISH PEER AND HIS WIFE PRACTICE UP BLINDFOLDING THEMSELVES AT HOME DURING THE DAY

LIFE IN A BLACKOUT

DRAW - TE HILES OF AA CA W. AV

The war has been brought bome to Englishmen. Frenchmen and Germans by nightly blackouts During this nocturnal half-life the episodes dlustrated here by Wallace Morgan have actually occurred in London and Berlin, where blackouts are inknest.

In London, strolling lovers have fallen into open sand pits and a boy was swept to death in the city's sewers after he fell into an open manhole. Women have been manhandled on dark streets. Men have been caught deliberately obstructing girls. Some even kneel down to catch them by the ankles.

In Berlin, the people shuffle along the streets like ghosts. Portly Prussums bark ' Interry'" ("Look out!") and spank the sidewalk with cases to warn others of their approach. Each a ght police close up unsavory districts to keep the inhabitants from invading more respectable sections. Robberies during blackouts now bring death penalty. Recently three vonths were beheaded for stealing 860 in the dark.

While most people stay at home behind shuttered windows and double-curtained doors, a few stall sit in the dark at cafes along the Knefursten-Damm or crowd into stuffy, smoky restaurants. Travel by taxi is almost impossible, since the few that have escaped army requisition have rarely enough gas to go far. Women are being accosted in the dark and Berlin is laughing at the man who accosted his own wife by mistake. The proper procedure in a darkened trolley nowadays when sat upon as to determine whether the sitter is a main or woman and then act accordingly,

LONDON STREETWALKERS PROSPECT WITH FLASHLIGHTS

the world's most honored watch makes the world's most honored gift!

LONGINES

Get the jump on Jack Frost! Give your children an "inside overcoat" . . . something HOT to drink for breakfast. Let that "something hot" be something they love . . . something that's easy for you to prepare. Hot Nestle's just fills the bill. It takes only ten seconds to make and it has the wonderful chocolate flavor that children love.

Nestie's EverReady Cocoa is a remarkable combination of three ingredients... choice cocoa, sugar and pure whole milk... blended and already cooked for you. No messy hard-to-wash pans! No disagreeable "skin" on top! Naturally, a HOT drink is a better way to start the day. And, in HOT Nestle's you have a ten-second breakfast drink that costs no more per cup than ordinary cocoa!

"MOTHER, PLEASE MAIL THIS COUPON"

NESTLE'S, 66 HUDSON ST., N.Y. C.

Please send me—FREE—a 2-Cup sample of Nestle's EverReady Cocoa.

Name _ _____

City_____State_____

8-E1

IN LONDON A SLIND MAN, TAPPING HIS WAY WITH A CANE, WAS USED AS

Blackouts (continued)

MERLINERS FIND THEIR WAY BY HITTING THE PAVEMENT WITH A CANE AND

QUIDE BY PEDESTRIANS WHO FOLLOWED HIS COURSE WITH A FLASHLIGHT

IN BERLIN, TO ATTRACT THE TRADE, TARTS WEAR PHOSPHORESCENT HEARTS

WALKING WITH ONE FOOT ON THE SIDEWALK AND THE OTHER IN THE CUTTER

"I Call It Carnal...

the way that newfangled understuff fits," pipes Grandma. True. Granny. you'd never know you had a stitch on underneath, but how MUNSINGWEAR "Ponies" chase goose-pimples! Takes right smart knitters to give you that set-up. Other Mt NSINGWEAR "Ponies" for year-round wear. All at moderate prices.

MUNSINGWEAR

Fit That Lasts

MUNSINGWEAR, INC . MINNEAPOLIS . NEW YORK . CHICAGO

FORTUNE

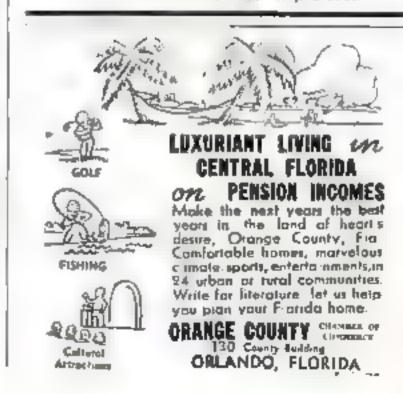

The FORTUNE Survey XV...charting U.S. Public Opinion today on Mr. Roosevelt's chances for a third term, American rearmament, America and the War, compulsory military training, and the real reasons for the War.

War and Peace Editorial what America might gain by joining other democracies in a great federal union.

And . . Germany III . . State Department . . . Martin Aircraft — Baldwin Locumotive . . . Texas . — Major George Fielding Ehot on The Polish Campaign — World War I. A Portfolio of 24 Famous Photographs . . . Electric Power . — Career Diplomat . . . A Presbyterion Church.

FORTUNE is sold by subscription only at 330 East 22nd Street, Chicago, Illinois.
The price is $10 a year.

THE definite purpose of LIFE is to inform its readers of what is going on in the world today—to bring them the news which can best be to d in pictures.

MODERN LIVING

tions describe and other and and and are

THIS TWO-PIECE BLACK SUIT MADE OF SLEEK SHINY JERSEY WITH VERY WIDE-BOT-TOMED TROUSERS IS INDICATIVE OF THE TREND TOWARDS MORE FEMININE SLACKS

VOLUMINOUS TROUSERS ALSO FEATURE THIS SLACK OUTFIT MADE OF FINE SHEER WOOL IN BOLD PLAID. WITH JACKET ON, IT DECOMES A "COVERED-UP" FASHION

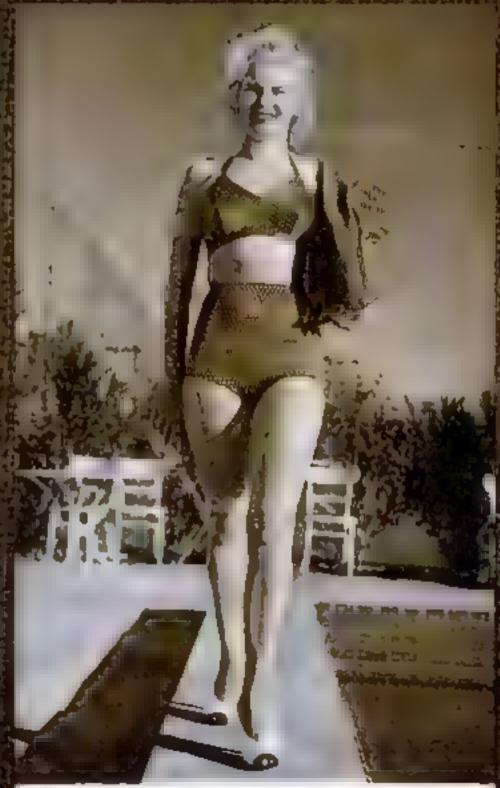

CALIFORNIA HAS A NEW NAME—"PATIO DRESS"—FOR SUCH SHORT ORESSY FROCKS WITH FULL SKINTS

THIS WHITE SLACK SUIT WAS A GAY JERSEY BLOUSE. STRIKING TRICOLOW FLAG EFFECTS ARE POPULAR

Control of the second section of the second sec

THIS IS ANOTHER "COVERED-UP" FASHION BECAUSE THE ENSEMBLE HAS, SLEEVED JACKET AND A SKIRT

The management of the second second and the second second

AT RACQUET CLUE FASHION SHOW, MODELS USED DIVING BOARD AS RUNWAY

NEW COVERED-UP FASHIONS MAY MEAN "STRIP-TEASE" ON SOUTHERN BEACHES

If the southern-resort fashions shown recently at the Racquet Club in Palm Springs, Calif. are a true indication of things to come, the guardians of public morals on U. S. beaches will have a hard time this year enforcing the "No disrobing on beach" rules. "Covered-up" is the phrase most generally used to describe the new styles. Bathing suits and playsuits are frequently three- and four-piece ensembles with skirts to cover trunks and shorts, and high-necked, sleeved jackets to cover bras. But the clothes have been so designed that when the wearers go into action everything but the bare essentials can be shed.

For active sports, now that the trim tailored short has become the accepted outfit, California presents little skirts swirling like a ballet dancer's four to ten inches above the knee. For leisurely evenings, when skirts would be no hindrance, California sponsors harem, peg-top and wide Dutch-boy trousers. Although the favored reds of last summer will blaze again this winter, all the tans and browns from string and russet to black coffee will give a new sunburned glow to the southern beaches.

Oriental influence in dinner slacks was much in evidence. These, of white silk persey, achieve narrow-waist effect with wide girdle of scarlet suede and gold lad.

THE SUN SHINES BRIGHT

ifty people who dodge winter by GREYHOUND disposition and any false notion that winter vacations are costly. Greyhound Super-Coaches will carry you to scores of "sun-tanneries" where the snow never flies.

You belong on a surf-board skimming along the Gulf Coast-or under a beach umbrella on Florida's sands—up in a western saddle riding Southwest trails—or getting a taste of movie glamour in Southern California. And you can be there—Greyhound's low fares simply shrink up the miles between your home and America's exciting winter playgrounds!

Vacation budgets stretch a long way when you spend so much less going by Greyhound and have so much more to spend when you get there. Just about one-third the cost of driving a car—that's all you pay to enjoy the warmth and luxury, the sightseeing opportunities of a trip South by Super-Coach.

MORE comfort on

PRINCIPAL GREYHOUND INFORMATION OFFICES

New York City , 245 W 50th Street Claveland, Ohio . . E. 9th & Superior Philadelphia, Pa. Broad St Stat on Detroit Mich

. . Washington Blvd. at Grand River

San Francisco, Cal., Pine & Buttery Stu-Minneapolis, Minn., 509 Stath Ave. N. Baston, Moss. 60 Park Square 5) Louis, Mo , Broadway & Delmar Bird. Fl. Worth, Tex 905 Commerce St. Charleston, W Vo. 155 Summers St. Cincinnati, Ohio 630 Walnut St. Richmond, Va . . 412 E. Broad St.

Memphis, Tenn. . 527 N. Main St. New Orleans, Lo., 400 N. Rampari St. BOS N Limestone Lexington, Ky-Windsor, Ont. , 403 Quellette Ave. Johannesburg, South Africa Forey, Loon & Hoyhoe, Utd.

MAIL THIS COUPON FOR COLORFUL TRAVEL BOOKLET

Send coupon to nearest information office listed above for colorful backlettul of pictures and information about FLORICA and GULF COAST COLORFUL SOUTH. WEST CALIFORNIA Please check the one desired If you want roles, routes and information on any other trip, jot down place you differ to visit on margin better

Ballerina playsuit has bloomers underneath. The circular skirt starts flaring, in

DIENCE, THESE YOUNG HOPEFULS WONDER IF THEIR BIG MOMENT HAS COME

High-necked coal covers wearer of this playauit from neck to thighs. When jackets are removed, many new suits reveal two-piece outfits with naked midniffs.

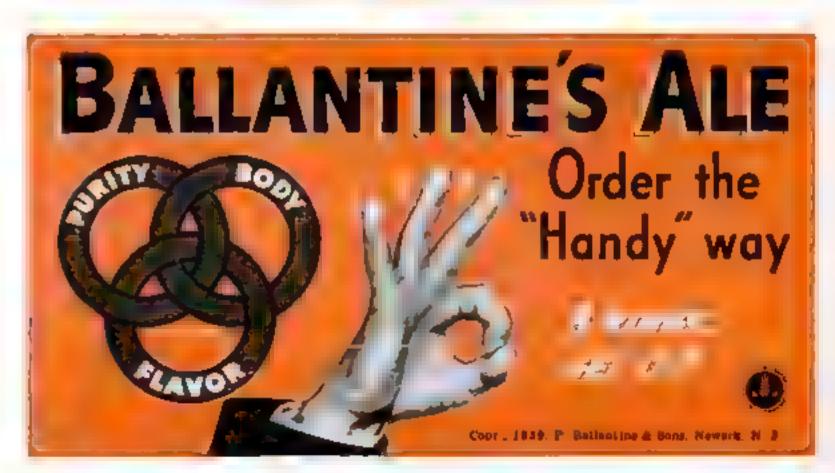

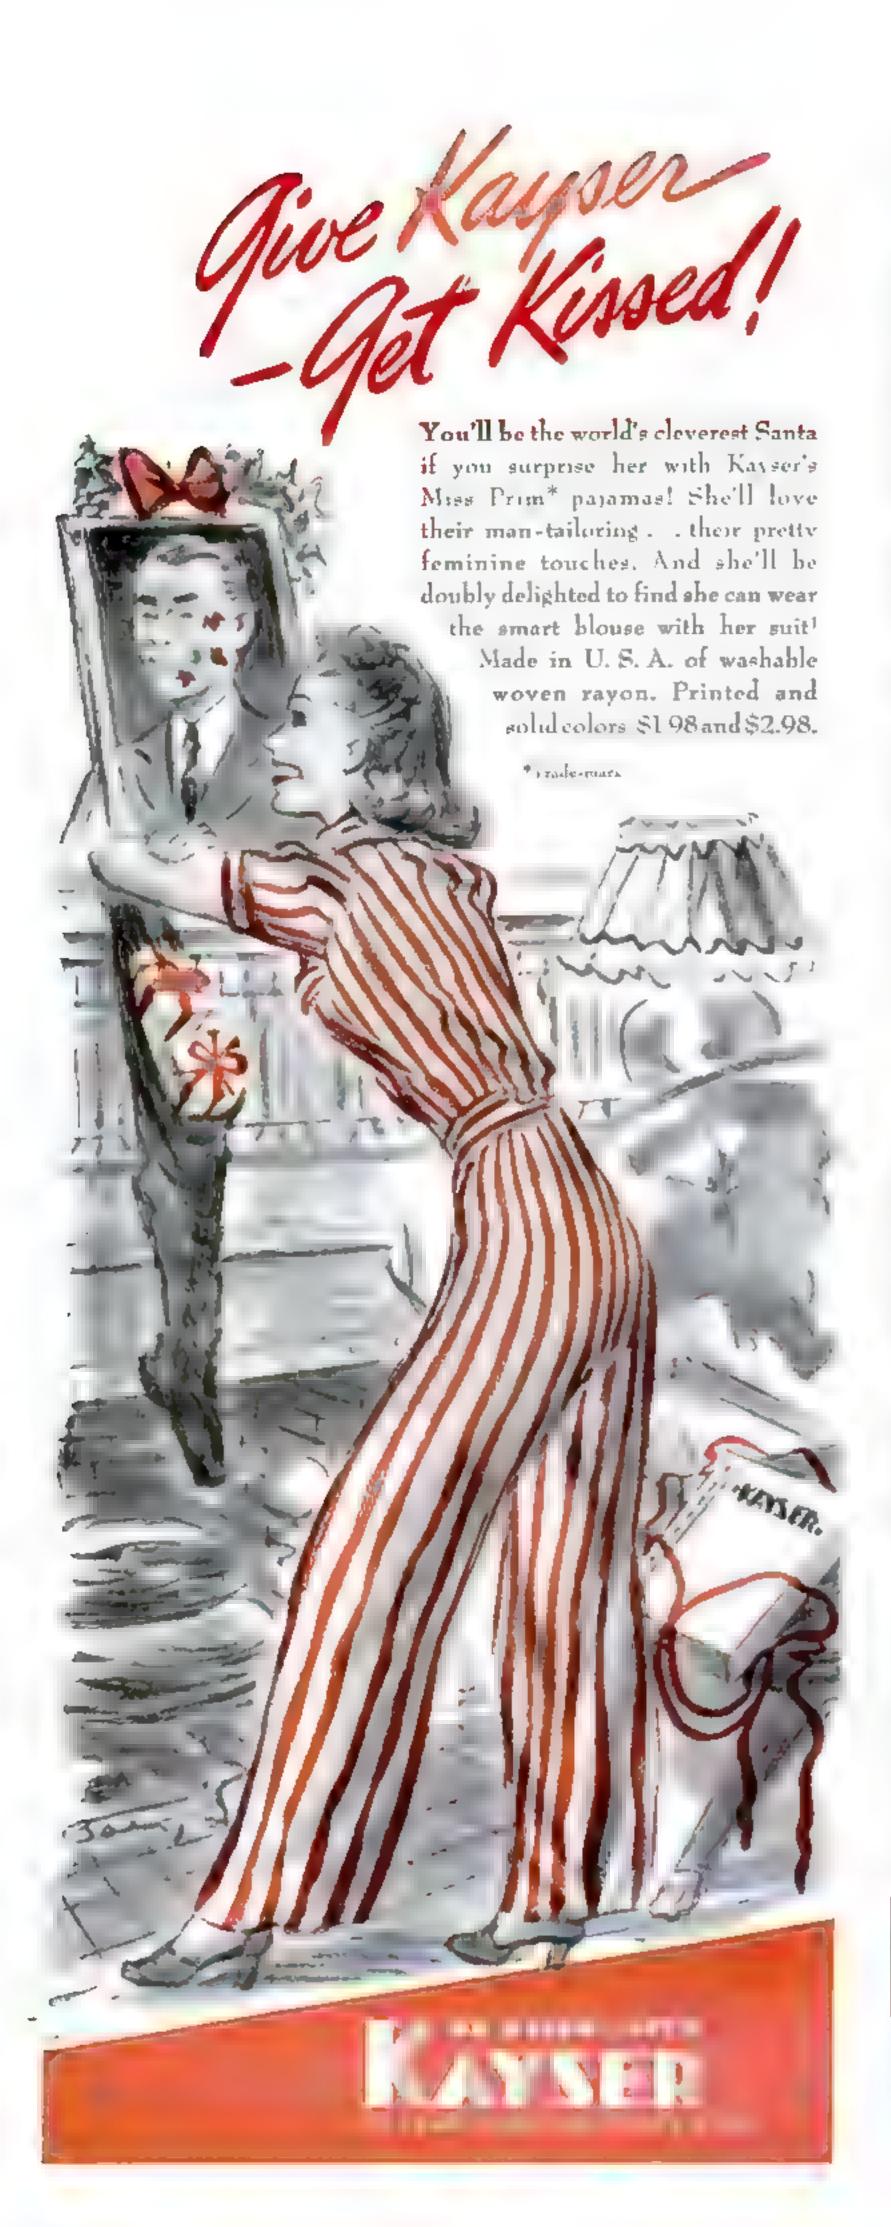

YOUR OPINION of ale as a drink may be based on heavy ales. Yet since 1840 America has had its own ale, brewed to its own taste—Ballantine's.

Judge it as Peter Ballantine did in 1840—he took one drink to test its PURITY... a second for BODY... a third for FLAVOR. The 3 moisture rings left by his glass on the table became his famous trademark.

His taste in ale proved to be America's own-more people get more enjoyment from Ballantine's Ale than from any other...

AMERICA'S LARGEST SELLING ALE

Covered-up fashions (continued)

Four places completely equip this pretty must for playing on sand and swimming.

One piece comes off—the brief candystriped jacket—and then there are three.

Apolher piece comes off -- the wrap-around ballet skirt-- and then there are two: a figure-molding, abbreviated bra and trunks which permit freedom of action in water.

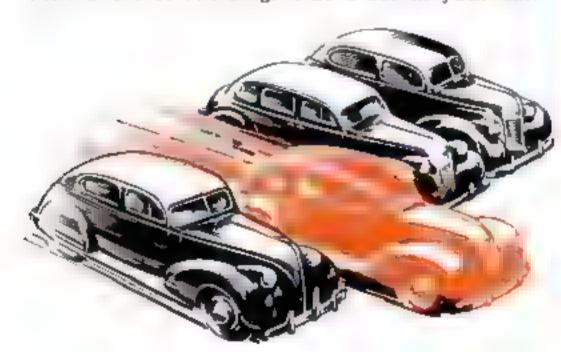

Another Million Motorists. CHANGE TO NEW KIND OF SPARK PLUG

*Created by World-Famous Ignition Engineers

EVERYWHERE, in ever-increasing numbers, motorists are equipping their cars with sensational new Auto-Lite Spark Plugs. No other spark plug ever won so many new users in so short a time!

What is the reason for this spectacular success? Behind it is the dramatic story of an engineering triumph. For more than 28 years, Auto-Lite engineers have played a vital part in the progress of the automobile industry. Leaders in the field of automotive electrical equipment, they have pioneered one great advance after another.

And now Auto-Lite's famous staff of ignition engineers has completed the final link in the ignition system with the development of a new kind of spark plug—a spark plug that improves motor car performance in a way that is often little short of amazing. Put a set in your car.

IN EVERY 4TH CAR BUILT!

Auto-Lite Spark Plugs are now standard equipment in more than one out of every four new cars. They have been adopted by leading manufacturers after the most rigorous tests.

Read How the Amazing Mystery Spark is Giving New Life to Sluggish, Spark-Weary Motors!

QUICK STARTING! Flashing pickup! Surging power! Gasoline economy!

These are the impressive results reported by motorists when they replace old, power wasting spark plugs with revolutionary new Auto-Lites. For this new kind of spark plug steps up the efficiency of the entire ignition system with its remarkable Mystery Spark. Designed with electrodes of the new Konium alloy, a new Ziramic insulator, and employing a new principle of gap geometry, it fires with less electrical effort, delivers a smooth, respinsive flow of power stops gas waste.

See the difference Auto-Lite Spack Plugs may make in the performance of your car. With all their advanced, exclusive features, they cost no more than ordinary plugs. Ask your service man for them today.

THE ELECTRIC AUTO-LITE COMPANY
TOLEDO . Marchandising Division . OHIO

ELECTRIC AUTO-LITE LIMITED

CHANGE NOW TO MINING FOR QUICK STARTING

VIONENTS/ we'll never 10150et.

SIX GREAT EXPLORERS recall exciting episodes around the WORLI

TRAPPED on an ARCTIC "eggshell" BY Villialmer Stefansson

Heading across icebound Dolphin Strait in the Arctic twilight, I saw a large black patch in the distance. Here was a mystery! Focusing my binoculars, I caught the reflection of a star-the black patch was open water! Immediately I lay flat and stabbed the ice with my hunting knife. It went through with practically no resistance; the ice was not ever an inch thick. I called to my Eskimo follower; our sled was already settling in a pool of water. We were trapped on an "eggsheil" of ice. Crawling in a circle, we inched our way, hour after hour, back to safety over this fragile film. Had the "eggshell" broken, we'd have been swept in under the ice, for the current in the strait flows like a mill race.

Facing COLD DEATH in the Tropics BY Habet Wilking

The bitterly cold polar regions hold no freezing terrors equal to the chill I received one night in tropic Northern Australia. Reading by camplight under an upturned boat, all at once I felt two spear points against my chest, saw two pairs of naked feet. Savage mutterings literally "froze me stiff" with fear. The natives, mistaking this seeming calmness for an iron nerve, retreated in awe. Later, I came to know these wild people. But never did I quite lose my original fears—particularly after secing how fiercely they attacked other trespassers. My "freezing" terror had saved my life!

Vilhjalmur Stefansson

Among the greatest polar explorers of all time; his latest book is "Unsolved Mysteries of the Arctic."

Sir Hubert Wilkins

First to explore Antarctica from an airplane; has led many expeditions into littleknown regions.

Harrison Forman

Linguist, author, foremost authority on Tibet; designed film acts and costumes for "Lost Horizon."

J. Allan Dunn

Leader of many expeditions in the South Seas and the Orient; his books on adventure are widely known.

Capt. Felix Riesenberg

Master mariner in sail and steam; author of books on seamanahip and many navels; proneer balloonist.

Arnald Hawerle Explorer, foreig correspondent artist, has sectore at the Explorer

Club and through out America.

*Both Harrison Forman and Capt., Rememberg, it is interesting to note, were born in Milwauker (home of Schilte)

The Husband-hunter of TIBET BY Harrison Forman

"I like you. I'll take all four of you as husbands!" The speaker was Drolma, a daughter of Tibet; the objects of her affection, me and my three camping companions. It looked desperate for us. In Lama land, this statement was a marriage ceremony, even though she aiready had three spouses who were probably on the warpath for us.

bands held an informal convention.

Knowing the language and customs, however, we induced a nearby religious order to enroll her, thereby cutting the quadruple knot. Just then, rifle shots! Husbands One, Two and Three arrived, demanding vengeance. This time it took even quicker thinking, but goblets of beer brought a happy ending as Drolma's seven ex-hus-

White Man's MAGIC in CANNIBAL LAND Hallen Dann

Deep in British New Guinea, where no white man had ventured afoot before, I faced death by hostile tribes. But white man's magic saved the day. I traced the tribal totem -a tortoise - on my arm with a stick of soap. Then I set fire to jungle bark fibers with my burning-glass, rubbed the ashe over my arm, and lo, there was the turtle' outline, proving my kinship with the tribe Soon I was pressing on, my most thrilling ad venture now safely behind.

The thrill of my life? It came while commanding the U.S.S. Newport, a sailing vessel Homeward bound from Teneriffe (off the African Coast), we hit a hurricane near Bermuda. Even with seasoned men I'd have worried; but my crew were boys learning to sail! Lives hung on my judgment. I weighed the odds, decided to "run for it" under close-reefed foresail. Through the storm's fury, my lads performed like veterans. The strip of sail held like a sheet of steel. In 48 hours we were safely 600 miles ahead. Our hurricane speed sent us into New London with a school-ship record of 26 days for the southern sailing passagea feat that had been furthest from my mind as we fought for existence in the Atlantic!

SAVED by a CAMERA "shot" BY Cornold H. Haverlee

How friendly that lone cabin in remote Lapland looked after my weeks of solitude! So inviting, in fact, that I couldn't resist photographing it. Crash! A bushy bearded half-breed came leaping toward me, swinging a huge axe. I grabbed the handiest thing to throw in his face—it was my camera. The instant he saw it he screamed and ran into the cabin, bolting the door.

I realized then that he shared the belief of some primitive people, that one who gets a likeness of them has them in his power. My instinctive act was the only possible way I could have chosen to keep from being killed!

The air that sustains LIFE...

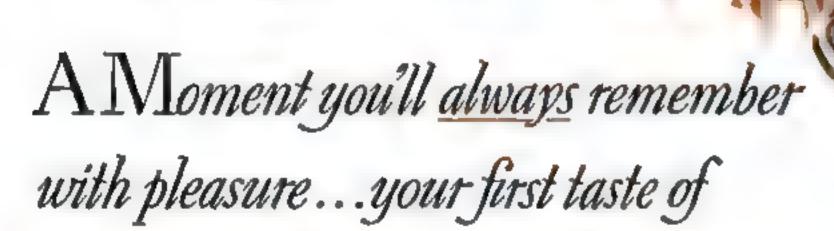

can ruin the BREW!

Beer is at its best a moment before it goes into the bottle. If air is trapped inside the bottle with the beer, the life and flavor of the brew may be destroyed.

Now an amazing new method, perfected by Schlitz, takes the air out of every buttle of Schlitz an instant before the beer flows in.

That's why the original brewery-fresh goodness of that famous flavor is assured in every bottle and can of the Beer that made Milwaukee famous.

Copragny is solded at the test sing Meanute, there

THAT FAMOUS FLAVOR of

Exclusionenceth Schletz, the only beer can haped to open like a botch, acreh any bottle opener. A gathering of kindred spirits...plenty of he-man talk...and plenty of Schlitz. There's a combination for a perfect evening. That famous flavor is grand company around the world... the year around. Once tasted, its goodness is never forgotten. For Schlitz combines the keen tang of the hops with the bland mellowness of the malt, yet it is neither bitter nor sweet.

THE BEER THAT MADE MILWAUKEE FAMOUS

DLD AND NEW STARS MAKE "DU BARRY WAS A LADY" COLE PORTER'S LUSTIEST HIT

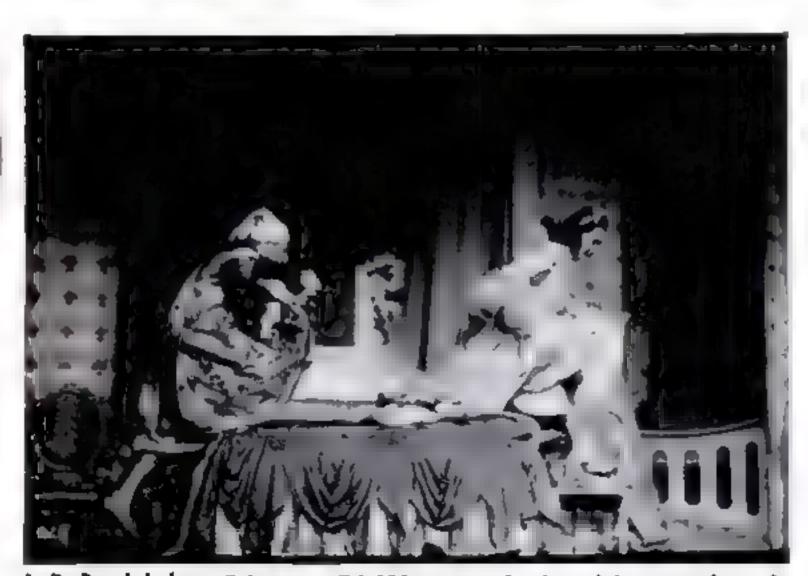

t some future time historians will consider the musical shows of Cole A Porter as important social documents. Sober professors will wonder why on earth a famous Porter love song called You're the Top had these lines of endearment: "You're an Arrow collar . . . you're a Coolidge dollar . . . you're Camembert." And in a later musical comedy called Du Barry Was a Lady, which opened in December 1939, students will find topical songs mentioning du Pont, Hearst and Deanna Durbin, and wonder why people sang about them then.

For audiences of today Du Barry Was a Lady, Porter's newest show, offers no such problems. It offers instead a new star from Hollywood named Betty Grable, Jackie Coogan's ex, who can dance and sing like a May breeze (see front cover). It offers a score that lacks Porter's usual sultry torch songs, but is full of gusty tunes. Its story hops from the free and easy air of a New York night club to the free and easy air of the French court at Versailles during the reign of Louis XV. And it offers two musical-comedy veterans, Ethel Merman and Bert Lahr, in top form.

Lahr plays the part of a washroom attendant who wins the Irish sweepstakes but can't win the gurl he loves. He dreams that he is Louis XV and his girl is Madame Du Barry. But although Du Barry is his mistress, she remains unattainable. Starred in her third Porter show, Ethel Merman as Du Barry sings his high-brow lyries with low-brow heartmess, reasserts her right to be called America's No. 1 musical-comedy actress, and sets a fine example to newcomer Betty Grable who may follow in her footsteps.

Soft Lahf dreams he is King Louis XV disporting himself at Versailles in a garden full of French dancing girls. Here he enjoys his kingly prerogative of tickling a pretty subject's ankle.

In Da Barry's bedroom, Lahr pursues Ethel Merman round and round the room and over the bed. To end the chase, she finally promises to meet him for the first time later that night.

In his nightcap and nightshirt Bert Lahr enjoys a bit of souff. Ethel Merman (right) in his dream is the same girl he loved in real life, but she still gives him the cold shoulder.

On the night of his heavy date, Bert Lahr gets shot in the back by an arrow which somewhat cramps his style as a lover. Here the court physician examines his sad predicament

Among its many qualities, the smoothness of Black & White deserves special mention. For its smoothness reveals its noble character—its definite individuality. You taste it in the mellow-rich flavor. You sense it in the subtle bouquet. Because these fine qualities are appreciated throughout the world, Black & White has sailed along, smoothly and steadily, towards undisputed leadership.

"BLACK & WHITE"

BLENDED SCOTCH WHISKY . 86.8 PROOF

The Scotch with Character

COPYRIGHT 1939, THE FLEISCHMANN DISTRUING CORPORATION, NEW YORK, N. Y., SOLE DISTRIBUTORS

"Katle weat to Hall!," sings Ethel Merman in a torrid ditty about big-hearted Katle who got off from a boat and loved Hall; while practically all Hall loved Katle.

SHOW GIRL WEARS AIRY HOOPSKIR

RUMBA GIRL WEARS A FEW GRAPES

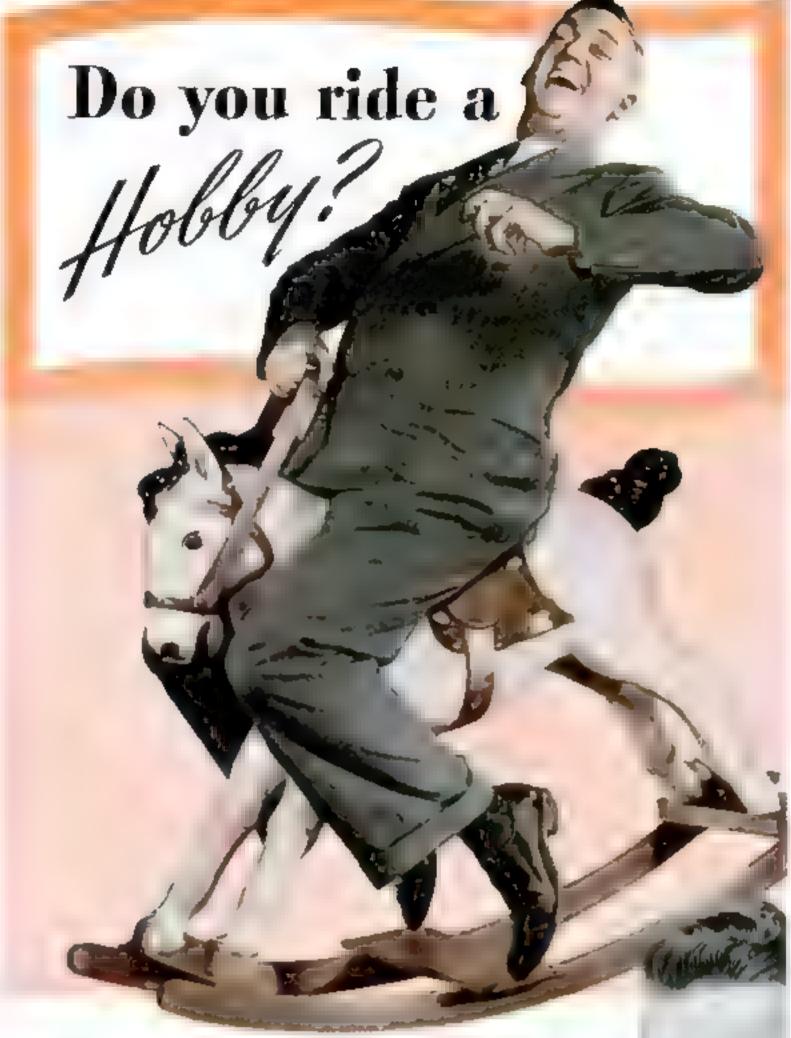

Belly Grable, 22, takes her first bow as a musical-comedy actress in Du Barry Was a Lady. She sings a little, dances some, and is the best-looking thing in the show, ave you a hobby? Is it your children? Or gardening or farming? Dogs, horses? Hunting and fishing? Sports as spectator or participant?

THIS STRIP-TEASE IS JAPANESE

Personal movies bring greater pleasure and satisfaction to every hobby. So begin now to make fine Filmo movies, in color or black-and-white . . . for added hobby thrills today ... for reference and comparison through countless pleasant tomorrows.

To be sure of fine films, right from the start, select an easy-to-use Filmo ... built by the makers of Hollywood's professional equipment. Filmo movies, of flawless quality, actually cost no more than snapshots, scene for scene!

Every Filmo is designed as a basic camera to which accessory equipment can be added to keep pace with your new interests. Slow-motion studies and animated cartoons can be made with pushbutton ease, without attachments. Lens is instantly interchangeable with specialpurpose lenses.

New illustrated booklets tell the whole interesting story. Send coupon. Bell & Howell Company, Chicago; New York; Hollywood; London. Established 1907.

Filmo 141 NEW "SHELLOADING"

An unusually versatile 16 mgs, camera which permits mid-reel changes from color to black-and-white film. With color-corrected F 2.7 lens, only $115.

Other 16 mm. Filmos to $1155

Use Convenient Coupon

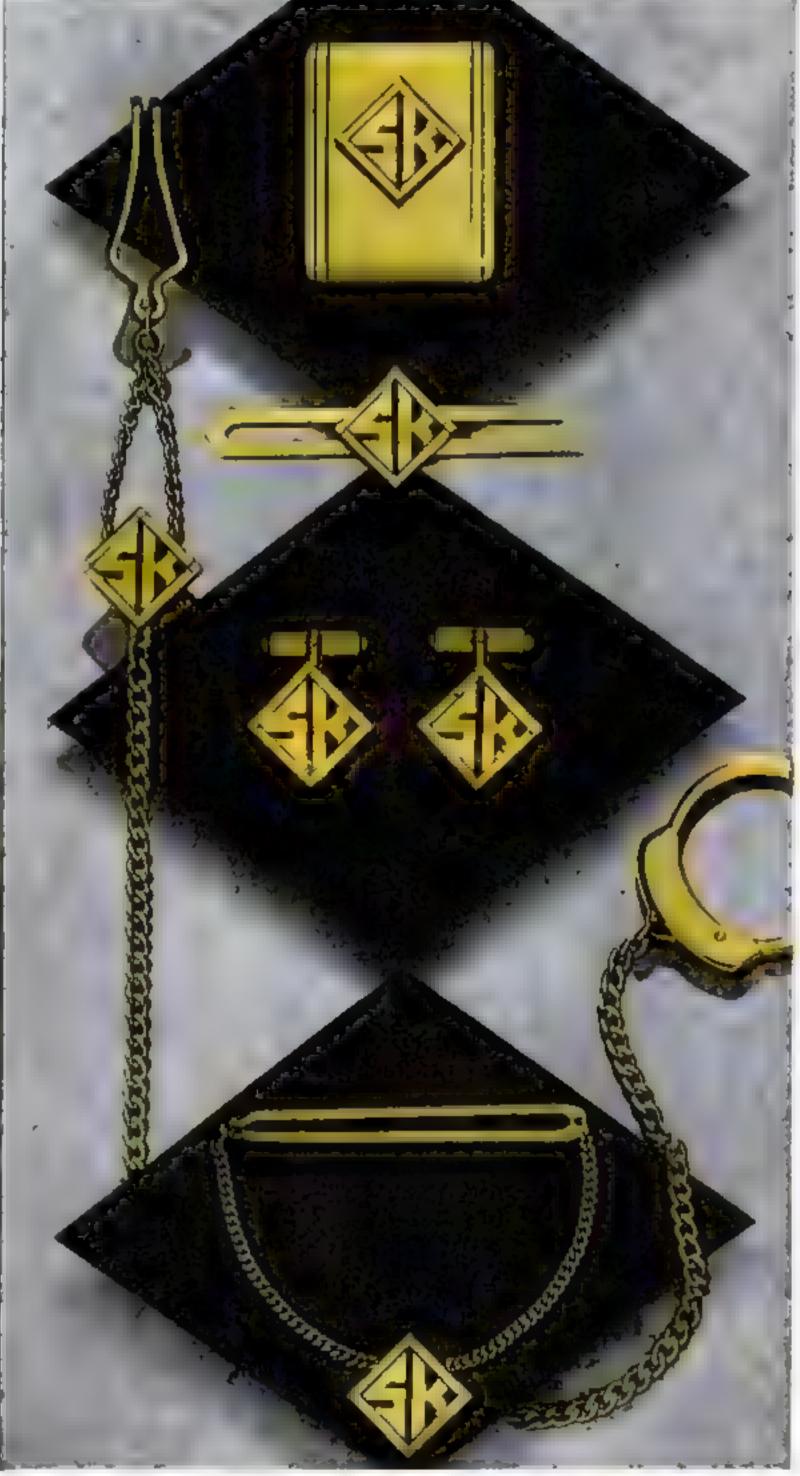

Filmo 8 Makes movies at snap-shot cost! Makes color movies, 100, indoors and out, even in slow motion. Has special speeds for scenes from autos and trains, makes animated titles, and uses relephoto leases.

Other 8 mm. Frimes to $140

BELL & HOWELL COMPANY 1841 Larchmont Ave., Chicago, Ill. Sead booklet describing () new 16 mm. F.lmo 141; () Filmo 8 mm. equipment.

City State,

Now...Swank provides custom-made elegance in Duo-gram...men's jewelry with his initials in a proud, crest-like design. At jewelers', dept. stores, men's shops. Attractively packaged for gifts. Gold plated $1.50...1/20-12 kt. gold filled $3.50 up.

SWANK PRODUCTS, INC., ATTLEBORO, MASS

by SWANA

Yale's Dramatic Ciab, with 28 members all faultlessly combed, posed for this picture in 1918. Cole Porter, who was a senior, stands at far left of back row. He wrote words and music for a burlesque operetta called And the Villain Still Pursued Her, played the part of an abbess in a comedy about Robin Hood, and in The Recruiting Officer by George Farquhar, acted an obscure female called Mintress Melands. He also wrote many songs for beer parties and for his fraternity, DKE.

Cole Porter of Peru, Ind., and Yale (1913) writes Broadway's top sophisticated songs

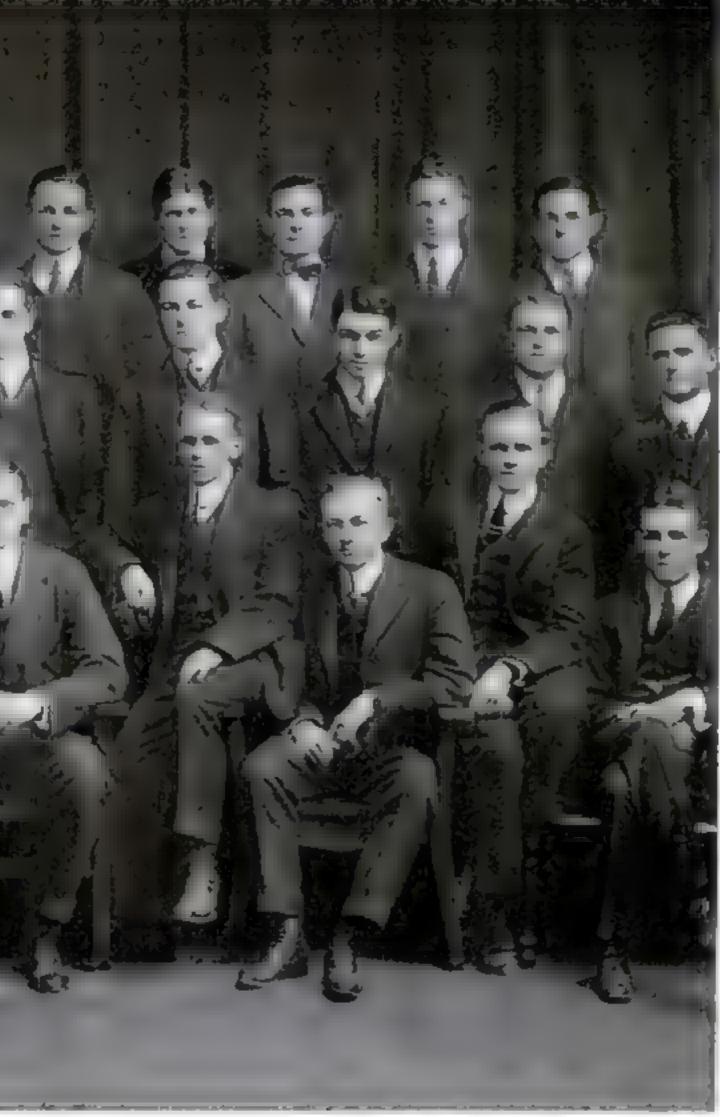

If America's top writer of sophisticated songs owes his success to any one thing, it is to being born on a farm near Peru, Ind. Only a country boy could take Cole Porter's open delight in the gaiety of New York and Paris.

Porter's family owned a 700-acre farm. Their son Cole played the violin at 6, composed the Hobolink Waltz at 11, went East to prep school, entered Yale in 1909. There as an undergraduate he wrote Bulldog and Bingo, two rousing songs that still make Yale boys want to jump up and down.

In 1916, Porter wrote his first Broadway show, See America First. It flopped and he went to war to forget it. In Paris afterwards he studied music and married wealthy Linda Thomas. Together they inherited a fortune.

In 1919, Porter's second Broadway show, Hitchy-Koo, was a hit, and its song In an Old-Fashioned Garden made Porter famous. Subsequently he has turned out a dozen hits climaxed by Anything Goes (1934) and Leave It to Me (1938). A fashionable figure on Long Island and the Lido, and a member of cafe society in good standing, Porter lives today in a suite at the Waldorf.

Porter's ASCAP rating is AA, which means in a good year his income from music royalties exceeds $100,000. He writes both words and music, usually thinks of a title first and fits the tune around it. Songwriters try to ape the tricky rhymes and rhythm of his Night and Day, My Heart Belongs to Daddy, but they lack the vital ingredient of a Cole Porter hit: the gusto of an Indiana boy who at Yale could write "Biago, bingo, that's the lingo."

Third from left in the top row is Arnold Whitridge, grandson of Matthew Arnold, who is now Master of Calhoun College at Yale. Seated at far left of bottom row is H. A. Colgate of the toothpaste family, who is now a Wall Street broker. Third from right in middle row is Stoddard King, now dead, who while at Yale wrote the words for There's A Long, Long Trail, which became a popular War song. In bottom row, second from right, is Rufus King, now a well-known writer of detective stories.

Cols Porter rehearses new song with Ethel Merman for whom he has written such hits as You're the Top, It's De-lovely. They are in Ritz Hotel during Boston try-out.

Merry Christmas now and for many years of carefree HARTMANN travel.

For Her ...

THE HARTMANN SKYROBE, & Lifetime tribute to the lady who travels. It cares for from 4 to 6 dresses on hangers in the lid, leaving an entire section free for other things. From $15,00 to $155.00,

For Him-Or For Her ...

THE HARTMANN TOUROBE, actually a trunk in miniature, keeps 3 to 5 mins or 6 to 10 dresses immacuiate. Lots of room for other apparel, too. In a wide range of coverings, From $16.50 to $85.

A HARTMANN TRUNK finished in handsome Hartmann Rawhide is the gift of gifts. The choice of sessoned travelers. Holds everything you need for any trip. Also finished in a wide selection of cover-ings. From $25.00 to $320.00,

For Him ...

THE HARTMANN BONDSTREETER, In a wide variety of coverings, is the aristocrat of traveling componions, Holds 2 suits in the suit tray, leaving an entire section free for shoes, shirts, and accessories. From $22.50 to $260.00.

Weste for this free bookies still training the proper and sompless way to pack both men's and somew's apparel for season.

TRUNK COMPANY, RACINE, WISCONSIN

PORTABLE TYPEWRITER

CORONA SILENT - Absolute "tops" in portables the finest Corona of them all. Has every worthwhile typing aid and many exclusive features. Famous Floating Shift. Choice of three colors. black or maroon glossy, and gray nonglare ripple finish.

CASH PRICE $6450

CORONA STERLING -- Almost as complete ... and almost as quiet ... Shift, Speed Booster, etc. - and choice of same colors as on Silent. CASH PRICE $5950

CORONA STANDARD - The popular priced model. Has Floating Shift and all regular portable typing aids . . . Easy and fast to operate. Complete with smart case. Comes in black nonglare ripple finish. A great value at this low price. CASH PRICE $4950

DELUXE CORONA ZEPHYR Latest addition to the Corona line. Has folding paper supporting arms, automatic ribbon reverse, dual margin release, single and double line son recess, single and double line space, and other useful features. Strikingly beautiful in silver green. CASH PRICE $3975

REGULAR CORONA ZEPHYR The spectacular low priced portable. Weighs only 9 lbs. So compact it bts in a desk drawer. Has Swinging Shift. 84 character Standard Keyboard. Back Spacer Standard Keyboard other aids. Line Spacer and other aids.

CASH PRICE $2975 iplus small down payment).

Made and guaranteed by the makers of the NEW 1940 Super-Speed LCSMITH TYPEWRITERS

$1 a week (plus small down payment) is all you Pay to own any Speedline Corona. Corona Zephyr Regular costs as little as 70c a week, (plus small down payment). All Prices Subject to Revision. SFE CORONAS FIRST...FREE DEMONSTRA-TION AT ALL CORONA DEALERS...WRITE FOR ILLUSTRATED LITERATURE.

L C SMITH & CORONA TYPEWRITERS INC Desk 12, 171 Almond Street, Syracuse, N. Y.

I want a Corona for Christmas! Send me-without obligation-tolder on ☐ CORONA SILENT ☐ STANDARD ☐ STERLING □ DELUXE ZEPHYR □ REGULAR ZEPHYR

Name. Address

STATE AGE IF UNDER 21.

HOLLYWOOD HOLDS A BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR THESE YEAR-OLD FINGERNAILS

uliette Marglen runs one of the strangest businesses in America. I She calls it "The Fingernail Hospital." For two years she functioned profitably on Sunset Boulevard in Hollywood, numbering among her clients such celebrities as Norma Shearer, Barbara Stanwyck and Deanna Durbin. Recently she moved into the House of Westmore, one of the most elegant beauty salous in the world, run by Perc Westmore, famous movie make-up artist, and his four brothers.

On Nov. 16 the House of Westmore gave a strange party. They called it a "fingernail birthday party," and to it came such film and radio luminaries as Paulette Goddard, Rosemary Lane, Lana Turner, Gloria Dickson, Nancy Kelly, Rudy Vallee. The occasion was the end of a year during which Juliette had not once cut her nails. Shortest was 2 inches long, the longest 31/2. The stars, most of whose nails are treated by Juliette at special treatment rooms on studio lots, marveled at the year-old growths, watched interestedly while they were cut to normal length. Juliette had convinced them that her process of calciumizing and massage could make even fragile mails like hers grow sturdy and long.

One-year-old lingernalls of Juliette Marglen looked like this at the fingernail hirthday party given for her in Hollywood. They were lacquered on top and underneath.

Rudy Vallee is astonished as, sunglasses in hand, he examines 2- and 3-in, nade exhibited by Juliette to fingernail-party guests. Standing beside him; Perc Westmore,

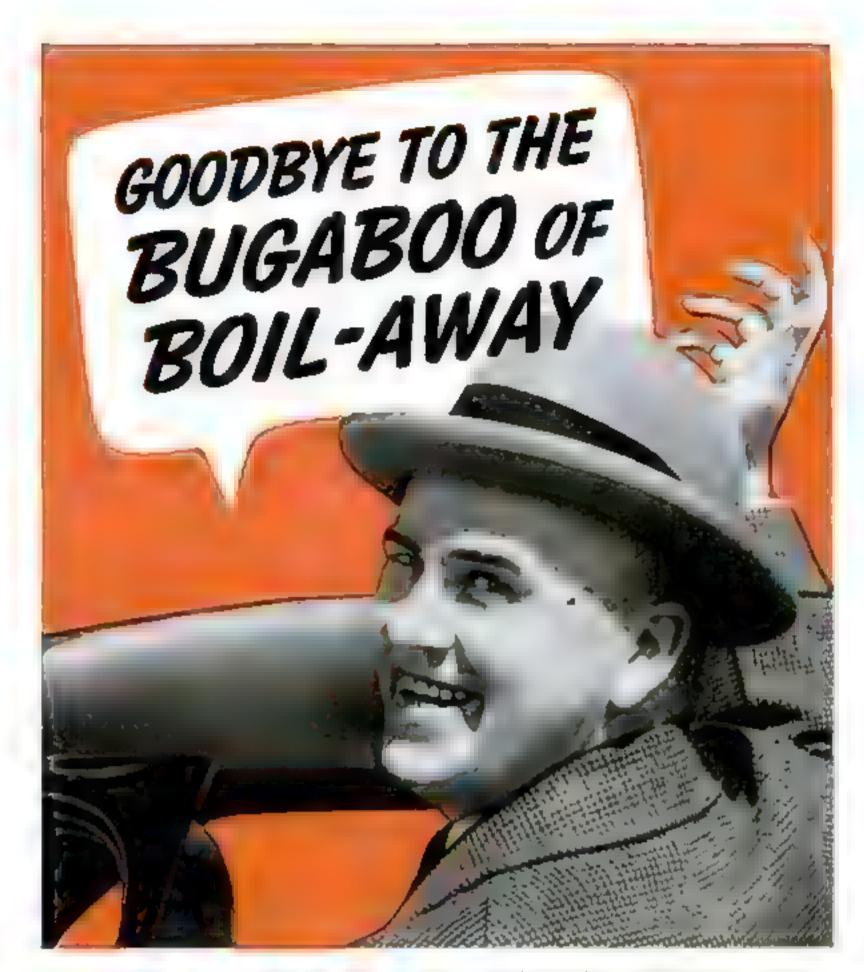

With a jeweler's saw, Ern and Perc Westmore start cutting off Juliette's nails. Attentive group around them includes Lunda Darnell, Lunda Hayes and Rudy Vallee.

One hand is clipped, the other ready for the saw. The removed nails are saved. Juliette declared that the process was no more painful than ordinary cutting of nails.

CONTINUED ON NEXT PAGE

SUPER PYRO BLASTS THEORY that a low cost anti-freeze will boil away

Don't make the mistake of needlessly spending extra money for anti-freeze protection this year. Recent tests and surveys prove that you can get complete, reliable, all-winter protection at Super Pyro's low, money-saving price.

The experience of some 19,000,000 motorists who have protected their cars with Super Pyro has long shown that this is true. But, to the case of some inexperienced car owners, the bugaboo that popular priced anti-freezes still boil away has persisted. So this year the makers of Super Pyro made a series of tests, and a great nation-wide survey, to prove that this low-priced anti-freeze will not boil away under normal driving conditions in the modern car.

NO BOIL EVEN AT 1850

It was demonstrated that thermostatic control in modern engines keeps the temperature between 155° and 160 ... and that a Super Pyro solution, sufficient to protect to 10° below zero, does not boil even at 185°.

Furthermore, by preventing rust and corrosion, the Super Pyro solution in itself is protection against overheating.

So we say "Goodbye to the bugaboo of Boil-Away". . . modern motors do not get bot enough under normal engine operation to start Super Pyro boiling!

PROTECT YOUR CAR NOW

Visit one of the 100,000 Super Pyro dealers today. In two minutes he will send you on your way protected to the lowest temperature expected all winter ... probably at a fraction of the cost you paid in other years for non-boil-away protection.

U. S. INDUSTRIAL CHEMICALS, INC., N Y.

| Super Pyro | Expensive Brands | For Zero Protection | | Super Pyro | Expensive Brands | For Zero Protection | | Super Pyro | Expensive Brands | | Super Pyro | Expensive Brands | | Super Pyro | Expensive Brands | | Super Pyro | | Super Pyro | | Super Pyro | | Expensive Brands | | Super Pyro | Super Pyro | Super Pyro | Super Pyro | Super Pyro | | Su

See what you save! By using Super Pyro instead of an

Don't let winter catch you unprepared

Last call! If your car won't start. If you wear out your battery in a hopeless tussle with congealed summer oil. If you burn out bearings because cold-stiffened oil couldn't get to them. If you are troubled all winter with sludge, carbon and corrosion due to impurities in the oil...don't say we didn't warn you to

Retail price

Change now to Acid-Free Quaker State
Winter Oil

MAKES CARS RUN BETTER...LAST LONGER

Quaker State Oil Refining Corporation, Oil City, Pa. 4

Fingernail birthday party (continued)

A hole is drilled in each sawed-off nail by Porter Blanchard, Hollywood jeweler who made a silver necklace for Juliette after a design drawn by Ern Westmore.

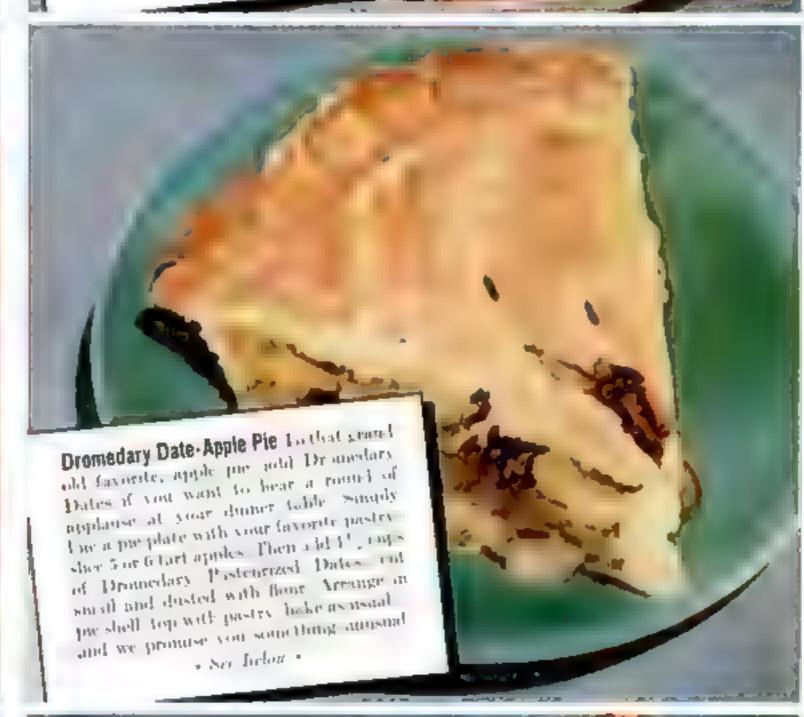

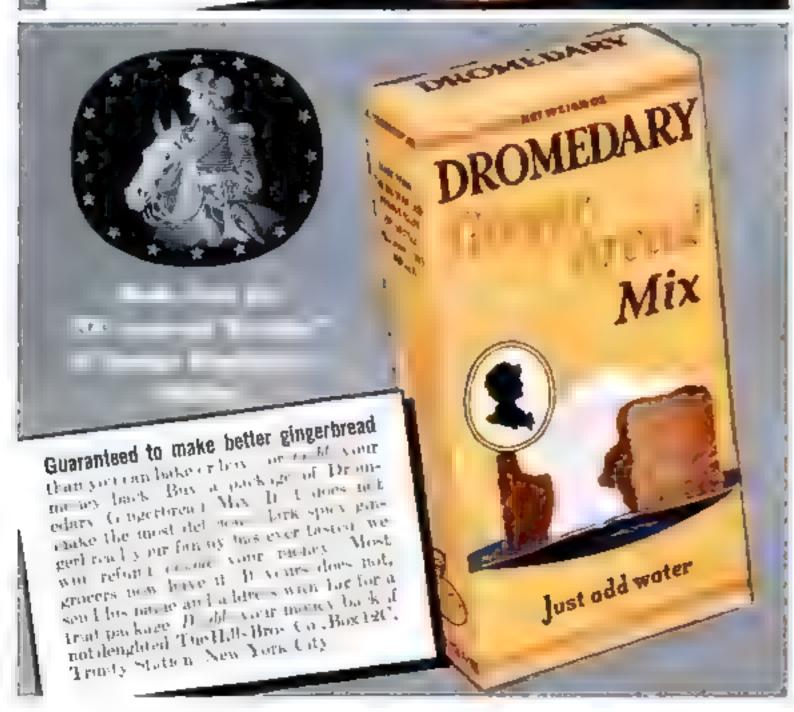

The nethlace bearing her ten fingernails as pendants is worn by Juliette Marglen. Unless carefully treated, nails will ordinarily break off before growing one such long.

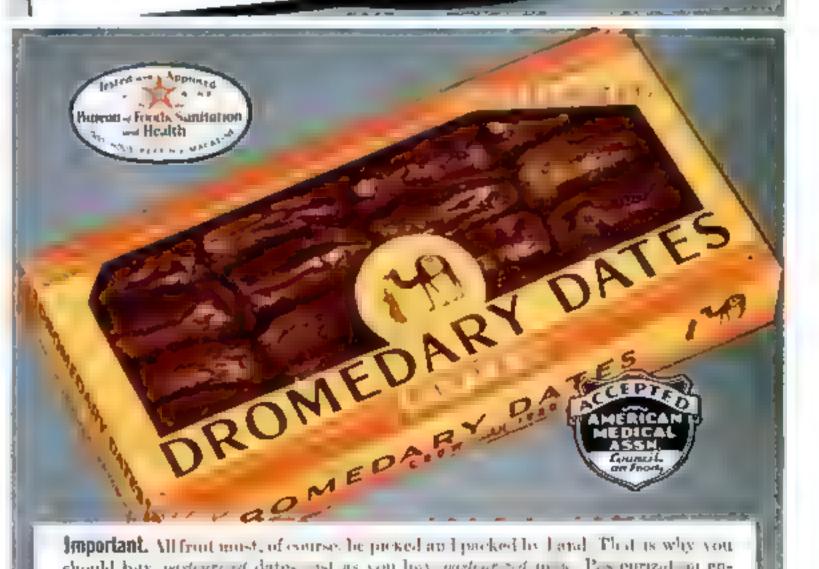

important. All fruit must, of course, be picked and packed by Land. That is why you should buy pastenered dates, ast as you hav pastenered in a Personant in ensures purity. It also hissolves the natural sugars as dates receasing there is if it rich flavor. That is why Dromedary Dates laste so much more decrease. Not only are they the finest golden dates of Araby, they are the only pastenessed dates. Only Dromedary takes this extra precaut on Trank of this when you hay dates.

In the Central Control Room of the Fighter Command, a secret organization for British air protection, dead silence reigns as operators with carphones listen through the night for signals of enemy bombers. Before them, on a great table, is a map of England's east and southeast coast. As soon as a raider is reported, it is charted on the map.

Si

Nazi fliers hell Hitler before setting out over cloudy seas to bomb Britain. The commentator, in March of T me style, points out their military fierceness in contrast to British informality.

ENGLAND ANSWERS GREAT GERMAN WAR PHOTOS WITH FIRST PROPAGANDA FILM

They are Britain's answer to the oft-made charge that, thus far, Germany has been victor on the photography sector of the current war. If, unlike the great German pictures of the air raid on the Firth of Forth (LIFE, Nov. 27), these are partly fictitious, they are, as war propaganda, no less effective. For in The Lion Has Wings, its first full-length war movie, Britain again assumes that mastery of special pleading which helped it win the last War.

In contrast to Germany's official photographs, The Lion Has Wings was made by private enterprise. Quiet and unemotional, with its stars (Merle Oberon and Ralph Richardson) subordinated to its newsreel core, it was filmed in twelve days and nights, amid great secrecy, at the Denham studios of Alexander Korda. Though censors cut out vast footage for fear of revealing defense secrets, it still remains a historic document. Cheered in England and Canada, it will shortly stir Americans with its first-rate re-enactment of the Sept. 4 air raid on the Kiel Canal and its dramatic reproduction of a night's work by the Fighter Command, a secret air protection force.

FOR *2.59 TO *10.00

GIVE BENEDICTINE OF BAND B LIQUEUR

Benédictine is one of the world's great luxures. For 400 years, it has made life richer for those who enjoy good living. Bénédictine is a gift that will look perfectly at home on a tree that holds sables and platinum. It is a gift of dignity and charm, of elegance and lasting pleasure. Yet you can give the luxury of Benédictine, or B AND B Liqueur, for surprisingly little.

For your "Around $2.50" Gifts - Give either Bénédictine or B and B Liqueir in the 12-oz. size. (Prices vary, according to state taxes.)

For your "Around $5" Gifts-Give a 25-oz. bottle of Bénédictine or of B AND B Liqueur. Or a bottle of each in the 12-oz. size.

For your "Around $40" Gifts-Give a pair of 25-oz. bottles; one of Benedictine, one of B AND B Liqueur.

Check over your list. For holiday hosts, for friends, for business associates, for relatives...it would be hard to think of a more genuinely acceptable gift...or one of more impressive importance for the same price.

to a gractions, growing custom. There is only one Hépédictuse. The secret formula is at a faithfully followed in the ola Abbey at Féramp, France.

B AND B, A DRIER LIQUEUR is the famous Bénédictine combined with selected togenes brandies. It is betiled in Bénédictine a centories-old cellurs in hécomp.

8 0 1 1 1 5 0

BENEDI CILINE D.O.M.

BENEDICTINE Trademark Reg. U.S. Pat. Off. B AND B LIQUEUR Trademark Reg. applied for. Both 86° proof Justime Wite Sone & Co., Inc., New York, Sole United States Agents.

England's propaganda film (continued)

Hidden outpost on the shore of England detects approaching Naza bombers, phones news to a Fighter Station, which instantly relays it to the Central Control Room.

Light signals flash as the silent men in Control Room go into action. Assports are warned, anti-are guns are awang into the sky, pursuit planes take off for battle.

Exact location, height and number of Nazi planes is indicated on giant map. Raxl No. 1, consisting of five bombers, is headed toward Norwich at 5,000-ft. altitude.

For your Whole Family RCA VICTOR suggests new, different, thrilling Christmas gifts to that keep on air

Her dreams come true-a Radio of her own!

Many is the time when a girl longs to enjoy radio by herself. And now this dream can come true in many, many homes. For below is RCA Victor Model 45 X2 - a modern superheterodyne radio -the biggest little radio value you have ever acen. This amazing RCA Victor Little Nipper set offers you the equivalent of 7-tube performance, hecause 2 of its 5 RCA Victor tubes do double duty. Uses either AC or DC current, Model 45 X2 comes in an antique ivory plastic cubinet. Also available in many other smart styles.

Aunt Emma will enjoy its convenience-and so will you

This BCA Victrola Model 1'-9 solves a lot of gift problems. Its compact size . . . its convenience whether as phonograph or radiomakes it a perfect instrument for a nice old lady. But these very things, and its complete modernity means that it will be regarded with equal delight by a nice person of any age or either sex. Priced within the most modest budget, this RCA Victrola has such lixury tidious music lover, while it has the lively volume, the genuine new nees that delights youthfully minded mentand women of all ages.

Note a few features of this lovely instrument. De love Gentles Action Record Changer ... Super-volume from 20 watts undistorted output means natural, balanced tone at a whisper, or full symphony level. Bass and treble tone controls. Improved, Viscaloid Damped Pick-up. 42-tube radio has Fleetric Tuning for 9 stations, and Built-in Magic Loop Antenna, Beautiful 18th Century style calanet. You will be amazed when your dealer tells you how little you GLORIOUS NEW RCA VICTROLA-A thing of beauty-and a joy forever! Here is a truly adult phonograph-radio. The glorious new RCA Victrola Model U-46 an instrument built to please the most fasfeatures as Viscaloid Damped Pick-up, Self-Starting Motor, Built-in Magic $2095* Loop Antenna and 2-point High Frequency Tone Control. Price need pay to put this supremely fine RCA Victroli in your home.

A wide choice of RCA Victrolas and Radios from $4.95* to $325.00* Children shout with excitement over RCA Sound Control Studio Here is the most exciting, newest Christmas gift you have ever had a chance to give a child. Rain on the roof, a train. across your carpet -all sorts of radio sounds can be duplicated right through your own radio. With this RCA Sound Control Studio it is possible to duplicate practically everything that is produced by NBC sound effects experts.

For finer radio performance, Rt.A Victor Radio Tubes. You can buy Rt 4 Victorias and Rt A Victor Radios on C.I.T. rasy payment plan. *All prices for h. Camden, N.J., subject to change

"RCA Vectoda" Reg. U S. Pate Off by RCA Mfg. Co., Inc. For best results, use Victor Needles

A phonograph especially made for real little folks

Your RCA Victor dealer invites you to see these, and other fine instruments from the RCA Victor musical wonderland.

CERTIFIED CASE STUDIES continue to prove that Knox Gelatine promotes endurance—lessens fatigue—with both men and women.

F LE PROOF NO. 148

VITALITY FOR GLAMOUR

Felt strain of difficult roles—wilted from long hours before the camera. Says vitality has "increased enormously." Feels alert and alive even when on the set at 6 AM. Commissary of famous motion picture studio is now serving Knox Gelatine to actors and actresses at meals and between scenes. Vitality is first essential of glamorous personality.

FILE PROOF NO. 272

PEP COMES BACK

Mining Engineer. Work involves strenuous physical exertion in strenuous physical exertion in rough country. Formerly, "went to rough country. Formerly, "went to hed tired and woke up more so hed tired and forced him to give up outside pursuits. Now says "family outside pursuits. Now says "family can't get over the change." Far less tationed at end of hardest day fatigued at end of hardest day have very writing and research work. Many others engaged in hard physical labor report amazing henchts of regular Knox Gulating henchts of regular Knox Gulating henchts of regular Knox Gulating ier dangs.

HOW IS YOUR "V.Q."?

People with high "Vitality Quotient" are the ones who get the most enjoyment out of life. Thou sands have gained new vim and vigor—renewed efficiency in work and enthusiasm for play—through the sample Knex Gelatine routing Knex Gelatine contains Gelatine contains certain properties which increase staying power. Scientific tests prove the ability of Knex Gelatine to build resistance to fatigue

Fight Fatigue With KNOX GELATINE

THIS WAY: Empty 1 envelope (¼ package) of Knox Gelatine in a glass ¾ filted with water or fruit juice, or ¾ water and ¼ fruit juice. Let the liquid absorb the gelatine. Then stir briskly and drink rapidly or it will thicken. Take 4 envelopes a day for 2 weeks, then continue with 2 a day. Take faithfully for 1 month. Then if you wish, discontinue, and resume when you feel the need.

CAUTION: Be sure to use Knox. Only Knox was used in the scientific experiments. Only Knox is proved to have the necessary elements. Write for Bulletin E, Knox Gelatine Company, Johnstown, New York, Dept. 71.

England's propaganda film (continued)

Brilish persuit filer, steered by radio short-wave directions from Central Control Room, spots enemy bombers off the British coast, goes into power dive for attack.

Death is the air is the fate of this German aviator, pierced by machine-gun bullets spitting from British pursuit plane. The anti-succraft guns drive off other bombers,

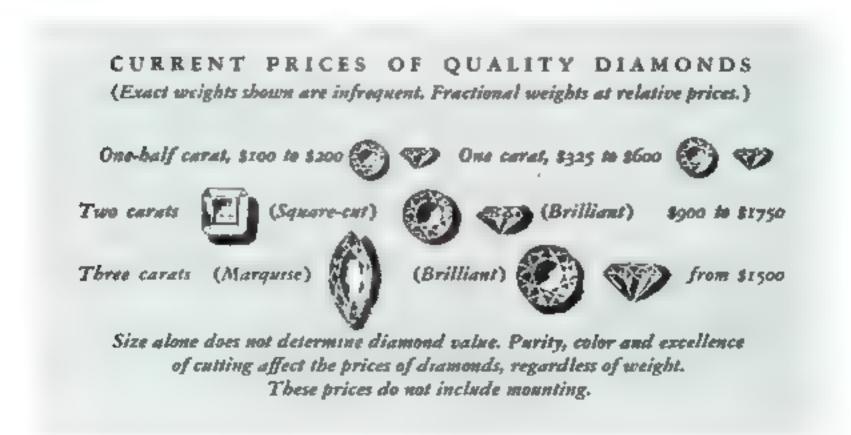

A Streak of Came, this Nazi bomber plummets through moonlit clouds into the sea. The German radio, hearing of The Lion Has Wings, called it "a celluloid fairy tale."

"A gift is as a precious stone" — OLD TESTAMENT

ALWAYS, since time began, men have sought among the objects of the earth some token to express their deeper feelings. Long before the birth of Christ, as now, one brilliant, earthborn miracle symbolized the deep, enduring things they cannot say. . . . The diamond as "light" stone bears this significance. . . . A diamond is given by the young lover to his lady, in pure white flame to light their love's eternal meaning. It becomes the mature man's gift of inarticulate gratitude—his pæan of rejoicing for tall sons and lovely daughters. Even in the eyes of tiny children its flame kindles immediate grandeur. . . . Those who have occasion to give diamonds this Christmas will find that no men in history have had a lovelier selection. Reliable jewelers are the custodians, naturally, of the earth's finest yield. Many will assist you in financing such an important gift by extending payments over a period of months. Color, quality, depth and skill of cutting are as important as carat weight in selecting for abiding beauty.

DE BEERS CONSOLIDATED MINES, LTD., AND ASSOCIATED COMPANIES

BY BOY IN ANOTHER CHILDREN'S MUSEUM, ARE A LOAN

BOSTON CHILDREN STUDY ANIMALS, STUFFED AND ALIVE, IN OWN MUSEUM

The live and stuffed animals in the hands of the chil-dren on this page are regular exhibits in the Boston Children's Museum. There are 21 similar museums in as many cities throughout the country. On Dec. 12 they are celebrating Children's Museum Day, the 40th birthday of the first one in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Children's museums are wonder-houses of strange and curious things. In Boston, live salamanders and toads are only the beginning of a collection that includes a mounted baby elephant, an ant colony, a miniature Indian village, lamps from the ruins of Pompeii and the inevitable Japanese Goodwill doll. In line with the best progressive-education practice, they turn school subjects like geography and history into enthralling full-time interests.

Last year in Boston, 24,500 children, organized in clubs like the Bird Club above, made the Children'r Museum their after-school headquarters for study and field trips. Altogether, 180,000 toured the exhibits and attended lectures that have made the Children's Museum an integral feature of education in the private and public schools of Boston and environs.

MARY ALLIGATOR SUBMITS AMIABLY TO SCRUTIRY

A WOOD TURTLE IS TIMID, MIDES INSIDE HIS SHELL

A TOAD HAS BEEN AT MUSEUM FOR THREE YEARS

Clipper—Roto-Shaver is the ONLY Electric Razor that actually SHAVES with 4 Razor-Sharp Blades

CANNOT POSSIBLY CUT OR PINCH THE SKIN

where.

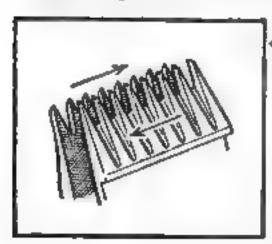

MANY men have been waiting until before buying one. Others have owned one, but found it did not shave close enough. We believe Roto-Shaver answers completely man's ancient problem of how to get a smooth, comfortable shave.

ROTO-SHAVER REALLY SHAVES

Unlike most electric razors that "clip" with a shearing action-Roto-Shaver uses four razor-sharp blades. Driven by a smooth, powerful rotary motor, these blades revolve at tremendous speed against a thm protecting head. Closely, cleanly-right at the skin line -off come your whiskers. Roto-Shaver is one razor which absolutely cannot cut or pinch your skin!

TEST ROTO-SHAVER YOURSELF

Words and pictures cannot tell the story of Roto-Shaver's marvelous action. Only an actual trial on your own face will ←Ordinory-type "clipper" head used on most electric regars keeps them from giving burber-close shaves.

Roto-Shaver's New Revolving Head has four razor-sharp blades which ossure a closer, cleaner shave every time.

convince you that Roto-Shaver really shares - doesn't merely "clip." Smooth, powerful, free from harsh clatter or vibration, a Roto-Shaver is pleasant to use. Why not stop in at your dealer's

Makers of fine shaving products for nearly a century, The J. B. Williams Company is proud to offer the new

Roto-Shaver to American men every-

ROTO-SHAVER FACTS

a 73-in proper of hundred these has ever 800 holes, allerving Me shave claser, classes.

today for a free demonstration?

Harmiess snake, a 7-ft. Indigo, lets a little girl touch its nose, thus overcoming her little-gurl fear of snakes. Boston Children's Museum has hulf-dozen species.

Cat skeleton is examined by Harold Outten. Cat, when alive, was pet of an early Museum club member who buried it in his garden, salvaged ak eleton for Museum.

ABOUT LUBERTMAS PRESENT

TAKE a tip from tradition: and give the Christmas gift you'd like to get—Canadian Club!

With every mellow sip, this worldfamous whisky says, "I wanted you to have the best." And—exclusive advantage!—whether the recipient prefers rye, Scotch, or bourbon, he is sure to like Canadian Club.

Again, Canadian Club comes in this traditional gift carton!

By popular demand, Canadian Club this year will again come cased in the special carton which bears a reproduction in full color of the famous Canadian Club Christmas scene above. It is yours at no extra cost, in all states where cartons are permitted, to lend added glamour to your gift.

IN 87 LANDS IT'S A CUSTOM TO GIVE

"Canadian Club"

Aristmas comes to life Note & than Kossie (156 Hea key 5 Other Kossie (156 Hea key 5 Morrico goar Beit sterling viver Buckle with Olkt gold. Sterling from a final KoNite C 50 Heal Key than 5 5 Other K. Nie 5 50 p. bane in m. 51 mail in metal craft legaleric belo. 55

- Steerh de Best, 3 in right ed. Brick e in ligarette beix $2. So kee t white pear 12 early with a lithread center HANG and stoop 15 W in year buttons sh
- Hickork Too Bar with three Kurs in a sign ageful
- il wike as a se Ba H Bigg a then a tooley steerpris was a mer A plake per ombere a
- Stratt new Box has on Key that and I e Chain. With palented the dat of Cirip Cot at Ballonia
- H took Cub Looks 55 54 Some area rubs supplied, emerate of thipax fronts, with gons profed bands.
- Lu ky Ko Nife St. Christopher design com nke silver un sh. $4.50
- You Hank in Place Bean of the home total 5 il ich i bless album Ber greifing vor Buckle-
- to all glass and mera, yra art gay 5 to Hick Tig Chan Color Bar as I Cart Line 4 No 50 Link in spicialica roly, and his emerge is a war.
- fact at some Carl days by apphire emit all of ropaz muurec 5° c
- Hickork range 2 own as Ber and monogrammed Backle g a ten bes 5 Three and a Tax than and Coas Bar er with parented
- Amgazer Grop 32 KotNife the lacky pocket piece, with three Nary indials Bronze or white nnish $5

Give him any of these two gifts it one . and you ll be giving him the season's smartest. Hickok made gifts at al. better stores! HICKOK MFG. COMPANY ROCHISTER, N. Y.

RÀPPA ALPHA THEYA HOUSE BOASTE GLASSIE PILLARS

KANSAS GIRLS

Life is fun for them at State University

The gals who go to the University of Kansas are as different in their looks and backgrounds as the buildings in which they live. The buildings (left) are sometimes classic, sometimes Tudor, sometimes Georgian. Some of the girls are dull and some bright, some pretty and some plain, some grinds and some "jivers." In a typical freshman class of 700, about 110 will be farmers' daughters, 75 merchants' daughters, 40 teachers' daughters, 25 bankers' daughters.

Their State University is at Lawrence, perched on the highest bill in eastern Kansas. It is a surprising town to find in the most middle of the Midwestern States. Settled by New Englanders, it is very much like New England except that the wind blows all the time. The streets are lined with spreading elms and some of the houses have captain's walks.

In regular session, 1,500 girls attend the University, which is co-educational. For the most part they have a very good time at college, often living better there than they do at home. A fourth of them occupy sorority houses; less than a third, dormitories. The rest board out around town. Their college life is heartier, more social and much more frankly concerned with boys than it is at an Eastern women's college. Almost all the girls are Kansans who settle down in Kansas after graduation. As alumnac, they are the most closely knit group of people in the State, binding all Kansas together from town to town by friendships made at Lawrence. The way they learn to live, to dress, to behave, to look at life and culture, affects their future and the future of their State in a hundred small and subtle ways.

The morning mail is very important. These are Theta girls, sitting on stairs in their house, reading letters from their folks, friends or beaux. At top: Marilyn McBride, ex-editor of the college daily, studies Kansas City Star.

This is how they live at Kappa Alpha Theta

Breakfast at Kappa Alpha Theta is no place for conversation. The sleepy girls, some of them with lowels around their hair cut their fruit and excell, toast and coffee in silence while reading the conege daily or newspaper come strips. They like Let. 1 librar and Blondic best.

Theta's president is Margaret Stookey, who comes from Ottawa, Kata, and is a semor in the Fine Arts Department. Her father is State architect. She majors in ces go and points for a hobby. The evening dress bring on the closet door presides a "formal" date or party after dark.

In Thela's basement, Peggy Pat Hennessy presses party dress for an engagement-announcement dinner to be held that evening (see pp. 8... 8...). Most girls wash their own stockings and underwear. They also keep their rooms neat, make their beils. Maids do the heavy cleaning.

Entertainment at Theta is provided by the girls themselves. This violanist is Edu., Givens. The girl on the opposite page is writing down the time she wants a freshman pledge to call her in the morning a typical pledge choice. At her left is a list of the Theta members' grades,

KANSAS GIRLS

Doris Johnson, elder of the Johnson sisters of Kappa Kappa Gamma, comes from Kansas City, Mo. She is 21, a semor. Her good looks have not gone unrecognized at K.U. In freshman year she won the Cornely Cosed prize, got a trip to Hollywood. As sophomore, she was Homecoming Queen, She wants to be a social worker.

Sorority houses are

Most K U girls want to join a sorority because a great deal of campus social life revolves around the sorority bouse. First week of many a freshman's college life, therefore, is a strained and heetic one, for then she is being "rushed" by sororities. A girl may be picked for family, money, charm, style, braits good looks. On basis of good looks, the Johnson sisters of Kappa Kappa Gamma (left & opposite page) were first-class sorority material.

The girls of Kappa Kappa Gamma, with Helen Johnson in the middle, have up in the doorway of their house. When a girl is pledged to a so-rorty, her sisters give her a thorough going-over, criticizing ler minners,

All dressed up, Peggy Pat Hennessy and Helen Markwell descend stairs, wearing party dresses because a Theta girl is "putting out her pio," i.e., announcing her engagement.

The biessing is sung before the girls sit down. No one is supposed to know which of her sorority sisters is announcing her engagement but secrets of this sort are pretty open.

They sing at dinner, hardly ever omitting Theta Lips ("Theta lips are smuling") or When You Come to the End of a Lollipop. For this gala occasion, there are flowers on the

their social centers

Favorite sorority entertainment is a dance. Each house holds formal dances three times a year and most of them have frequent "7 to 8" early evening parties at which boys and girls dance on the sun porch to the music of a phonograph. Many a K U romance buds in a sorority sociable. No K.I. girl wears a boy's fraternity pin unless she is formally engaged to him. Then she announces her engagement by "putting out her pan" see below).

attitude clottes. After a while, all sisters of a sorority begin to look more or less alike. Kappa girls, for instance, all dress well and with assurance, seem somewhat more sophisticated than other sorority girls.

Helen Johnson, Doris' sister, is just as pretty and more pressions than her sister. Though only 18, steas a junior. In her freshman year she was on the Dean's Honor Roll. This year Helen was elected Kappa's trensurer. An English major, she loves to dance an I travel, wants to be a translator when she graduates.

talle. The engaged girl is Dorothy Jean Roberts (back to watter). Her father is a Kansas City, Mo., physician. Her funcé is a sophomore in the Kansas U. Medical School.

The housemother, Mrs. Klinkenberg, has been given a 5-lb. box of caudy in which are Dorothy's and her fiance's puns. Mrs. Klinkenberg gives them to Dorothy's best friend.

The pin is put out when the best friend fastens it to Dorothy's dress, making the engagement formal. Sometimes the fiancé comes to the house, runs a gantlet of kissing guls.

Some cook & clean to save expenses

Though University fees average only $100 a year, many Kansus girls who want to go to college lack even that sum. To help them, the University has been given two co-operative dormitories. Watkins and Miller Halls, where girls can get room and board for less than $15 a month. They have to have good scholarship standings and keep them. The result is that these dorms have the highest percentage of Phi Beta.

Kappas in the University. The girls also have to do all their own housework and cooking. They are divided into small groups, each assigned its own little kitchen and during room (shine above). They order their own food and the more efficient their ordering, the less their expenses. Girls take turns at cooking, cleaning, doing dishes. At the beginning of a year, the cooking is likely to be a little strange and uncertain. But criticism is blunt, learning comes quickly.

On stant night, the garle amuse themselves by dressing up and acting. This is the Gamma Plu Beta house where, behind a multi-covered ironing board, the garls make his of some a tra-Vagua fushions. Their hats are made of a fannel garnished with celery, of paper cups, of samp studes and a feather. K. U. garls scora far fetched fashions. They aress samply, though they wear funcier sweaters than Eastern college garls.

A Negro sorority is Delta Sigma Theta, which meets in members' rooms. There are 52 colored girls at K. U. Negroes hold the University in high respect. The whole tradition of the State is pros Negro. The first battles of the border warfare between slave holders from Missouri and Free-Soilers in Kansus were fought at Lawrence. The Free-Soilers finally won out and their victory quickened the coming of the Civil War.

Girls who board out, either because they can't or don't want to live in sorority houses and dormitories, room in college-approved houses near "The Hill." Three or four of them get together, take a room or a dressed-up attic, eat at the campus lunchrooms. This pine-paneled attic is one of the swankiest in town.

Many hope to find a husband on "The Hill"

THERE ARE ALSO BOYS AT M. U.

An increasing number of K. U. girls study science, work diligently in the physics and chemistry laboratories. Some labs in the University, however, are equipped not with test tubes and Bunsen burners but with stoves, iceboxes, babies' bathtubs and play pens. In the crowded room on the opposite page, students are observing an important demonstration: a mother is showing how to dress a child.

Since 1930, K. U. girlshave exhibited growing interest in becoming nurses, doctors, journalists, decorators. But courses in home economics are still popular. No K. U. girl fools herself about what she really wants to do after graduation. She wants to get married and settle down. K. U. is a fine place to start a marriage.

When the University opened in 1866, there were almost as many girls as boys enrolled—26 girls, 29 boys. Today there are 1,500 girls and 4,000 boys. The social interest of most K. U. girls is pointed at K. U. boys and vice versa. Social activity is by no means restricted to soronities. There are regular dances for all students. When there are no dances, the boys and girls have dates at the movie houses, spend long and cheap evenings "coking" or chewing hamburgers, dancing to the "juke boxes" (automatic phonographs). This year students came back to Lawrence to find that juke boxes could be played from booths by remote control. They consider this the most important technical advance to reach the campus this year. Favorite idle night's entertainment in girls' houses is trying on each other's dresses, bartering clothes, experimenting with heauty treatments.

K. U. girls marry more quickly than the Eastern college girls. Most of those who marry are wedded within three years after graduation. A great many matches have their beginnings on "The Hill," as the campus is called. Marriages made in K. U., like those made in heaven, last a lot better than others. A survey made a few years ago showed that while there was one divorce for every five marriages made in the State of Kansas, there was only one divorce for every hundred marriages between a K. U. boy and a K. U. girl.

Eton collars are the fad this year at Theta. Girls of a soronty always manage to adopt one peculiarity of dress or make-up which distinguishes them from other sorority girls.

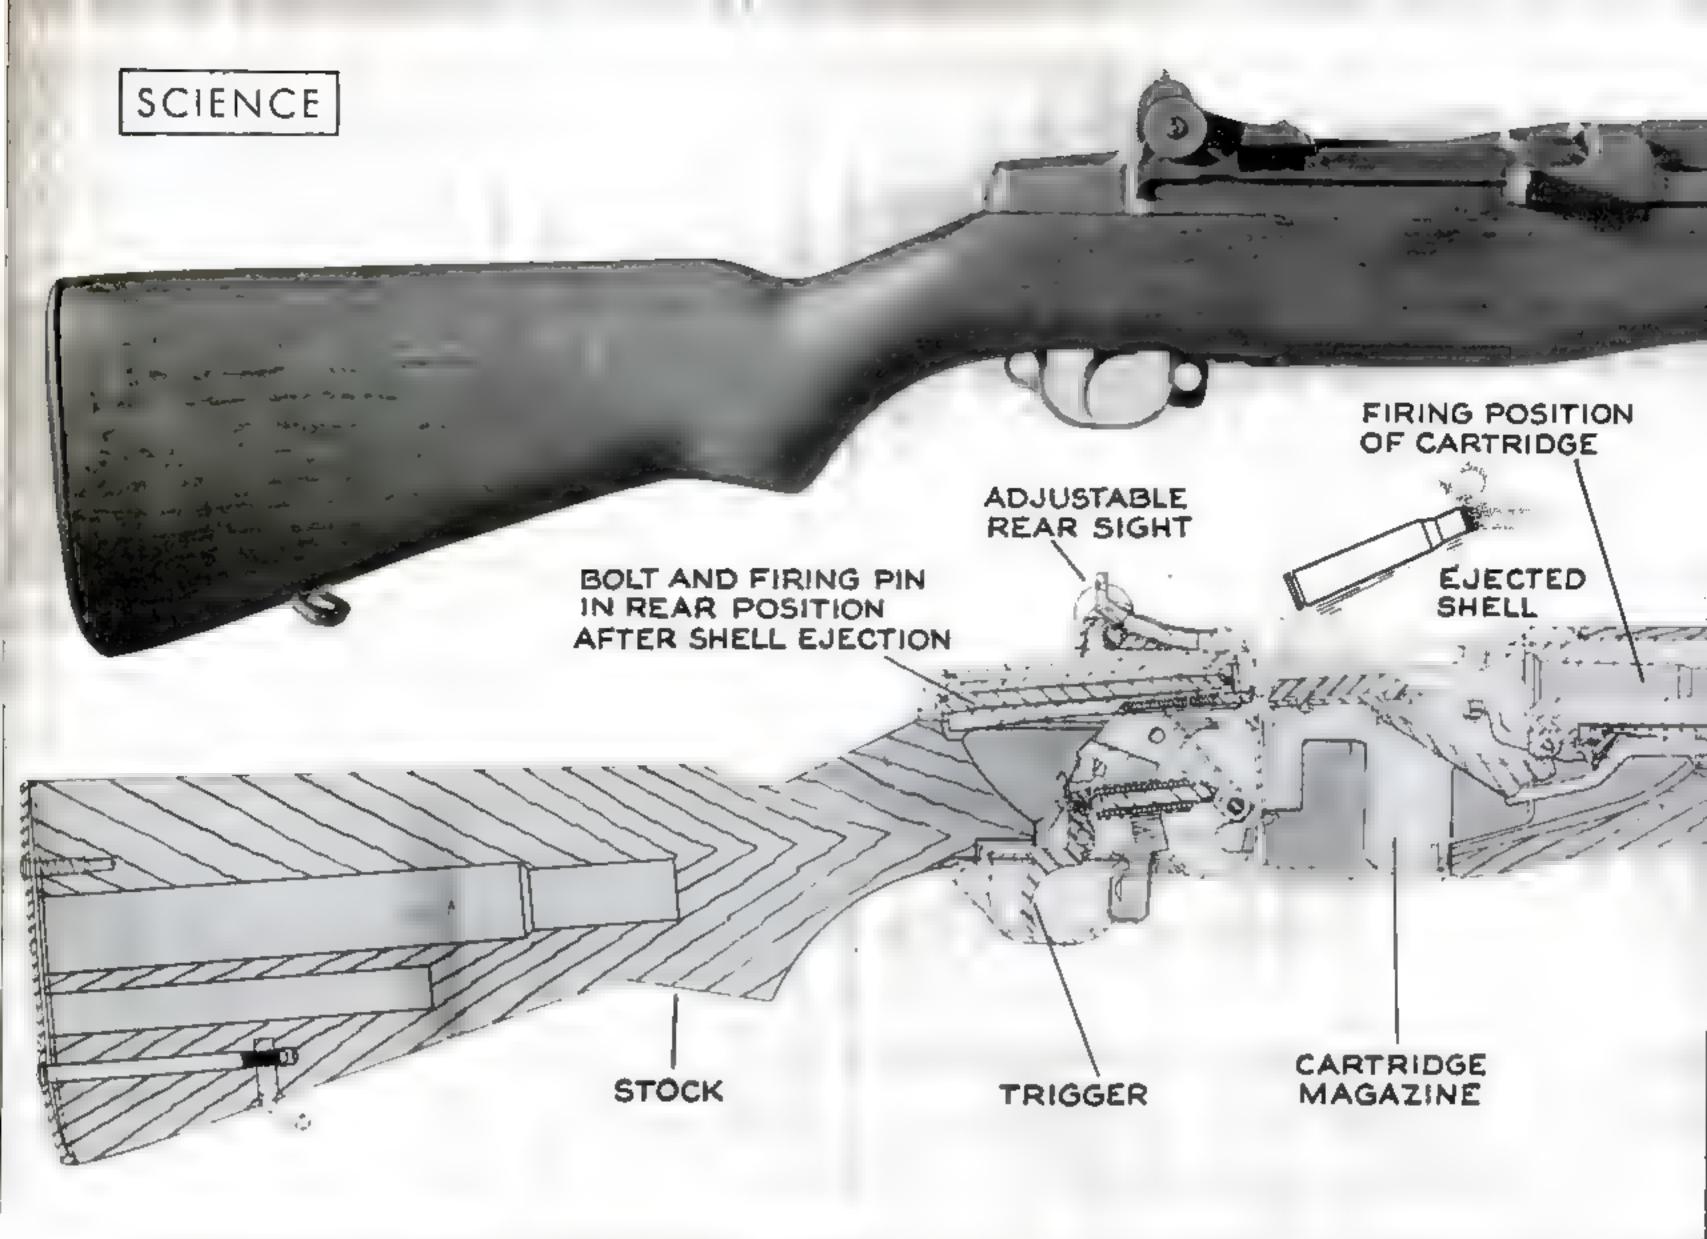

Dress authors are held whenever a girl wants to get rid of some clothes. This is a Theta auction. The girl on the floor is wondering if the cold cream is worth bidding for.

White sweatshirt cardigans are the Gamma Phi Beta's fad this year. One of the Gamma Phis got the campus cardigan agency, so her sisters loyally bought cardigans from her.

BARAND RIFLE WORKS ON PRINCIPLE OF OLDTIME LEWIS MACHINE GUN. AS SULLET LEAVES MUZZLE, GAS FROM EXPLODED POWDER ENTERS LOWER CYLINDER THROUGH HOLE

This historical display of U. S. Army rifles begins at top with a muzzle-loading fintlock of 1795, similar to those of the Revolution and used as late as the Mexican War. Next is a Hall rifle of 1859, the Army's first breechloader, fired by cap. Army conservatives backshid to a muzzle-loader (1861), which was used during most of the Civil War. The 1868 breechloader substituted a metallic cartridge for loose powder & ball. The famed Krag-Jorgensen (1898) of the Spanish-American War was the first standardised magazine rifle. Last are Springfield (1903) and the new Garand.

U.S. ARMY HAS

National Guard gets its first

In January 1936 the U. S. Army adopted the finest standard military rifle in the world (above), the only semi-automatic rifle used by any army. Called "U. S. Rifle, Caliber .30, M1" by the Army, it is popularly known as the Garand after its inventor, John C. Garand (right). Because it is expensive and its complexity makes it difficult to manufacture, less than half of the regular Army riflemen have been equipped with the Garand. Last fortnight marked a long step toward its use as standard equipment when it was first usued in quantity to selected units of the National Guard, recently engaged in an extra week of field training. An order for 65,000 Garands at $100 apiece has gone to Winchester Repeating Arms Co., and the Government's Springfield Armory is producing about 100 a day.

It is natural and appropriate that America should have the world's best rifle. Only a rich nation could afford so expensive a weapon. And the rifle has traditionally been the American's No. 1 weapon, in war and peace. America's pioneers relied on their flintlocks for both food and protection. Even today, with a permanent closed season on Indians and a diminishing supply of game, several million American farmers and sportsmen still own rifles. The American's handiness with a gun, plus his aptitude for individual fighting, make the rifle

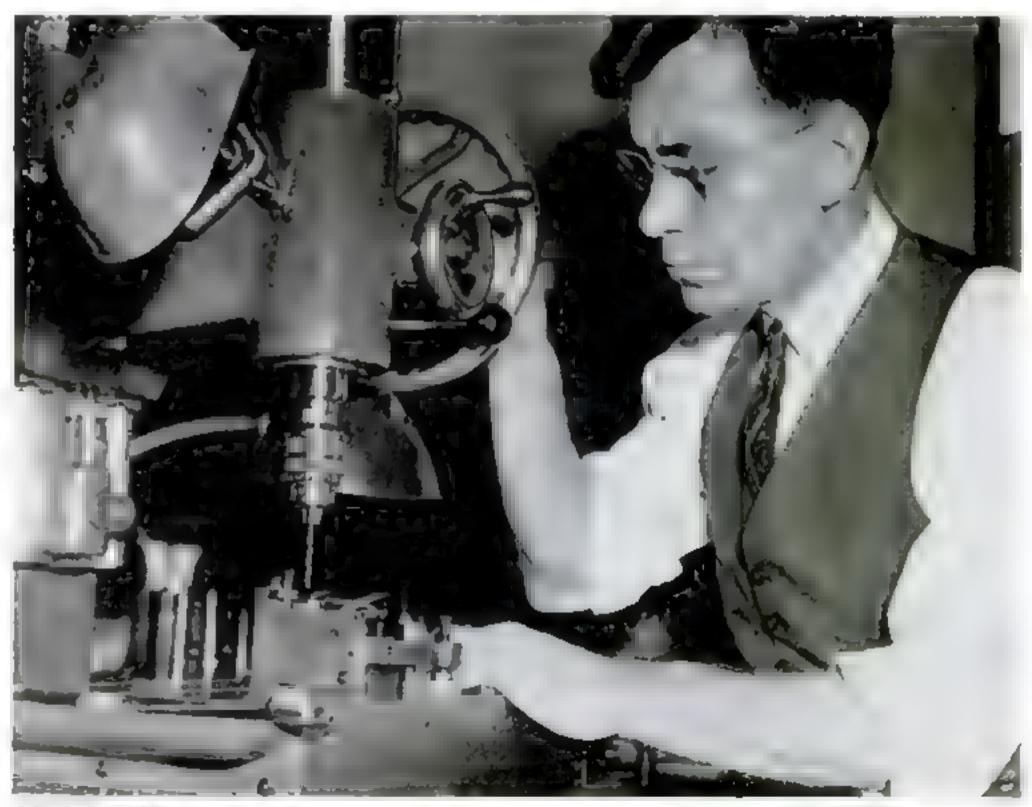

END OF MARREL AND DRIVES BACK ROD WHICH UNLOCKS AND PUBHES BACK BOLT. BOLT EJECTS EMPTY CARTRIDGE AND PUBHES FRESH ONE INTO BREECH ON SPRING-BACK

FINEST RIFLE

supply of new semi-automatics

The prime requisite of a rifle in modern warfare is accurate rapid fire. The Springfield, the Army's standard rifle from 1908 to 1936, loads a clip of only five cartridges and has a hand-operated bolt which must be worked between each shot. Only an expert can fire as many as 20 aimed shots per minute. With the Garand, where all he has to do is keep pulling the trigger and reload after every eight shots, an ordinary rifleman can fire 30 aimed shots per minute and experts have fired up to 100. Since the Garand's "kick" is much less than the Springfield's, shoulders do not get sore so soon, flinching is lessened, and the rifleman can keep firing much longer and more accurately. The big problem of the Garand is ammunition supply.

By 1941 America's entire first-line land defense force—both the regular Army and the National Guard—should be equipped with Garands. What that means, basically, is that if war comes each U. S. rifleman will be able to deliver, with superior accuracy and endurance, from two to five times the volume of fire which can now be delivered by any possible forman. After their first test, National Guard officers estimated that theoretically an entire regiment trapped in open country could be wiped out by 36 Garand riflemen in exactly one minute.

John C. Garand, 51, inventor of the Army's new rifle, is a French-Canadian whose family moved to Connecticut before he was 12. He worked in machine shops, spent nights in shooting galleries run by his father and brothers. He developed his rifle at Springfield Armory, where he has worked for 20 years, now earns about $5,000 a year. When told last fortinght that in his rifle's first National Guard test, twelve marksmen had scored 402 hits in one minute on a target 200 yards away, Inventor Garand remarked: "They should have done better. But the rifle was new to them."

Garand rifle (continued)

The Garand's cartridge this holds eight cartridges, against the Springfield's five. To speed reloading, the bolt stays open after last shot of the clip is fired.

Empty carifidge case here flies by the marksman's hat. For an idea of the Garand's firing speed, note that the bolt is closed, with a fresh cartridge in place, while the cartridge case is still in air.

Garand and Springfield rifles are tested side by side. After each ahot, Springfield marksman (foreground) must swing his gun off target to work bolt, while the Garand marksman holds aim. For results of this test, see targets at right.

54 kits in black on standard target at 200 yd. in one minute was record of Garand marksman, a National Guardsman.

15 hils in one minute was the best that his 107th Regiment teammate could do with Springfield. Target represents man.

Jeet Jawaharlal Nehru. This accomplished and sensitive Indian with the jawbreaking name is potentially one of the most powerful men alive. On his word largely depends the attitude of 350,000,000 Indians to the British Empire and the second world war. Nehru is several things. He is an Indian revolutionary educated at Harrow and Cambridge. He is the son of a distinguished family of Kashmiri Brahmans, which-transposing into Americanmeans the son of Lowells or Roosevelts. He is a seven-time jailbird. He is a discriminating and subtle-minded individualist who makes social-15m the core of his faith. And he is the inevitable successor to Mr. Gandhi, the venerable Mahatma, as leader of the Indian nationalist movement.

India's Nehru—and Nehru's India—bear a pressing relation to the contemporary world crisis. This second world war has several dimensions. It is a struggle not merely in the linear field of power politics but in the spacetime of ideologies. The joke is that when the Russo-German pact was signed all the "isms" became "wasms." But the fact remains that the British and French are fighting, among other things, for a very genuine "ism," the liberalism of democratic institutions, against the fascism of a totalitarian state. Yet, while the British fight for democracy in Europe, they deny full democracy to 350,000,000 Indians who want freedom. Everyone knows how exceptionally difficult it is for the Allies to state their war aims. But India should be a test case for war aims when the time comes for stating them.

The dominant figure of nationalist India, now that the magnificent old Mahatma is 70 and almost sende, is Jawaharlal Nehru. But it is difficult to understand Nehru without some conception of the Indian background. Bend your mind to that colossal and complex subcontinent, home to one-fifth the human race. Maharajas bursting with sub-royal splendor; poverty, grisly and unspeakable; the hot nights in Calcutta and the black servants sleeping, line by line, on the pavement, waiting for their white masters; Pathan tribesmen from the Kipling country and squat little fakirs from the Himalayas; the stench of roasting flesh at Benares and the cool beauty of the Delhi tombs; children with rings in their noses and children becoming

CONTINUED ON MEXT PAGE

OF INDIA

GANDHI'S ARISTOCRATIC FRIEND
LEADS INDIA'S WRETCHED MASSES IN STRUGGLE FOR INDEPENDENCE

by JOHN and FRANCES GUNTHER

At the All-India Congress meeting at Tripuri less March, Nehru, who has been Congress president three times, spoke through a microphone to some of the 150,000 delegates.

Behind him, squatting on cotton-padded mats, were other Congress leaders. The enormous tent was kept cool by electric fans, and strips of green, orange and white Indian nationalist colors decorated the tempoles. As the India of Indians has no definite capital, Congress meetings shift from place to place, are generally held in remote villages.

NEHRU (continued)

parents at 10 or 12; multitudinous religious fissures; black-clad widows, who can never remarry; Hindus who would die before drinking water with a Moslem and Moslems who would die before taking water from a Hindu; religious ceremonies based on cow manure; a magnificent national heritage and slums in Cawipore that make the brain rock; pure, noble intellects like Tagore and Bose and human beings who worship pigeons, peacocks, cobras, rats; the tremendous physical variety of desert, jungle, scalding heat, the coldest mountains in the world and monsoons that dump billions of tons of water on streets blanched by heat.

Nehru-better say Jawaharlal, because everyone in India calls him simply Jawaharlal—detests the medievalism of much of his country. Almost the most interesting thing about him is the exceptionally modern quality of his mind. He is steeped in the rationalism of the 20th Century. One of his tasks, difficult to the point of heartbreak, is to face the mordinate backwardness of India, its clashes of myth and superstition, and bring it to the contemporary world. He fights not only the British. He fights the entrenched ritualism of his own people. He is an agnostic, a rationalist, a reformer.

Yet he is not arid like most intellectual aristocrats and reformers. When he was last in England, he met the Archbishop of Canterbury. Afterwards the Archbishop is reported to have said: "Such a pleasant and agreeable gentleman! Who would imagine that he could shake up a continent!"

Guiding spirit of Congress Party

Politically Nehru holds no job at present, except that he is a member of the Working Committee of the Indian National Congress. But for ten years he was secretary general of the Congress, and he is the only man who has ever been its president three times. He could be president again any time he wished. The Indian National Congress is not a political party in the American sense. It is the mass organization of Indians who want emancipation from Britain, who want not merely dominion status but complete independence. It is analogous to the independence movement among the American Colonies before 1776. Though it is predominantly Hindu, it includes Indians of various creeds and political complexion, and is overwhelmingly the most important political organization in India. Its Working Committee, of which Nehru is the guiding spirit now that Mr. Gandhi has become so old, is the executive force of Indian nationalism. The Congress controls eight of the eleven provinces of British India.

Jawaharlal Nehru was born in Allahabad on Nov. 14, 1889, of a high-caste Brahman family that originated in Kashmir, and members of which served the last Moguls in various capacities. His father, Motilal Nehru, was a great figure, one of the most distinguished and powerful lawyers in India, a rich and respected friend of the British. Motifal built a tremendous house at Allahabad and the family had every advantage of wealth and culture. As a boy, Nehru came strongly under British influence and indeed, to this day, he seems in some respects almost more English than Indian. He was brought up on Walter Scott and Dickens. He had an English tutor from his earliest days. He went to Harrow, and Cambridge probably affected him more deeply than Allahabad. He still speaks his own language, Hindustani, a trifle haltingly. But he speaks—and writes—English in a style which hardly a dozen men alive can match.

He is shocked to see his country

When Nehru returned to India, at 23, he was plunged into politics almost at once. He couldn't have avoided politics anyway, since his father was a dominant political figure. He met Gandhi and was deeply shocked by the tragic incident of Amritsar, when General Dyer ordered his troops to fire on a crowd of Indians, killing and wounding hundreds. This blot on England's record of humane rule was as widely regretted in England as in India. But shortly thereafter on a trip to Delhi, Nehru took the last upper berth on a sleeping car and awoke to find himself in a car full of British officers. Lying in his berth, he heard General Dyer boasting how he forced the Indians to crawl into Amritsar on their bellies, how he felt like burning the city to the ground but took pity on it. "I was greatly shocked," Nehru writes, "to hear his conversation and to observe his callous manner. He descended at Delhi station in pyjamas with bright pink stripes, and a dressing gown."

Nehru began to travel. Wealthy, cultivated, buttressed with every comfort as he had been all his life, he was appalled by his first real look at his native land. He saw his people so poor that they worked for 8¢ a day, so hungry and sick that they lived an average of only 25 years, so yoked by the Hindu religion that they bowed down before cows and shunned their fellow men as untouchable. Like Buddha, he gave up everything he had known in life to explore both his own mind and the abysmal miseries of the humble. He writes of an early visit to the peasants:

His father, Motilal, famous lawyer and one of India's richest men, was a blueblooded Kashmirt Brahman. Father and son duagreed in politics until father swung over to son's socialist political views.

His Wife, Kamala, also a Kashmiri blueblood, died in 1936 in Switzerland while Nehru was serving one of his seven jail sentences in India. Kamala had also been jailed for her nationalist beliefs.

CIGOIR

But—to be eligible—your Christmas order must be post-marked before MIDNIGHT-SATURDAY, DECEMBER 9th!

Orders mailed later will not be accepted at less than the regular $4.50 rate.

Use the Airmail order form bound into this issue (on which we will gladly pay the Airmail postage) to list the names of the friends and families to whom you would like to give LIFE's vivid history of the momentous year to come.

And be sure to Airmail your order right away—while you can still save a dollar on each subscription!

Your own subscription may also be entered now at this same special rate, to start immediately.

Sensational New Game!

CONTACK is the Outstanding Game of the year! Completely new and original! You play and score by matching colored and numbered triangles. CONTACK is easy, fast and lively — with rapid shifts of fortune that keep excitement rising outd the list climan! For 2 to 7 players, or solitaire. Be first in your group to Introduce CONTACK! Popular Edition, with counters, $11 De Luise Edition, $3.50; Other Edition, $1.50 and 50c.

Any Number May Play

Exciting Question and Answer Card Game!
Fiash a letter — and be first to flash back a winning word! Player who collects the most cards Wins! Learn it in a mouse — you'll play it by the hour! The year a best game for a cound
Price, 50c

And New POINT SORRY

A new kind of Board Game controlled by the play of cards — with original new moves, including the Slide, Exchange, and "Back door plays! Skill and chance create ever changing attentions. Doo't count on victory until the tast play — SOHRY is full of exciting surprise endings! For 2, 3, or 4 players. Price, $1 to $3

BEST SELLER among the World's Great Standard Games!

CAMELOT, Excitoge Stattle Game for men and boys, $1 and $2; GROSSWORD LFXICON, Great Grossword Card Game, 50c and $1; PEGITY, Famous and Most Popular Peg Game, $1; VAN LCHIN'S "WIDE WORLD" Great Travel Game, $1; $50; $KY-$HOOT Turget Game, $1; LONE RANGER Board Game, $1; PINOCKHIO, Walt Disneys Latest Game, $1; WONDERFIL GAME OF OZ, $1; ROOK, PIT, WONDERFIL GAME OF OZ, $1; ROOK, PIT, FLINCH, TOURING, Famous Card Games, 75c.

AT ALL DEALERS or by mail from Salem

PARKER BROTHERS INC.

Gandhi and Nehru, while different in temperament, are fast friends. Nehru has more faith in socialism and less faith in non-violence as a political weapon than Gandhi. But now that Gandhi is 70, Nehru, just 50, is taking over as nationalist leader.

NEHRU (continued)

"They showered their affection on us and looked on us with loving and hopeful eyes, as if we were the bearers of good tidings, the guides who were to lead them to the promised land. Looking at them and their misery and overflowing gratitude, I was filled with shame and sorrow, shame at my own easygoing and comfortable life and our petty politics of the city which ignored this vast multitude of semi-naked sons and daughters of India, sorrow at the degradation and overwhelming poverty of India. A new picture of India seemed to rise before me, naked, starving, crushed, and utterly miserable."

Nehru joined Gandhi's civil disobedience and in 1911, along with hundreds of others who fought for the honor of being arrested, he went to jail. Between 1911 and 1934 Nehru spent five and a half years in jail in seven terms. Most of the time he was well treated but once he was handcuffed to a fellow prisoner for 14 hours in a hovel of a prison where rats crawled over his face as he slept. Confinement marked and pitted him deeply. He became more sensitive, more ingrown. But jail also gave him time to think, to develop his political philosophy. He saw that the Indian struggle had more than merely nationalist elements. He became convinced that imperialism was the basic enemy and that since British imperialism was a capitalist growth, he must attack capitalism too. He felt that British imperialism rested on economic as well as political exploitation. Therefore, to attack the British logically, he must be a socialist as well as a simple nationalist revolutionary. This is the root of Nehru's creed.

Though he is a socialist, he is emphatically not a communist. He wrote once: "I am not a communist chiefly because I resist the communist tendency to treat communism as holy doctrine; I do not like being told what to think and do. I feel also that too much violence is associated with communist methods. The ends cannot be separated from the means."

Story of a father and son

The relation between Jawaharlal and his father Motilal is a fascinating psychological study. It is glowingly described in Nehru's autobiography, which is soon to be published in America. Jawaharlal was an exceptionally sensitive young man; Motilal was massive and overbearing. At first Motilal was greatly troubled by his son's strong nationalism and tried to win him back to moderation. But slowly, steadily the son won the father over. Then one night Jawaharlal discovered Motilal sleeping on the floor of his luxurious home, to understand what jail would be like for his son. When civil disobedience began in the early 1920's, Motilal, with his tremendous prestige among British and Indians alike, was the lion of the movement. Presently father and son went to jail together

Between jail sentences, his political career steadily advanced. Gandhi had great influence on him, especially through his development of the theory and practice of passive resistance. This seemed to Nehru a wonderfully noble doctrine, though now he does not feel that it is enough. Gradually he became Gandhi's indispensable second in command. He wrote, talked, traveled, organized. As secretary of the National Congress uninterruptedly for a decade, he helped shape that body into a competent organism. He came out for complete independence from Britain, not merely dominion status. This year he wrote the Congress "War Statement," protesting against the British declaration which bound India to the war without consulting Indian opinion.

Nehru was 50 this year. He is an extraordinarily handsome and magnetic figure. He is known to millions of Indians who have heard him speak from the remote forests of Assam to industrial slums

Coronado

Styled and Hand Tot bred by Superba $100 Everywher

This Christmas, give the tie that never gives upl CORONADO'S rich, amazing British fabric sheds wrinkles like magic and its smart colorings and patterns are all exclusive with CORONADO. Write for your dealer's name.

SUPERBA CRAVATS

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (Grantes)

*Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

FORTUNE writes of Business as no other magazine can—in the lively realities of plans, policies, problems and people.

THE RESERVE AND ADDRESS OF THE PARTY OF THE Increase your Height

with STATURA D SHOES, any desired amount up to 214 inches. More than 50 styles in wide assortment of leathers. Send for free calalog sealed in plain wrapper

Joseph Burger, 2067 Third Ave. (Dept. 5) New York City

ensington GRACIOUS BEAUTY

Kensington is like no other gift you can make, at any price. Whether your list is modest or lavish, every remembrance can be in perfect taste, beautiful as well as practical. Kensington is cherished for its authentic design, for its indescribable lustre, for the daily joy it gives with the very minimum of care.

Kensington is fashioned with superb craftsmanship from Kensington metal, a special alloy of Aluminum that is hard, to resist wear and scuffing. Does not need polishing. Resists tarnishing. Its lustrous surface engraves beautifully. The effect is permanent, because Kensington is solid metal.

The Dorchester Double Serving Dish. Use as illustrated or as two single servers. Diam., 10 in. No. 7381, $8.50.

The Shell Canapé Plate. Graceful, distinctive design. Slightly dished. Diameter, 10 Inches. No. 7331, $4.00.

CHOOSE FROM A RESPLENDENT ARRAY AT YOUR DEALERS'

The Sussex Jar. Close-fitting lid and sponge clip keep Dad's tobacco moist. Diam., 5\(\frac{1}{2}\) in. No. 7471, $5.00.

Norwich Cup and Parringer Authortic Early American Cup, No. 7623, $2.75, Parringer, No. 7624, $3.25.

Coldchester Cocktoll Shaker, UgM, leakproof 1 get. No. 7251,$12.50.Also shown, Tray and Cocktoil Cups.

The Waverly Desk Set. Seven Places. Complete, $29.50 Individual praces priced from $1.00 to $7.50.

The Dover Bread Troy. The decorations are in repoussé. 13 2x6 à inches. No. 7155, $3.75.

The Newport Ice Bowl. Beout to ly smale design to sull any setting Diameter, 6 inches. No. 7245, $3.50.

The Coach 'N Four Cigarette Box, Walnut cover with Kensington Panel. A "three packer." No. 7547, $6.00.

Maytair Coffee Service Server, No. 7200, $2000. Creamer, $4.00 Sugar, $5.00. Large Maytair Tray, $12.00.

for your selection

Kensington offers, at prices from 50c to $20.00, a versatile array of gifts for everyone Lovely pleces for the formal table and for the buffet; for the smoker and for beverages; for flowers and for confections; for the desk, the purse, and the handbag. See the complete line, today, at leading jewelers, department stores, gift shops. If you do not know where to find Kensington in your city, write for name of nearest dealer and folder lustrating complete line. Kensington, Inc., Dept LF, New Kensington, Pa lere's a novel, utterly delightful Christmas treat for yourself, your entire family: a tropic holiday in Miami Beach—a dip in sparkling surf on Christmas morning—a game of golf on New Years'—a complete change of climate and environment that restores your reserves of mental and physical vitality.

This year, the increasingly popular early season will be climaxed by a gala Christmas-New Years' celebration—there'll be more to see, more to do than ever before—with special rates in effect well into January.

And Miami Beach is ready for the extra thousands who will make this Christmas a sun-warmed, carefree, never-to-be-forgotten interlude. Hundreds of new accommodations, added in this fifth year of record construction mean there's room for all—room for you—in the "Brightest Spot on Winter's Map."

IN Natural COLORS!

Photos, facts and figures-com-

plets details for making final plans. The coupon will bring your copy of this new, all-color Miami Beach booklet. There's no obligation. Mail it today!

MIAMI BEACH CHAMBER of COMMERCE Mixmi Beach, Florida (6)
Name
Address
City	State

In the waters of the Ganges, sacred to Hindus, Nehru takes an occasional sacramental dip, although he is personally an agnostic. For his political work Nehru receives no pay, earns a little from writing, has given most of his family fortune to his cause.

NEHRU (continued)

south of Bombay. People call him Bharat Ka Hriday Samrat, Lord of India's Heart. On the other hand, he is distinctly not a man of the crowd. He is distinct in most human relationships, with a hatred of essure. People must come a long way toward him, before he will budge an inch. He hates backslapping, he hates demagoguery. He has a horror of vulgarity, intellectual or otherwise.

Nehru's chief weakness derives from this. His predisposition to doubt, his fastidiousness and hatred of dogmatism, his hatred of hurly-burly, make him a bad politician sometimes. But his strength in various fields counterbalances this. He is an admirable organizer and administrator. Most of his time this year went to the National Planning Committee, of which he is chairman. He has energy beyond that of most men, tremendous devotion to his cause, extreme intelligence, modesty, charm and honesty. His personal and political integrity have never been shaken.

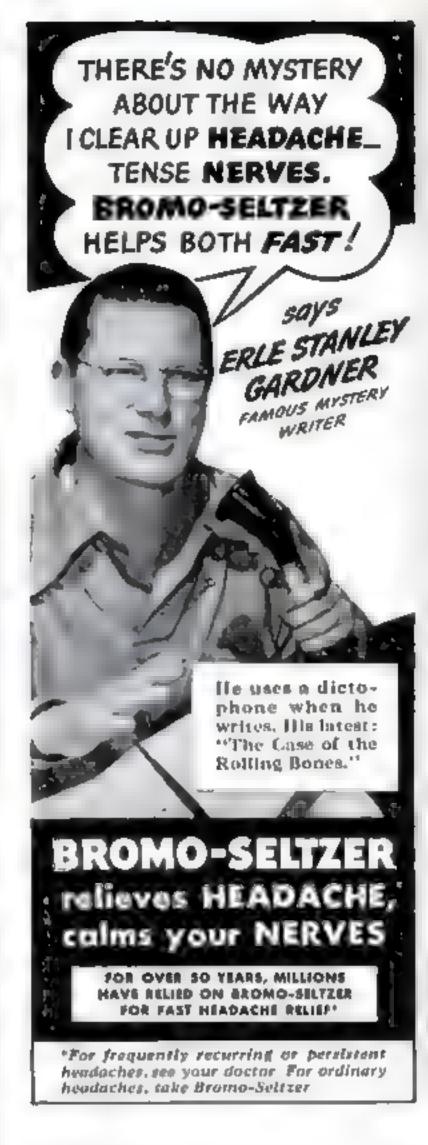

Nehru lives—when he isn't traveling across India and back—in a house in Allahabad called the Anand Bhawan. This is near his father's old house, which Motifal gave to the movement and which is Congress headquarters. Nehru is a widower. His wife, who fought beside him in the civil disobedience campaigns, died after long years of ill health. He was released from his last imprisonment in order to visit her. She had been in prison too. Their only child, a 21-year-old daughter named Indira, goes to school in England. Nehru's two sisters are both active in politics. One, Mrs. Pandit, who was called "Samp" ("the Beautiful One") in her youth, is Minister for Local Self-Government and Health in the United Provinces—the first woman of India to become a Cabinet minister.

Nehru is much more normal in his personal life and attitudes than Gandhi. The Kashmiris are often meat eaters, and though he does not eat meat as a rule, he has none of Gandhi's religious horror of it. He smokes occasionally; when he is outside India he may even drink a little. He loves winter sports and swimming. He has little interest in money, so long as he has enough for books, travel and party work. His travels, like Gandhi's, have been epochal. In 1936-37 he traveled 110,000 miles in 22 months, making several speeches per day. Once he spoke 150 times in one week.

The single thing he likes best in the world, next to India, is probably English poetry. In his writings he quotes verse incessantly. After poetry, he likes mountains, glaciers, children, running water and almost all animals. The things he dislikes most are "exploitation, cruelty, and people who, in the name of God, truth, and the public good, are busy feathering their own nests"—that is, most politicians. He has no personal rancor toward the British. On every holiday, he heads straight for England, and many British are his warm friends.

"Oh Jewel of India, what time is it?"

Nehru is not a messiah, like Gandhi, although India, out of its wretchedness, tends to make messiahs of all its leaders. Any messiant feeling would have been quickly scotched by his wife and daughter who took to calling him around the home by the names the people used: "Oh Jewel of India, what time is it?" or "Oh Embodiment of Sacrifice, please pass the bread." Gandhi is a strange combination of very modern ideas and medieval prejudices. He is against Untouchability but in favor of the caste system. He nearly let his son die rather than allow the doctors to give him eggs or chicken broth, animal products proscribed to Hindus. Nehru is completely modern, years and centuries ahead of his people. In a land where religion is everything, he is an agnostic. He is a towering intellect, who spent part of his time in prison writing a history of the world for his daughter in 1,569 pages and whose autobiography is an Indian Education of Henry Adams. "I have become a queer mixture of the East and West," he says, "out of place everywhere, at home nowhere."

The present political situation demands a word of background. India is ruled by terms of the Government of India Act, 1935. On top are the British Crown and Parliament, the India Office in London and the British Viceroy, who has power to rule by decree. India is divided into parts-British India, where Gandhi, Nehru and the Congress Party struggle for power with the British rulers, and Princely India, a collection of states ruled by the Maharajas, who owe allegiance to Britain but run their own realms as medieval autocrats. The India Act projected a federal structure for India, including the Princely States, but this is shelved on account of the war. In British India the Act established a comprehensive system of provincial autonomy, which came into operation in 1937. Elections, in which 14% of the people voted, put Indian governments into power in the eleven provinces of British India. Of these, the Congress controls eight. The only non-Congress governments are the Moslem areas of Bengal, Punjab, Sind. The Congress began the task of provincial government in eight-elevenths of British India. This was a tremendous evolution. It was the net result of Gandhi's great civil disobedience campaigns. The Congress governments had only restricted powers; yet their creation marked a real and substantial advance toward self-government.

India asks for independence

Came 1939 and the new world war. And immediately the Indian situation changed drastically. The Indians remembered the last great War, when they sent 1,215,000 men overseas, of whom more than 100,000 were casualties. As a result of that effort, Mr. Gandhi expected much greater concessions than he got. And ever since, Indians have said that they would not be victims of the same process again. They said that they would not assist Britain in a new war, they would not send men overseas, unless they were promised a more substantial reward, i.e., full independence. The 1935 Act gave India something, but it came after years of struggle against the gradualness of British policy. This time the Indians want more—at once.

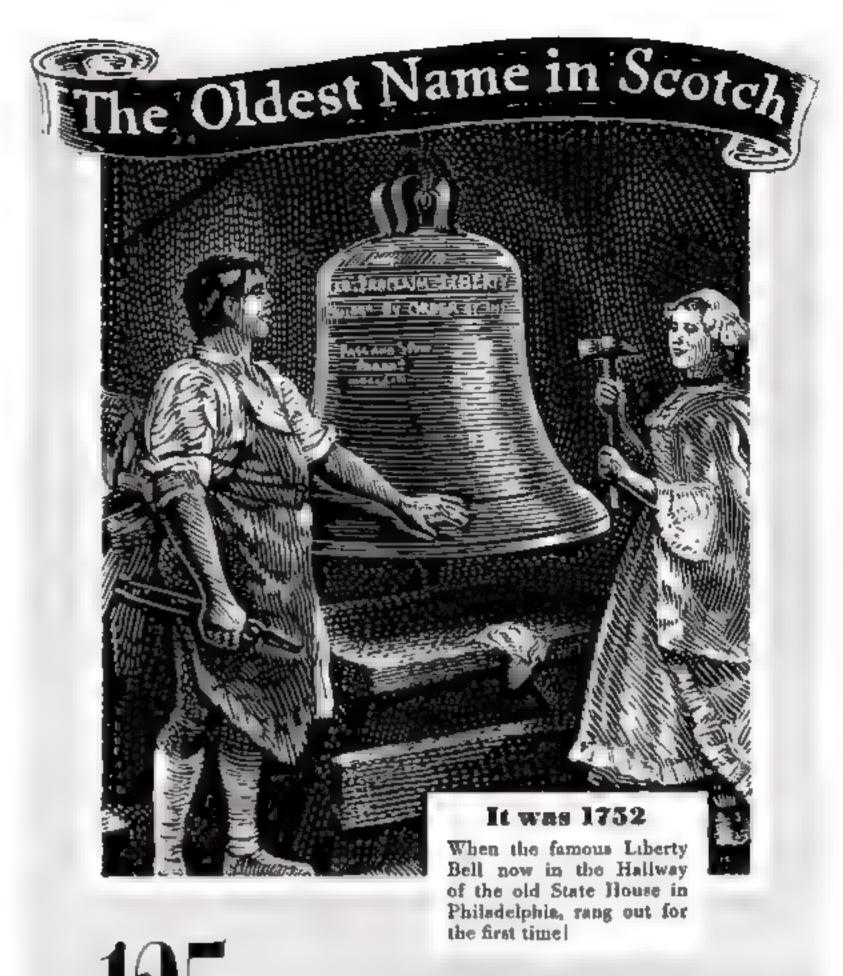

The crisis began just before the war, when Indian troops were sent abroad for service in Singapore and Egypt. Then, in September, India became a belligerent by proclamation of the British Government, with Indians given no chance to say yes or no. The Government of India Act was quickly amended and the Viceroy assumed emergency powers. The British Government held that the war overrode every other consideration. But the Working Committee of Congress replied on Sept. 14 with a statement disassociating itself from the British declaration. This statement makes it clear that Congress condemns Fascist aggression and holds no brief for Germany. But the Committee goes on to demand that Britain state its war aims and peace aims. It insists that the issue of war or peace is one for the Indian people themselves to settle. It refuses point-blank to allow Indian resources to be exploited for "imperialist ends." The declaration of war was taken, it says, "without the consent of the Indian people. . . . The Working Committee must take the gravest view of these developments "

The Viceroy began a series of detailed consultations with the Indian leaders. He saw Mr. Gandhi, the leading Moslems, representatives of the Princes and the like. He saw Nehru and the left-wing Congressmen. He announced then a proposal for a consultative board of Indians to guide him in the conduct of the war. This panel was to have, however, only advisory powers. Obviously the British hoped for a settlement. They did not relish the prospect of India divided and disloyal. They had no enthusiasm for a possible civil

CONTINUED ON NEXT PAGE

With his daughter indica, who is at school in England, Nehro attended a meeting in London in 1938 to raise funds for the first Indian medical unit sent to help the Chinese. Indica, now 21, has already been in jail in India for her nationalist politics.

125

YEARS BEFORE

THE LIBERTY BELL...

GIRLS GO FOR MEN GOOD-LOOKING HAIR

GREASE BALL - No glamour girl likes to run her fingers through sticky, gummy hair, Kreml makes stubborn locks lie down and behave. Not sticky or greasy.

WATER SOAK -Too much water to an enemy of hair. It washes out natural hair oils, may encourage dandruff and buldness. Dress your balr with Kreml.

BALDY-No matter how fat the bankroll, baldness is a social handicap. If your bair comes out in the comb, use Kreml. It checks excessive falling hair, often a forerunner of baldness.

HEAD MAN-He uses Keeml and his bair looks it. No dandruff scales. No excessive falling hair, Huir neat as a pin, not gressy.

Kremi is a wonderful dressingtonic. Used regularly it helps keep the scalp clean, the hair brilliant, removes dandruff scales and checks excessive falling hair. Ask for it in the barber shop or drugstore. Use it at home.

Try Kreml Shampoo too. Made from an 80% olive oil base, it cleanses hair and scalp thoroughly, leaves hair soft and easy to manage.

CHECKS EXCESSIVE FALLING HAIR NOT GREASY-MAKES THE HAIR BEHAVE

war in India while fighting a world war against Germany. And many moderate Indians accepted the Viceroy's position. The Congress, however, did not do so. Members of Congress talked about the possibility of resuming civil disobedience, and the eight Congress governments-largely under Nehru's influence-resigned. Thus, overnight, the constitutional structure laboriously prepared during 15 years was shaken. The British governors were forced to revert to the old system of government by emergency powers.

An extreme statement of the Indian case, such as one that Nehru might make, would point out two things. It would ignore whatever good Britain has brought India and say, first, that every nation, including the Indian nation, has an inalienable right to be free; second, that the British remain in India by no right except the right of conquest. An analogy might be a Japanese occupation of the United States. Suppose that the United States should crumble into decay, and succumb to civil war between rival American States Suppose then that the Japanese, residents of a distant island, should invade America, restore order, make treaties with various local authorities and maintain an armed occupation of the land, finally permitting the Americans a limited degree of local autonomy. Suppose that the Japanese flag flew in Washington, and that the Japanese viceroy were solely responsible for the conduct of foreign affairs, finance and law and order. Suppose that the Japanese milked America of its colossal industrial production and national income, and meantime starved education. Suppose, finally, it established swanky clubs which no American could enter, encouraged pro-Japanese puppers among disloyal Americans, and inflicted on America a stringently organized Japanese Civil Service. Then suppose the Japanese should become involved in a war with, say, Britain. Would the American subjects of Japan be loyal to Japan? Or would they not?

British policy in India can be phrased in a sentence. It is to give India certain advances toward self-government, with dominion status promised at an unnamed eventual date. The Indian nationalists' case may be stated as briefly. It is to get what it can now and hope for complete independence from Britain as soon as possible.

The case for India

A dialog between an Englishman and a nationalist Indian of the Nehru school might proceed as follows:

Englishman: We have brought you roads, irrigation, a great railway system, political unity, public health, the rule of law, stability and order

Indian: That has nothing to do with the basic issue. The basic issue is that India is our country, not yours. We do not admit your right to do anything for us, whether it's good or bad. We do not admit the legitimacy of any of your claims. Perhaps you have brought reforms, but your reforms are fundamentally irrelevant to the basic fact that this is our country, not a British country, and that we do not want British rule.

Englishman: Without the British raj, India would collapse. Religious rivalry between Hindu and Moslem would split the country.

Indian: But it's you British, by suppressing education, who prevent the gradual development of good will among the religious communities. If the masses were educated, primitive religious animosities would disappear.

Englishman: We have done more for the education of the masses than you ever did.

Indian: Nevertheless, you have been here more than a hundred years, and India is still 86% illiterate.

Englishman: The Hindu-Moslem problem goes far deeper than education. Your own religious customs make education impossible. You will not permit boys and girls in the same primary schools. The idea of joint Hindu-Moslem schools is an impossibility.

Indian: But you yourself promote dissension between Hindu and Moslem in order to have a pretext for remaining here and imposing order. After all, there are 240,000,000 Hindus as against 77,000,000 Moslems. According to democratic principles, the wishes of the majority should be followed, but the Indian Congress is perfectly prepared to safeguard the rights of Moslems and of every other religious group. Many Congressmen are Moslems. We believe in equal rights for all Indians regardless of religion. Only the British strategy of divide and rule keeps the religious issue alive.

Englishman: If we left India, your country would be attacked, pillaged and taken over by someone else.

Indian: If so, this is true only because you have deliberately prevented us from having a genuine national army, for fear that it might turn against you. You have impoverished our people physically and economically, so that there appears to be no fighting spirit. But give us a decade or so, give us the opportunity to edu-

Copr. 1939, National Distillers Prod. Copp., N.Y.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE — WITHOUT CALOMEL

-And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile onto the food you swallow every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food down't digest. You got constinuted. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Laver Pills to get these two pounds of bils flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmiess, pentle, yet amazing in making bils flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 10¢ and 25¢.

Photographs by amateurs submitted to LIFE's Contributions Department are considered on an equal basis with those of professionals. They should be submitted to:

Contributions Editor

LIFE

Time and Life Building Rockefeller Center New York City

cate, feed and train our people, so that our dormant national spirit may be liberated. Believe me, we can create—with 350,000,000 people to draw from—a national army that would be proof against any aggression.

Englishman: We have promised you dominion status. This is enough for Canadians and New Zealanders. Why should you want

Indian: Because we are

Indian: Because we are Indians, not Anglo-Saxons like the residents of the other dominions.

Englishman: One reason why we cannot promise you full independence instead of mere dominion status is our treaty relationship to the Indian Princes. We are pledged to maintain these Princes in their limited sovereignty. They are not part of British India. We cannot risk the civil war that might follow complete liberation of India, if the Princes, whose territories cover 41% of India, should refuse co-operation with you.

Indian: The Princely States are feudal anachronisms. They have life-and-death powers over the people such as are found nowhere else in the modern world. We Indians are democrats. The people in the native states are our preoccupation, not their maharajas. Without British support, no maharaja could survive ten minutes. But there will be no question of civil war. The people themselves will only too eagerly and willingly co-operate with us to dispose of these ornamental anachronisms.

Englishman: We have a very large investment, perhaps £850,000,000 in India. We cannot risk losing it.

Indian: The Indian Congress doesn't intend to dishonor or repudiate any legitimate obligation. We hope British investments will remain in India; we think they would pay better dividends than before. If we improve the morale and health of our liberated country, its purchasing power should grow.

Englishman: You are not capable of self-government.

Indian: That remains to be seen. Anyway, we would prefer to govern ourselves badly, rather than be governed well by someone else.

In the summer of 1939, just before the declaration of war, Jawaharlal Nehru went to China for the first time. He visited Chiang Kai-shek in Chungking, and received the greatest official welcome ever given to a foreigner there. On the day of his arrival occurred a serious Japanese air raid. Chiang Kai-shek and Nehru were forced suddenly to retreat to an air-raid shelter. For hours they stayed there, as the bombing continued mercilessly. Nehru and Chiang liked each other and they talked about their respective problems with the utmost cordiality and frankness.

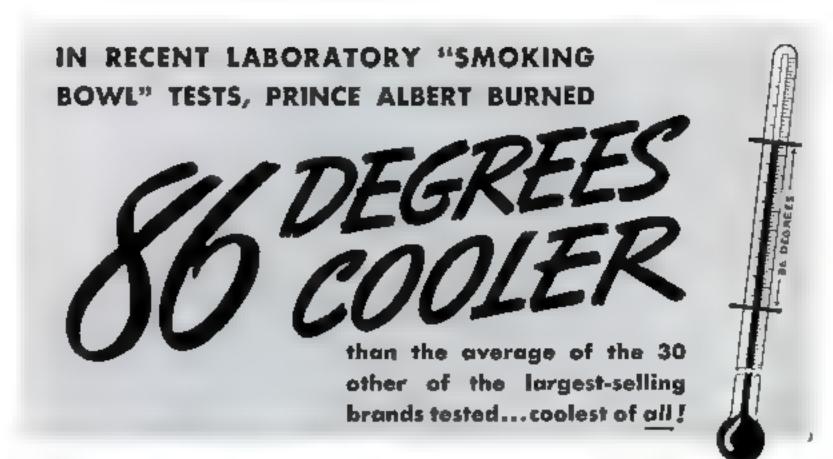

This is something for the British to think about. Should India ever become free, and India and China then pursue a policy of close collaboration, nearly half the population of the world would be working together. Such a great-Asia bloc might be a severe deterrent to all foreign interests and ambitions. It is another reason why the British watch the career of Jawaharlal Nehru with scrupulous attention.

Nehru's future contribution to Indian freedom depends on the war. If civil disobedience comes, the British will be forced to arrest every Congress leader. But the British will dislike heartily having to do anything of the kind, nor does Congress want to go to the extreme of civil disobedience. Compromise, however, is difficult. The nationalist Indians say that the issue of war or peace must be decided by the Indian people. They resent being forced to fight—for democracy—when even such limited democracy as they have won is taken away.

At Chungking, while paying his first visit to China as guest of Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-shek recently (below), Nehru sat out a Japanese air raid with his host. Visit frightened British lest someday China and India form an Asiatic bloc.

Pipe-SMOKERS get what they want in Prince Albert. That's why it's the world's largest-selling tobacco. Prince Albert's COOL burning assures your smoking pleasure—the rich taste and fragrance of those choice tobaccos is not destroyed by excess heat. That means REAL SMOKING COMFORT too—good news for any man's tongue! The "crimp cut" and "no-bite" treatment are also exclusive Prince Albert features. Enjoy them in your pipe today!

(Try P.A. in "makin's" papers too.)

50 pipefule of fragrant tobacco in every handy tin of Prince Albert

Fince Albert

NATIONAL JOY SMOKE

"Could you fix me up with a stack of Arrow Ties?"

• When you give ties this Christmas, give Arrow Ties. They have patterns that all men like. They're cut to tie into perfect knots. They have a resilient lining that resists wrinkles. Get these fine ties at a nearby Arrow dealer's. Splendid values at $1.00 and $1.50

ARROW TIES

As Outstanding as Arrow Shirts

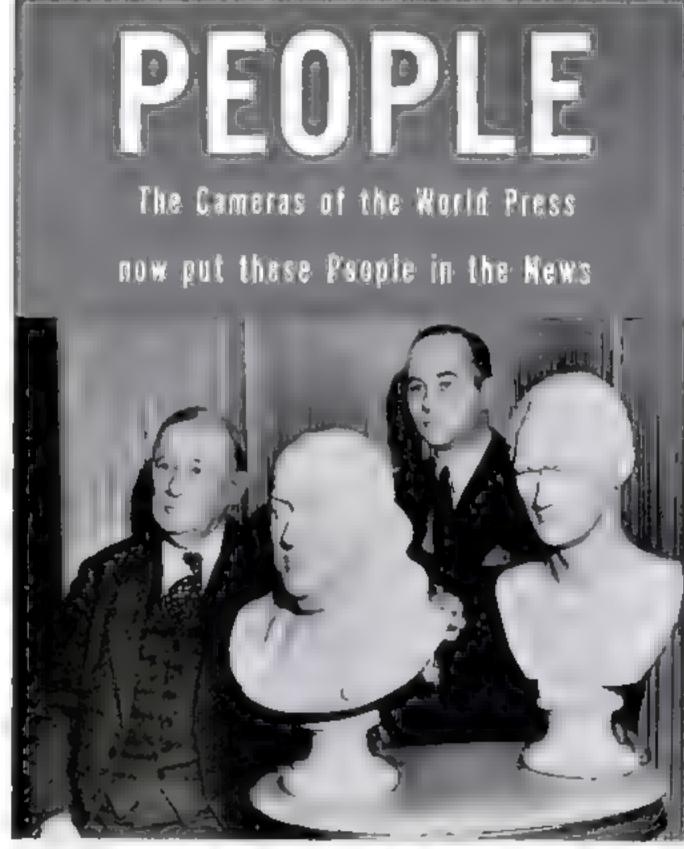

Made by Cinett. Probady & Co., Inc.

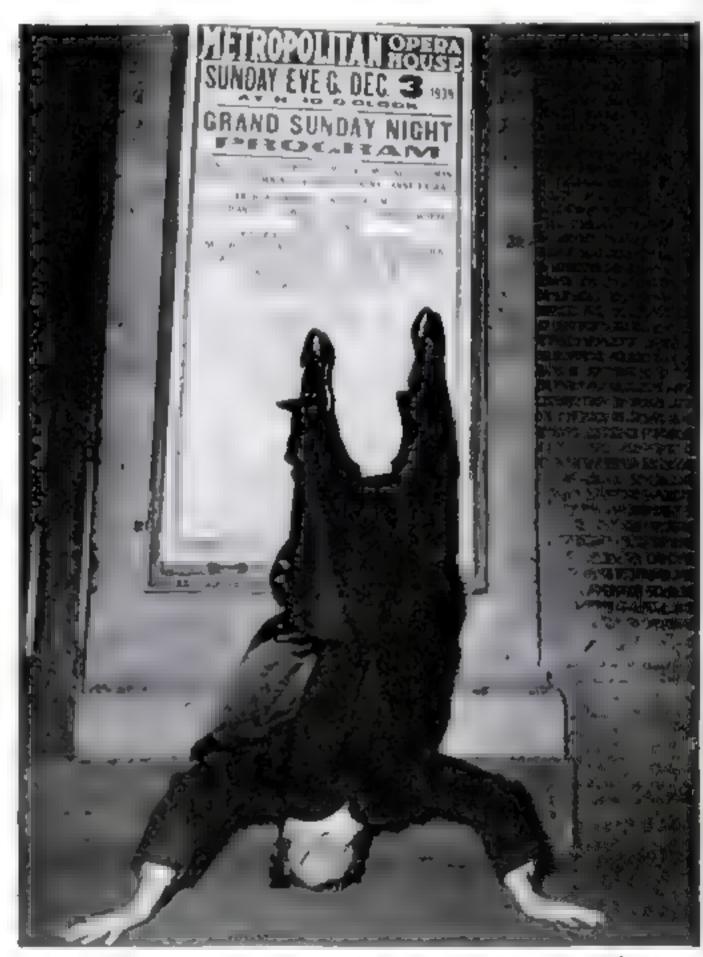

looking pimple, Joe. But kid aster has brought Band-Aid, that neat, readymade bandage of gauze and adhesive. Useful for covering skin blemishes . . .

after proper treatment. So easy to stick on! . . . it stays put. Be sure you get the genuine Band-Aid. It's made only by Johnson & Johnson. Look for the Red Cross on the box.

Bosts of Franklin and Hamilton were presented to Republican National Committee Nov 33 by William Gaggenheim, who suggested the Party adopt these statesmen as GOP saints. Busts and the were received in Manhattan by Alexander Hamilton, great-great-grait does of this naturalists of the Condr. Franklin Bache Huntington, great-great-great-grantson of the colonial postmuster general (left).

Richard A. Knight, socialite lawyer, stole headlines at the opening of the Metropolitan Opera season Nov. 27 by turning a somersault in the lounge, stamping down an aisle soying "Sassh!," falling on his face. When opera-house cops expelled him, he stood on his head outside. Next day he explained Soprano Elisabeth Rethberg had "sent me into a tailspin, turned me divinely dizzy, husted me at the seams."

PAN-CAKE MAKE-UP SET

Powder, Rouge, Tru-Color Lipstick, Pan-Cake Make-Up, Normalizing $ / 55 Cleansing Cream - in lovely gift box

COLOR HARMONY MAKE-UP SET

Max Factor Hollywood Face Powder, Rouge and Tru-Color Lipstick in color harmony $ 255 for "her" type and five other requisites.

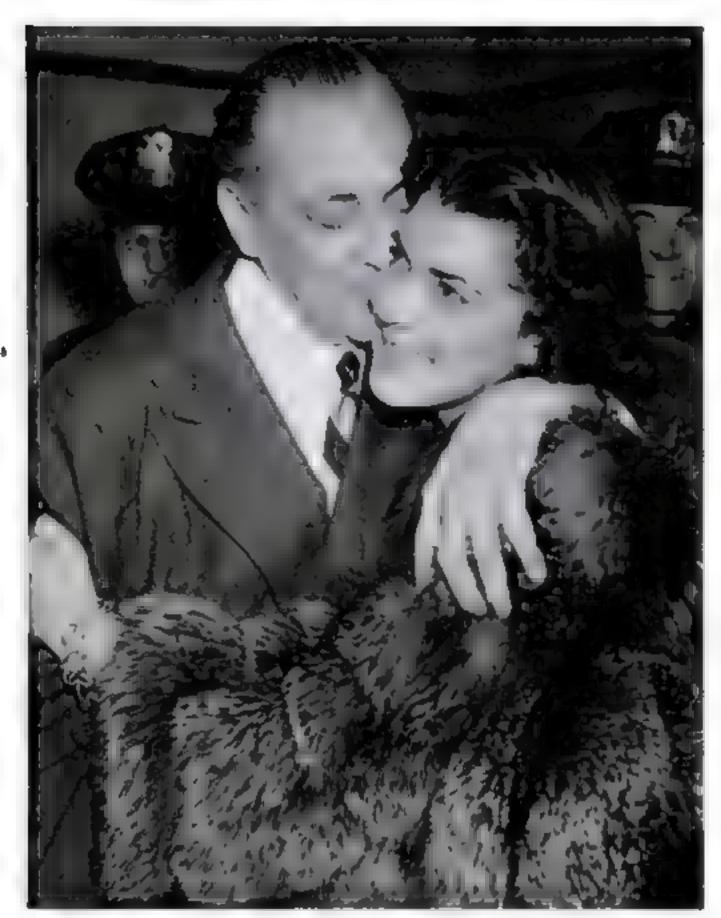

DELUXE MAKE-UP ENSEMBLE

Any garl wall call this gaft "perfect." Rich gift box containing 11 Max Fat- $ 55 tor Hollywood "Cosmencs of the Stars,"

PEOPLE (continued)

Diana Sarrymore Stythe was bousterously bussed by her father, John Barrymore, when she arrived in Chicago Nov. 26 to open in Outword Bound. Cried "Daddy": "Isn't she lovely! I worked like hell on Hamlet and Richard III but she was the heat thing I ever produced?" Eighteen-year-old Diana will play in a theatre next door to the Selwyn where her father has wowed Chicago since May (LIFE, Dec. 4).

Lurerne Wise, 16, star place kicker of the Atmore, Ala., High School football team, concluded play fortught ago with a total of seven points after touchdown for the season. Of these six were on placements, one on a pass over the goal line. Since Luverne always withdrew from the field following execution of her specialty, she were no body pads, dazzled opposing lineamen with the uniform shown above.

Remember He knows

PARIS MEANS STYLE

He doubly appreciates receiving Paris from YOU. First ... he prefers Paris for its style, its quality and its utility. Second ... and this is very important—he's proud you've chosen THE BEST for him. You're right . . . select your Paris gifts early. But in unavoidable last-minute shopping rushes . . . take time to insist on Paris. Remember: Paris is priced no higher than imitations . . . but Paris is always higher in quality than in price.

Illustrated: Paris Matched Sel—famously comfortable Paris Garters and perfectly matched Paris "Free-Swing" Suspenders that "Can't skid off his shoulders"—$1.50. Paris Belt—1½ inch genume steerhide, salver-plated raised initial buckle—in handsome bakelite cigarette box: $2.

In addition to gifts illustrated, you'll find-

Other Paris Garter and Suspender "Matched Seta" $1.50 and up. Other Paris Belt and Buckle Sets in special packings: $1.50 and up. Paris Garters and Paris Suspenders also available in separate attractive gift packings—Garters 50c and $1, Suspenders $1 and up.

A. Stein & Company . . . Chicago, New York, Los Angeles, Toronto with half the population of Salem, Indiana, to cheer for the local high-school hero

DICK BERKET

Indiana is famous for Booth Tarkington, corn and the Battle of Tippecanoe. It is also famous for its basketball players. In fact, no State in the U. S. produces better ones. The kids there begin to play as soon as they can walk. During grade school, they nail bottomless peach baskets to trees, toss balls through the holes. In high school, they play games before as many as 15,000 fanatic fans, find themselves home-town heroes. After high-school graduation, they migrate over the whole country, suddenly appear on such good college teams as Southern California, Notre Dame, Kentucky and Marquette.

Day before Thanksgiving, Wallace Kirkland, LIFE photographer, dropped in on a basketball game in the town of Salem, some 40 miles up in the Indiana hills from Louisville. He found the town panting with excitement. The high-school basketball team was to play Aurora that night, and fully half of Salem's 3,000 population had crowded into the little gym to see the game. They all had plenty of fun. A band blared high-school songs. Pretty girls led cheers. The crowd roared and stamped. And to make everybody debriously happy, Salem won 30–27.

Favorite of the crowd all evening was 17-year-old Dick Berkey, son of Salem's best lawyer. He is center of the team, is the town's schoolboy hero. Last year he was best player in Indiana State Tournament, and this year he is even better. At season's end, he expects scholarship offers from several big-time colleges. Studious and modest, Dick takes his training seriously. In front of his scrapbook are pasted these rules: "1) No 'dates' during basketball tourneys. 2) Eat anything your mother cooks for you but no pie, cake or candy. 3) No alcohol. No tobacco. Above all, no cigarets. 4) Pick out someone to whom you can tell the truth at all times. You can bluff the world but always tell the truth to this someone."

Girls play hasketball at high school. They have their own team, play outside games and like to practice with the boys.

BACK OF THE BERKEYP GARAGE, DICK (HAND UP), HIS BROTHERS AND SISTER VINGINIA PRACTICE CONTINUOUSLY

WHILE CIRLS' SQUAD WATCHES, COACH WANEY TEACHES A PRETTY YOUNG PLAYER HOW TO SHOOT A BASKETBALL

N.R.G. plays Panta Claus and adds energy to christmas gaiety

There is food-energy in every bar of Baby Ruth to add to Christman joy.

Watch the youngsters' eyes sparkle when they see a shimmering tree bedecked with Baby Ruth candy bars.

Baby Ruth is one of Santa Claus' most popular candy bars for filling Christmas stockings. Baby Ruth is good candy—and good food, pure, safe, and delicious for young and old alike.

Don't disappoint eager kiddles. Everyone can afford Buby Ruth candy bars—ideal Christmas candy. Buby Ruth is always a handy Christmas gift.

All winter long children need plenty of nourishment for body warmth and energy. Between meals give them Baby Ruth, the pure delicious candy bars rich in Dextrose, the sugar your body uses directly for energy. It is good candy and good food.

The candy bar thats rich in

DEXTROSE
The sugar year body uses directly for every

CURTISS CANDY COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

For Thanksgiving, the Berkey family had roast turkey with oyster dressing, roast pork, gravy, potatoes, lima beans, creamed asparagus, cauliflower, corn, peas, potato salad, pickles (both sweet and sour), choose, corn salad, celery, radishes, from left. This is Rancy's first year at Salem. He is 27, weighs only 181 Last year Salem went almost to finals of State Tournament, hopes to win this year.

eranberry sauce, cranberry salad, perfection salad, carrot salad, fruit salad, mince pre, whipped-cream pre, fruit cake, angel-food cake, chocolate cake, ice cream, fruit cocktail, four kinds of fruit, jelly, candy, three kinds of nuts and coffee,

Dick practices foul shots. Against Aurora, he missed a few. Points were not needed, however, because after Aurora has tied score in last period, Salem scored seven quick points, put gair e on ice. Salem has won three out of four gaines this year.

Ho-I've waited a year to thank you. Remember what you gave me last Christmas? 5.c. - Let's see. It was a Rolls Razor, wasn't it?

He-Right-and it's the finest gift I've ever gotten. Believe it or not, my Rolls Razor actually makes me enjoy shaving. Let me show you.

hollow-ground Sheffield steel. I've shaved with it every day for a year.

S.C. - But isn't that a long time to use one blade?

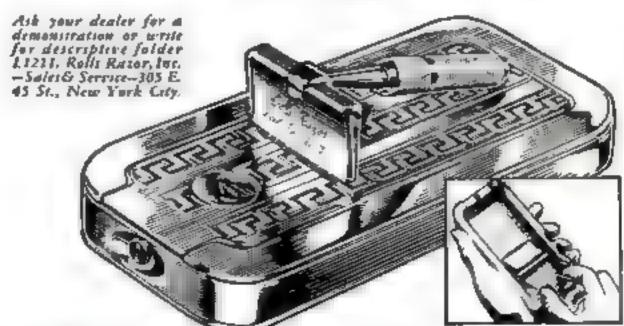

-See! The Rolls Razor blade is Ho-Long time? I know fellows who have used one blade for ten years. Now, see how clean and smooth my face is! s.c. - Say, that's as smooth as my sled runners. I wonder how ...

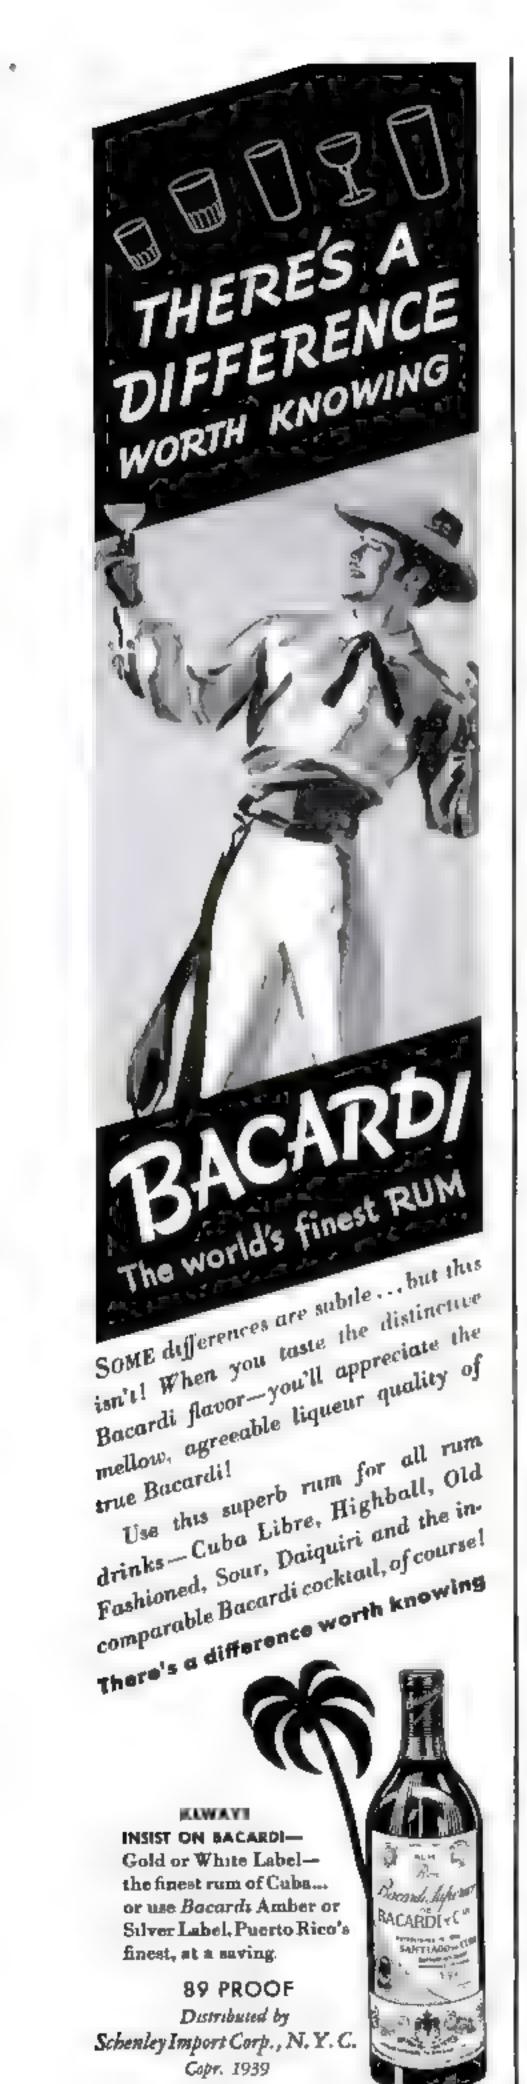

5.C .- Young man, you've done me a good turn I'll never forget. And, you say all I've got to do is strop or hone the blade in the case for a few seconds before shaving? Mo -That's all you do to keep your face looking respectable all day long.

Learn to enjoy shaving. If there's no one who will huy you a Rolls Razor as a gift, get one for yourself. You can't invest in anything that'll bring more pleasure. $10 Shaving bosels, sticks, $1. Refills, 60¢

ROLLS RAZOR

PICTURES TO THE EDITORS

CAMERA-SHY AMISH

Sirs

These pictures of Amish schoolchildren give you some idea of how this sect resents having pictures taken. Assigned to get pictures by our Sunday Editor. I had to duck a barrage of pebbles and sticks and put up with a variety of grimmers when I started clicking as school let out. The children ran in all directions at sight of the camera. The Amish oppose pictures because of this passage in the Bible. Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image.

The children are members of the big Stolizfus clan in Lancaster County, Pa. The Stolizfuses were the first to buy land in St. Mary's County, Md., to evade Pennsylvania school laws against oneroom schoolbouses. It is the one-room school such as the one shown here that the Amish prefer to worldly' consolidated schools. Thirty-eight Stolizfuses attend this school. Even the teacher a name is Stolizfus.

Staff Photographer Reading Engle Reading, Pa.

MENDS MOST ANYTHING

FREE Send post card for booklet, "Better Results with G.us," containing many uneful hints about mending, model making and home workshop jobs. Address McCormick Sales Co., 108 Light Street, Baltimare, Maryland.

THE PEARL IS WHITE AND LUSTROUS, CREASED LIKE A BRAIN

ETEM AND THE KILLER CLAM

BIGGEST PEARL

Blew!

Diving for conch shells in the waters off Palawan in the Philippines in May 1934, a group of Dyak divers suddenly missed their comrade, Etem. They found him drowned at the sandy bottom of the cove, his left hand caught in the grip of a giant Tridacna clam which had been partly hidden in the coral rocks. His hand still in the grip of this man-trap, Etem was taken to the local chief so that his comrades might be absolved of blame.

Later, when the meat was removed from the clam, the biggest pearl in the world was revealed. It weighed 14 lb. 1 oz., was 9½ in. long and 5½ in. In diameter. Three years later the chief gave the pearl and the giant shell to me, in gratitude for my having saved his son from a malaria death. Natives estimated the clam to be 450 years old and think that the pearl may have started growth when the clam was 100 years old.

The picture of Etem was given to me by a native, who claims to have snapped it with a Brownie Kodak a few hours after the body had been taken from the water.

WILBURN DOWELL COBB New York, N. Y.

EXPLORER CORR DISPLAYS THE PEARL IN ITS ORIGINAL RED

CONTRIBUTIONS: Minimum rates for all rights, including resale and reuse: $5 per photograph. Amateur photographers are welcome as contributors but their work must compete with professionals on an equal basis and will be judged (and paid for) as such. Unsolicited contributions, however, whether professional or amateur, will be neither acknowledged nor returned unless accompanied by adequate postage, packing and directions. LIFE will not be responsible for safe handling of same either in its office or in transit. Payment will be made only on approval and publication. Address all correspondence about contributions to CONTRIBUTIONS EDITOR, LIFE Magazine, TIME & LIFE Building Rockefeller Center, New York.

PICTURES TO THE EDITORS

(continued)

People." I have a lovely autographed photograph of President Roomvelt. He sent it to me, along with a nice letter, after my mother sent him an arrival card. Some people thought you might like to FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT JONES Mt. Clemens, Mich.

SEWING CHIMPANZEE

Sirs:

These pictures taken at the London Zoo illustrate the amazing imitative powers of a chimpanzee. Evidently be had watched his keeper on several occasions doing minor repair jobs with a needle and thread. The pictures were obtained purely by chance, as it was impossible to envisage in advance the possibility of an animal performing whatmany human beings find very difficult to do.

G. P. ABBOTT

London, England

GOOD FRIENDS AGREE_

"THERE'S EXTRA PLEASURE . . AND EXTRA SMOKING IN CAMELS!"

hear the same story: One true yardstick of cigarette pleasure is slow burning! Kenneth E. (Nick) Knight (helow, left) confirms the experience of millions of smokers when he says: "One of the first things I noticed about Camels was their slow burning. I figure that's why Camels smoke so much cooler, milder and taste so much better. Camels last longer, too." Howard McCrorey agrees on Camel's slow burning, and adds: "To me that means extra pleasure and a thrifty measure of extra smoking per pack."

Yes, the costlier tobaccos in Camels are slower-burning! And of course the extra smoking in Camels (see right) is just that much more smoking pleasure at its best-Camel's costlier tobaccos! Enjoy extra pleasure and extra value in America's No. 1 cigarette...Camels!

S_LONG-BURNING

Whatever price you pay per pack, it's important to remember this fact: By burning 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested — slower than any of them—CAMELS give a smolting plus equal to

EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK!

Cigarettes were compared recently...sixteen of the largest-selling brands...under the searching tests of impartial laboratory scientists. Findings were announced as follows:

- 1 CAMELS were found to contain more tobacco by weight than the average for the 15 other of the largest-selling brands.
- 2 Camels burned slower than any other brand tested—25% slower than the average time of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands! By burning 25% slower, on the average, Camels give smokers the equivalent of 5 extra smokes per pack!
- 3 In the same tests, Camels held their ash far longer than the average time for all the other brands.

MORE PLEASURE PER PUFF...
MORE PUFFS PER PACK!

PENNY FOR PENNY
YOUR BEST CIGARETTE BUY

Cappright, 1939, R. J. Reyenda Telacco Company Winston-Seem, North Caratina